FROM NORILSK TO MURMANSK

MOSCOW (CP-Reuter) — Prime Minister Trudeau left the Soviet Arctic city of Norilsk tonight for the ice-free Soviet port of Murmansk, near the Norwegian border.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said the Canadian leader praised Soviet construction work in permafrost regions. His comments were made in a speech at a luncheon given in his honor by city authorities in Norilsk, where the temperature was 14 degrees fahrenheit today.

An account of the prime minister's activities earlier on the weekend by Times bureau writer John Mika is on page 3.

Two Nation Plan Buried

By PAUL WHITELAW
Times Quebec Bureau

QUEBEC CITY — Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield officially buried the two-nations theory that was espoused by the Progressive Conservative Party in the 1968 election, as he addressed a weekend convention here of the party's Quebec wing.

Speaking to more than 500 people Saturday, Stanfield said the two-nations concept is not the only one which can "assure Quebec of its full development."

He said he was searching for the ideal formula which would consecrate unity in quality, strength in co-existence.

Linked by History, Geography

"Must we consider as two distinct nations, two groups of humans whom geography and history during more than two centuries have linked under the same destiny?" he asked.

The Tory leader avoided a direct reference to the constitutional resolutions that were adopted by the 200 delegates who took part in workshop discussions at the meeting of the Quebec wing.

Slightly more than 85 per cent of the delegates voted in favor of a resolution which recognizes that Canada is composed of five distinct economic areas: the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario, the Prairies and British Columbia.

The distinction would be made exclusively on economic grounds.

The resolution adopted differed from a draft proposal discussed Saturday morning which urged that the five regions be based on cultural and other factors.

The delegates also voted that the Canadian government should be obliged to respect the individual character of these five regions, and that any power granted to one province should be offered to the others.

Provincial Jurisdiction

The Quebec wing of the party also accepted that provincial jurisdiction should be increased in some areas, while studying the possibility of increasing the federal powers in other areas.

Other sections of the constitutional resolution called for:

- A constitutional revision as soon as possible, and suggested this be achieved within the first two years of a new Progressive Conservative government in Ottawa;
- A new constitution redistribution of legislative and fiscal powers which would take into account the individual character of Quebec and the regional characteristics of other parts of Canada;
- Quebec would have priority power to legislate in the social welfare and cultural field;
- An immediate regionalization and decentralization by the Trudeau government of its decision-making system and its fiscal, monetary and budgetary policies.

Alie Philosophy Modified

The PC Association in Quebec also condemned as illogical, dangerous and not acceptable, the formal adoption of a constitutional amending formula before a new redistribution of powers between the federal and provincial governments.

The resolution was a modified version of the philosophies of Fernand Alie, who was deposed as president of the Quebec wing a few weeks ago after his statements on Quebec's role in Confederation threatened to cause a split between the Quebecers and the national party.

In an interview Stanfield said that the resolution adopted by the convention is in line with his personal thinking.

Stanfield said the resolution differs from Alie's stand on the need for five regions in Canada in that it recognizes plurality and regional differences without recognizing the autonomy of any one area, such as Quebec.

"I want to emphasize that this is a very moderate resolution. It has nothing to do with two nations, or five nations," he said.

Despite suggestions in some sections of the party that the theory of five regions would be difficult to explain outside

More of Everything In Victoria Parade

By ROBIN BURGESS

It was a lucky parade.

The longest Victoria Day parade ever, a massive, moving 100th birthday party for B.C., marched its 3½ hours under grey, rain-filled clouds without a drop falling on it.

Just as the last entry reached the end of the route down Douglas Street and as spectators began to disperse the rain came.

And despite the clouds, the parade drew a big crowd.

By 8:30 a.m. Monday, scattered groups had already arrived to secure front-row seats for the big event. By 10 a.m. there were solid banks of spectators along both sides of the route from Mayfair shopping centre to Humboldt.

Some parade-goers dressed up in honor of the centennial.

TOP HATS

Men in top hats and old-fashioned frock coats and women in 1867-style long dresses mingled casually with modern-day couples in blue jeans and hot pants.

It was a crowd full of happy, relaxed people in the mood to be entertained.

They weren't disappointed.

The 3½-hour-long parade had all the right ingredients — color, music and movement in the right proportions.

A 15-minute historical "mini-parade" preceded the grand parade.

The mayors of Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Central Saanich rode by in antique cars. Mayor Courtney Haddock of Victoria grinned from beneath his old-fashioned top hat and flashed peace signs to the crowd as he passed.

Four RCMP officers in scarlet tunics sitting tall in the saddles of their black horses drew warm applause and admiring murmurs from spectators.

There were displays of vintage farm equipment, an old-time steam engine with a lively whistle and a grey-

26 More Arrested In Egyptian Plot

Ship Fire: Was It Arson?

VANCOUVER (CP) — Norwegian investigators were expected today to join Canadian officials checking the possibility of arson in a fire which killed 32 crew members of the cruise ship Meteor.

"We are not overlooking the possibility of arson," Staff Sgt. George Williams of the North Vancouver RCMP detachment said Monday after the second day of searching aboard the 2,856-ton Norwegian vessel by police, fire marshals and department of transport officials.

"It appears the fire started in three or four different places in the crew's sleeping quarters."

The last 11 bodies were recovered Monday from the burned-out forward section of the 300-foot ship, which was 60 miles from completing an eight-day Alaska cruise when the blaze broke out before dawn Saturday.

Fourteen bodies were found Saturday while deckhands fought to quell the blaze near Texada Island in the Strait of Georgia, which separates the British Columbia mainland from Vancouver Island. Seven others were discovered Sunday when the Meteor made Vancouver Harbor under her own power.

SERVICE SCHEDULED

A memorial service was to be held here today for the victims. One was a Canadian, 25-year-old Stephen Czernyk of Verdun, Que.

All 67 passengers and 59 other crew members escaped injury. Vancouver Coroner Glen McDonald will conduct an inquest Wednesday.

Staff Sgt. Williams said he knew of no evidence to indicate there had been an explosion aboard the Meteor before the fire. He said the RCMP investigation would probably wind up today.

Captain Cyril Burrill of the transport department said Monday night he didn't think a full federal inquiry would be called because Norway would conduct its own detailed study.

He said the department was performing its usual preliminary inquiry and would send the results to Transport Minister Don Jamieson, who could release a summary of the findings.

BODIES IN MORGUE

The Norwegian vice-consul in Vancouver, Tor Virding, said he was awaiting word on disposition of the bodies, which were taken to the morgue in Vancouver. Cremation was most likely for the 12 Norwegians among the 52.

It is believed the deaths were caused by burns and smoke inhalation when flames engulfed the sleeping quarters.

PODGORNY
. . . tumultuous welcome

Soviet Chief Arrives To Discuss Unrest

Times News Services

CAIRO — Police have arrested another 26 persons in connection with an alleged plot to overthrow President Anwar Sadat, following raids on the homes of former ministers and high-ranking party officials already under arrest, sources here announced today.

The disclosure was made just hours before the arrival of Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny, who received a tumultuous welcome when his visit, thought to reflect Russian concern over the downfall of several prominent Egyptian leftists, began this afternoon.

The raids uncovered documents and tape recordings at homes of 46 former leaders accused of plotting against Sadat. Homes raided included those of former vice-president Aly Sabry, ministers, senior executives and members of a secret group within the Arab Socialist Union, Egypt's sole political party.

Those arrested included professors, lawyers, board chairmen and ministry undersecretaries named in the documents, police sources said.

The raids began Sunday night and continued until late Monday night.

The authoritative daily newspaper Al Ahram said police spent nine hours searching Sabry's villa and found about 50 recording tapes, films and documents on the secret ASU organization said to be involved in the coup attempt.

Other material seized included leaflets and speeches prepared by plotters to be broadcast after the success of the plot, foreign currency and plans for riots against Sadat, police sources said.

The Soviet leader, accompanied by some of his top aides, was received at the airport by President Sadat and other top-ranking Egyptian officials.

Large crowds lining the airport's observation deck cheered, waved and chanted welcoming slogans as a 21-gun salute was fired.

Soviets Thanked

PRAGUE (UPI) — Czechoslovak Communist Party chairman Gustav Husak formally thanked the Soviet Union today for sending its troops into Czechoslovakia in 1968.

ELECTION NEAR FOR SASKATCHEWAN

SASKATOON (CP) — Reliable sources in the provincial Liberal party say Premier Ross Thatcher will announce today that a provincial general election will be called for Wednesday, June 23.

Under the province's new election act the premier must give at least 28 days' notice of an election. Midnight tonight is the deadline for a June 23 election.

Premiers to Push Maritime 'Unity'

FREDERICTON (CP) — The premiers of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island signed an agreement here today formally establishing the Maritime Council of Premiers.

The council was proposed in a report on Maritime union, commissioned in 1968 by the three provinces, and released last November. Eventual political union of the provinces was recommended in the report.

The agreement, signed by Premiers Richard Hatfield of New Brunswick, Gerald Regan of Nova Scotia and Alex Campbell of Prince Edward Island, said the provinces were unanimous in "their desire to promote unity." But the word "union" was not used.

The ceremony, carried out in the assembly chamber of the New Brunswick legislature, precedes two days of closed talks by the three premiers.

Mr. Hatfield said that the signing was evidence of "a mutual determination" by the provinces to co-operate and Premier Campbell referred to the 15-minute ceremony as "a significant and happy occasion."

Mr. Regan expressed satisfaction that the provinces had been able to establish a council in only "the short period" since the report was released.

Mountain-Moving for Defence Discussed by NATO Planners

MITTENWALD, West Germany (CP) — Canadian Defence Minister Donald Macdonald and his colleagues on the NATO nuclear planning group today discussed ways to move mountains with nuclear weapons.

Macdonald and defence ministers or secretaries from seven other members of the alliance, including the United States and Britain, opened a two-day conference to discuss such matters as the possible use by NATO of technical nuclear weapons to repel any enemy assault.

The use of nuclear explosives as demolition devices also was one of the topics discussed in the first day.

One NATO official said nuclear demolition charges be used to block an advancing enemy force.

"You might create a huge valley or move a mountain," he said.

Canada announced in 1969 that it would abandon its nuclear role in the NATO alliance at the end of this year.

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt spent about two hours at the initial meeting. He is understood to have encouraged delegates to pursue the possibility of talks with Warsaw-Pact nations on possible mutual troop reductions, but he warned against any lessening of concern over the divided status of Berlin.

Macdonald is known to have been one of those favoring abandonment of Canada's nuclear role. Because of this, Canadian officials say, his position at this meeting is an awkward one.

Turkey Quake Toll Hits 856

bearded prospector with a live donkey.

Indian people in native costume performed traditional dances on top of the Native Friendship float.

The grand parade began with the traditional display of precision marcsing by rigid lines of soldiers, sailors and airmen a khaki and navy blue.

STRUTTING MAJORETTES

Leggy majorettes in orange, gold, green, blue, and red hot pants strutted proudly despite the sometimes chilly breeze and highstepping marching bands kept the tempo of the parade brisk.

There was a seemingly endless supply of bands, the majority from high schools in the U.S.

Some like the Anacortes High School band from Washington tripped down the street in doublequick time. Others like the Shoreline High School Spartan Marching Band from Seattle marched in tight formation, military fashion.

The North Kitsap High School Viking Band and Drill Team and the South Kitsap High School Marching Band and Drill Team put on intricate march routines in front of the viewing stands.

FROM CALIFORNIA

One band, Willow H.S. Honker Band came all the way from Willows, Calif.

The Willows band normally marches with its mascot, Herkimer, a live goose dyed gold with harmless cheese dye, but Herkimer is molting right now and was too sick to make the trip, said band director Paul Jackson.

Jackson said his hand had never before been in a parade "this well organized, this plush."

As a result of their performance Monday, the band has already received an invitation to march in the Rose Bowl Parade in Pasadena on New Year's Day.

PURPLE BLAZERS

The most enthusiastic cheers were reserved for the Mount Douglas Secondary Band, dressed in sharp purple blazers and white pants.

Of course there were floats, lavishly decorated in the most startling shades of tinsel and paper flowers.

Many had a B.C. Centennial theme such as the B.C. Tel float depicting telephone service in 1867 and now and the International Hairdressing School float featuring a tortuous looking 1920 permanent wave machine.

Local lovely, Miss Victoria, Susan Jones with her princesses Karen Patterson and Cheryl Clemens waved and smiled from the City of Victoria float.

Under a banner proclaiming "His Banner Over Us is Love," the Gospel Messengers of Nanaimo strummed guitars and gave testimonials for Christ over a microphone as their shocking pink and purple float moved along.

LONGEST PARADE

Monday's parade chalked up a first for the longest parade entry ever. It was the massive, 185-feet long Island Equipment Association float with a tractor and three low-bed trailer units placed end to end.

Parade Marshal Maurice Cherneff said he felt the parade went over particularly well this year.

"It was planned more this year and the people in it went to more trouble with their entries."

This was the 25th year that the parade has been organized by the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks in Victoria.

"Next year we're going to try and retain some of the historical entries," said Cherneff.

Small Fires Believed Arson

Victoria fire officials today are investigating a series of small fires they believe were deliberately set in the Point Ellice bridge area of the city overnight Monday.

Deputy Chief Carl Coates said a truck belonging to Ideal Fuel Co. Ltd., located at 2735 Bridge, was on fire about 1 a.m. today.

He said the fire started in the cab and spread to the engine and a wooden box on back.

A second truck, Coates said, had a burning oil rag set in the cab but had gone out before firemen arrived. A station wagon parked in the area had burning rubbish and paper inside that had gone out.

The front door of Goodwill Enterprises for the Handicapped, 220 Bay, was cracked and a plastic light covering melted from a fire in a carton of old clothing placed by the door, Coates said.

The alarm was turned in by passersby shortly before 10:30 p.m. Monday. Coates said the box had been left at the front door presumably for collection.

Damages at Goodwill are approximately $100.

Theory Rejected

LETHBRIDGE (CP) — Universities have survived more than 800 years because they're too important to be discarded, Dr. Owen Holmes, dean of arts and science at the University of Lethbridge, said Saturday.

Dr. Holmes told 1,600 persons gathered for the university's fourth annual convocation that he rejects the theory put forth by some people that a university degree is "the epitome of the absurd."

He said a degree bestows honor on a person and recognizes their achievement and their admission into the world of the academic fraternity.

Waring Grows Best Beard

Sunday was judgment day for 81 sets of carefully-nurtured facial hair.

Howard Waring, of 2623 Millstream, walked away with the $50 first prize for the best-groomed beard in the Jaycee Fair beard-growing contest.

First prizes in all other categories were $25. Winning contestants collected a total $500 in prize money plus centennial medals. The contest was a preliminary to the Victoria Days beard contest to be held Wednesday at 7:30 p.m. in front of the Empress Hotel.

Mike Jiggins, 844 Rockheights, had the best classic beard.

S. R. Sharples, 1515 Louise Place, had the best beard in the Amor de Cosmos category.

Gilbert Watt, 2503 Blanhard, was first in the Sir James Douglas category.

Robert Harris, 71 Government, had the best full beard.

Frank Lohner, 39 Government, won the groundhog category for beards started after Feb. 21.

. . . SHIP

Many of the passengers were unaware of the tragedy until they were awakened and told to report to the dining room.

The passengers and four crew members left the stricken ship in lifeboats and were transferred to the Alaskan ferry Malaspina, which was five miles away when it picked up the Meteor's distress call.

The coastal freighter Island Prince, the tanker B.C. Standard, two coast guard cutters and several tugs converged on the scene, pumping thousands of gallons of water into the ship.

Two rescue helicopters and a Buffalo aircraft flew between the Meteor and their base at Comox on Vancouver Island, ferrying firefighting equipment and oxygen to the crew on the decks below.

The blaze appeared to be under control at one point Saturday, but flared up again. Thirty-eight other crew members, some of whom had been riding in lifeboats, were then evacuated by tug.

The deepsea tug Sudbury II poured on a chemical foam which extinguishes flames by displacing air and pumped out the Meteor's hull to prevent it from becoming unstable in the water.

The fire, which burned for more than 40 hours, was still smouldering when the Sudbury II escorted the Meteor into drydock. It was finally declared "out" by a 10-man crew from the North Vancouver fire department Sunday night.

A tight land-and-sea cordon was immediately thrown up around the area. Not even drydock employees were allowed near the ship unless summoned for a specific purpose.

Crew members approached in their North Vancouver hotels refused to talk to reporters.

Esther Roska, 22, a stewardess, and engine boy Steiner Bottolfsen, 19, were interviewed when they arrived here aboard the Malaspina Saturday for treatment of burns.

Both said they saw flames in the corridors as they fled from the forward section of the ship. Miss Roska said she saw about 13 bodies of crew members outside the Meteor's purser's office.

Treasure Winners

Winners of the Victorian Days treasure hunt dig held today by the Downtown Shoppers Association were Mrs. Vivian Moore, 2585 Dufferin; Teresa Adams, 1121 Pandora; Wanda Bradley, 2537 Wesley; Ted Cressy, 742 Lampson and Mrs. Maurice O'Connor, 2451 Dryfe.

The last dig, which is open to 500 contestants, will be held next Saturday at Willows Beach at 12 noon.

Bomb Drop On Etna Studied

SANT'ALFIO, Sicily (AP) — Peril to the Etna mountainside crossroads village of Fornazzo increased today as a fast-flowing stream of lava surged within 500 yards from the village outskirts.

Alarmed villagers waited anxiously for orders to evacuate. They still hoped that the lava would bypass the village, even if dangerously close.

A summit meeting of Europe's leading vulcanologists at nearby Sant'Alfio studied desperate proposals to bomb Etna or build a huge dike to hold back the lava flow.

Neither proposal won much support. The wall would be costly and take considerabe time. Bombing might divert the lava flow from towns now menaced and send ruin down upon other villages.

The new lava flow toward Fornazzo poured almost like water overnight at a rate of 50 to 60 yards an hour.

WITHIN A MILE

Although the molten rock was only 500 yards from Fornazzo as the crow flies, it was at least five-eighths of a mile away over the uneven terrain.

If the flaming stream remains in the shallow gulch it would barely pass Formazzo along the village's northern outskirts. If the dry stream bed failed to hold the lava it could spill over into built-up areas of the village.

The flow menacing Fornazzo came from a vent ripped open Sunday more than half way down the side of Mount Etna. The volcano has been in violent eruption since April 5.

Meanwhile, another vast lava front which had menaced Sant'Alfio for a week appeared to have slowed to a halt just north of the town.

New lava was flowing down toward Sant'Alfio from farther up on the mountainside, but it was not near enough yet to be considered a menace.

Before the Judge

A man arrested in connection with an armed robbery in which $470 was taken from a Saanich credit union in November was remanded to Wednesday in Victoria Provincial Court Saturday.

Donald A. Cooper, 28, of no fixed address, was remanded by Judge E. F. N. Robinson after being charged with the Nov. 5 armed robbery of the Saanich Peninsula Credit Union.

Some $4,705 was taken in the holdup by a gunman who wore rubber gloves and used a pistol.

Cooper was arrested in Alberta and brought to Victoria Firday.

Joan M. Broe, 24, of 2618 Wentwhich Ave., Langford, was fined $250 for shoplifting.

She was apprehended by security personnel at The Bay in possession of clothing missing from a changing booth.

Two men received $300 fines after pleading guilty to charges of impaired driving.

Dan L. Podgorenko, 32, of 1525 Denman St., was charged after his car was observed being driven erratically on Johnson Street early Saturday. Court was told his breathalyzer reading was .17 per cent.

His driver's licence was suspended for three months.

Glen M. McKay, 36, of 1108 May St., had his licence suspended for four months except for work purposes after his car was seen occupying both southbound lanes on Douglas St. April 14. His blood-alcohol content was also .17 per cent.

McKay pleaded not guilty to a second charge of impaired driving May 22 in Colwood. He was remanded to Wednesday on the second charge.

Donald R. Larsen, 18, of 2541 Empire St., pleaded guilty to a charge of prowling at night shortly after midnight Friday.

Robinson suspended his sentence and imposed 1½ years probation. Larsen had been convicted of a similar offence April 19 and was placed on probation at that time.

Robinson stipulated that the probation officer set a curfew for the boy and that psychiatric treatment be undertaken.

Quebec, Stanfield said he believes the policy may find ready acceptance in the rest of Canada.

"I think there's quite a feeling in the west that there should be consideration of their individual problems . . . also in British Columbia."

The Quebec Conservatives have been searching for a policy which would capture the imagination of the voters in the next federal election, expected to take place in 1972.

There are only three Quebec Conservatives sitting in the House, following the resignation several weeks ago of MP Roch LaSalle, who quit in sympathy with Alie.

The Liberals hold 55 of Quebec's 74 federal seats and the Creditistes 13. There are three vacancies, two of which will be filled in byelections on May 31 in Trois-Rivieres and Chambly, a Montreal suburb.

Senior party officials were saying privately during the weekend that unless the fortunes of the Tories change drastically in Quebec, their three-seat footing in the Commons could be reduced to one or two seats in the next election.

CHEMAINUS — One person is in satisfactory condition in Nanaimo hospital after two cars collided Monday afternoon near Chemainus.

Geraldine Allan, 19, of Blackpoint, Powell River, and her 23-year-old husband Douglas were taken to hospital for injuries suffered after their car collided with another driven by Jay Patrick Lacharite, 18, of 1442 Arlington Road, Victoria.

Allan was released from Chemainus hospital this morning while his wife was transferred to Nanaimo.

Passenger in the Lacharite car, John Ross, 18, of 4009 Cedar Hill Road, also of Victoria, was treated for minor injuries.

ADVANTAGES CLEARLY BELONG TO SOVIETS

Canada-Russia Pact Gains One-Sided

By JOHN MIKA
Times Ottawa Bureau

TASHKENT — So far the new-found Soviet-Canadian friendship has enabled Prime Minister Trudeau to scare the Americans and his fellow passengers on the Ilyshun 62 that brought him here Saturday.

Trudeau took the controls of the 200-seat jetliner high over the Caspian Sea and immediately roller coasted it through a 2,200-foot drop.

Either he needed time to adjust his touch to the delicate joystick or else some aide picked that moment to inform him of the defections of Paul Hellyer and Phillip Givens.

However, Trudeau recovered promptly and executed a creditable 90-degree bank to the right — while flying the aircraft for about 15 minutes with photographers at his back.

There were only about 40 aboard, mostly officials and a couple of photographers.

ONLY GAIN

But the privilege of piloting Aeroflots' flagship seems to have been the only Canadian gain since the surprise bilateral protocol signing ceremony last week in Moscow.

The Russians got what they've long wanted from Ottawa — a comprehensive framework for developing more contacts with Canadians as well as a clear meeting of minds with a NATO member on the desirability of an early negotiation of foreign troop withdrawals from Europe.

But the Canadian side, judging by the briefings and Trudeau's solitary press conference was not so successful, at the outset in any event.

SOVIETS URGED

It's been revealed that the prime minister urged the Soviet leaders to:

Clarify and detail their troop withdrawal ideas; relax their position on Berlin to advance a solution; agree to an international conference on pollution controls for the Arctic Ocean which could consider sanctioning Ottawa's unilateral action; and accept the recent Canadian submission at Geneva of a new seismological technique for verifying underground nuclear explosions as a breakthrough which could clinch a total testing ban agreement.

On none of these did Trudeau report any significant progress. In each case, he said, the Soviets repeated previously known positions and added they would think about them some more.

Trudeau was known to have planned to ask Moscow to release, on compassionate grounds among friends, a specific list of Soviet citizens who have worried families in Canada.

DISCRIMINATION

He also was to ask assurances there would be no discrimination against Jews in Russia, that Canadian fish stocks not be exhausted by Russian trawler fleets in the North Atlantic and that Moscow give more co-operation in arranging a useful Siberian tour in July for Jean Chretien.

It's not known if he gained any ground on these matters because he hasn't discussed them in public and briefing have avoided the subjects

While it's much too early to assess the impact of the new Ottawa-Moscow protocol (which will be tabled in the Commons but not put to any ratification vote) some things may be noteworthy at this early stage.

Despite repeated requests for more press access the 40-member Canadian travelling press corps was barred from accompanying Trudeau to Norilsk in Siberia except for a corporal's guard of seven, mostly technicians and cameramen.

SOVIET PRESS

Meanwhile, the Soviet travelling press corps on the tour is provided grandstand seats for all of Trudeau's events, many of which are restricted to a fraction of the Canadian group and some on which they've been totally blanked, requiring pleas to the Soviet cameramen for copies of their pictures.

Also, in the Ukraine (where Trudeau did not announce a Canadian consulate for Kiev as hoped) Toronto Liberal MP Walter Deakon was given a polite brush off by a junior Soviet official when he made a speech urging an easing of red tape in immigration cases, especially for those Ukranians related to Canadians.

However, there were many signs of genuine friendliness towards Trudeau's party in Kiev, where the first commercial charter flight of Canadian tourists arrived on the eve of the prime minister's departure.

And he landed to a very warm reception here in every sense. A humid 92 degrees and a crowd of delighted Uzbeks, including a troop of gaily dressed children who presented flowers with obvious relish.

The drive into the town's hotel area was, as usual, lined with Canadian and Russian flags and large red banners proclaiming friendship between the two countries.

Victim Identified

A Seattle fisherman drowned off Sherringham Point near Sooke Saturday has been identified as Philip McLoughlin.

His gillnetter broke up and sank in the Strait of Juan de Fuca after hitting a submerged object.

Two crew members rescued from the boat were Jerry McLoughlin, son of the drowned man, and Joseph Arnone, also of Seattle. Both men were in good condition in Port Angeles hospital. They were found floating in a rubber raft after seven hours in the water.

U.S. Coast Guard officials said no distress signal was picked up and that the Canadian destroyer Columbia began searching the area after sighting debris in the water.

Did You Ever See a Baldheaded Sheep?

While the fact that there are no baldheaded sheep may have no bearing on growth of human hair, it is from the wool of the sheep that the natural lanolin used in NIL-O-NAL is extracted.

Your Scalp Is Not An Oilwell

Your hair needs natural scalp oils to keep it growing strong and thick. When you dry out or wash out those protective oils you're inviting hair trouble — dandruff, itchy scalp, even falling hair! So why take chances? Replace those vital oils daily by using NIL-O-NAL (Lanolin spelled backwards).

CURLS, CURLS, CURLS!
Even when it rains!

If you want deep, flattering curls that last and last—even in rainy weather—just use NIL-O-NAL before you set your hair. Results are amazing. Your curls are bouncy, springy, long-lasting. Your hair is softer, easy to manage. And because it medicates as well as beautifies, NIL-O-NAL helps stop hair ends from splitting off.

SEE RESULTS IN 30 DAYS

If you want the hair benefits we know NIL-O-NAL can give you, get a jar today. It's the most successful lanolin formula in Canada and we guarantee you'll be completely astonished in 30 days . . . or your money back. Special prices now apply. Only 89¢ for a 1 oz. jar; only $1.49 for a 2 oz. jar; only $2.19 for the money-saving 4 oz. jar. Get NIL-O-NAL today at any drug or cosmetic counter. Remember, this guarantee applies only if you insist on NIL-O-NAL. That's lanolin spelled backwards!

A Part of the Main

THE IMPORT OF LAST WEEK'S developments in European Common Market negotiations appears to be that France's approach on the point of whether or not Britain should be permitted to become a member has changed to consideration of how and when membership shall become effective. President Pompidou's acceptance in principle of the British application puts the whole years-long debate in a new stage, even though it is obvious that some difficult questions still remain to be answered.

As a former imperial power, as a Commonwealth member, a world financial centre and an industrial and military entity of global importance, Britain brings to the ECM talks a somewhat different character from that of the original continental members. Important trade and political associations inevitably must trail behind Britain's closer approach to Europe, and it is on some of these that the sharpest discussion has hinged.

Imports of New Zealand produce, Britain's relations with the United States, the demands of Commonwealth membership, the status of the pound sterling in international finance — these are among the complicated issues which have engaged the attention of the ECM members, and particularly that of M. Pompidou. Since the death of President de Gaulle the French position has eased considerably, but basic issues still remain to be met head-on when the members resume debate in Brussels.

Against this background the substantial gain in agreement between Prime Minister Heath and President Pompidou last week gives great promise. The two leaders have reached a consensus on overall concepts of what they see as Europe's future status and role. Without such a basic agreement it would have been futile to discuss details.

Oddly enough, as the French objections to British membership have diminished, there has been a growing reaction among the British public against closer association with the continent. Both the Labor Party and Mr. Heath's own Conservatives contain strong elements which oppose the whole policy of ECM membership. The close affinity of currencies, trade channels and labor mobility with the continental members poses problems peculiar to the island kingdom.

What is really required of Britain is that it will, in effect, stop being an island. That is a hard decision for a nation which for many centuries has drawn not only its safety but its strength from its insular position. The world is no longer the same world in which that safety and strength existed. But the national habits of historic centuries are not easily relinquished — nor should they be too casually abandoned.

Oom-pah-pah and Rub-a-dub-dub

THE CENTENNIAL MOTIF THIS year gave a special unity to much of the May 24 parade and added to the pleasure of larger-even-than-usual crowds. A great deal of work obviously had gone into the many floats and turnouts and the Greater Victoria community owes thanks to all who organized, sponsored and participated in the annual spectacle. The curb-side attendance proved once again that Victorians love a parade.

The school band entries from Washington and Oregon have now become a tradition of the May 24 celebrations here and the marchers received a warm welcome. A touch typical of the spirit of the occasion was provided by one visiting American school group which included in their routine a periodic break-up during which the girls moved to the roadside and shook hands with spectators. It was a nice good-neighbor gesture that went over well.

The parade was a success on all counts. Those who worked so others could play should know that their efforts were appreciated.

Expensive Lesson

THERE CAN BE LITTLE JOY for British Columbians in Mr. Justice G. S. Rae's B.C. Supreme court award of $1,213,669 damages to MacMillan Bloedel Ltd. against B.C. Hydro and a provincial highways department foreman. Our citizens know who will pay, directly or indirectly, if the damages for the fire attributed to Hydro and highway department negligence are paid. The judgment does, however, draw very sharp attention to an example of unacceptable carelessness on the part of certain Hydro and highway officials.

It is easy enough to label the cause of the fire as an accident. According to the judge, it resulted from a hot power line, dislodged by a highway blast in the Sproat Lake district in mid-August, 1967, touching off tinder-dry forest material there. The ruling of negligence nevertheless removes this from the list of incidents occurring innocently and through nobody's fault. A risk was taken when conditions permitted no risk without disastrous consequences.

If there is one group of people who should exercise particular care in their operations in the woods at times of high hazard, surely it is employees of the government — direct or indirect. They, above all, should understand and appreciate the warnings continually given by the B.C. Forest Service against operations which jeopardize the woods in hot, dry weather. The judgment comes as an expensive lesson on the costs of negligence. It should be appreciated thoroughly by everyone who helps to meet the bill — and stand as a warning for others whose negligence also causes fires.

Okinawa Echoes

WHEN TWO SUCH UNLIKELY but determined combatants as Southern United States protectionism and Japanese nationalism collide the outcome could mean grave danger for the United States-Japanese alliance. Also involved are the possible collapse of the pro-American government of Japanese Prime Minister Eisaku Sato, and great embarrassment for the Nixon Administration. A collision between these two interests appears likely as control of Okinawa and the other islands in the Ryuku group passes from the United States to Japan.

The U.S. Administration has virtually committed itself to submit the reversion protocol to the Senate in the form of a treaty which must receive the support of two-thirds of the Senators for passage. While it is in the Senate a "reservation" to the treaty may be pushed through by Southern protectionists seizing this opportunity to restrict the volume and composition of textile imports from Japan.

As the United States begins to shape policy suitable to the "post-Vietnam" period, Japan looms large. Delay in the reversion of Okinawa could have undesirable consequences in Tokyo for the United States, and perhaps the West in general.

". . . quite frankly . . . I miss Pierre, too . . ."

Foul Bay Road

I trust that a worthy project will be chosen to bear Queen Elizabeth's name!

Why not change Foul Bay Rd. to Fowl Bay Rd. and phonetically preserve the historic name.—J.W.H.

For Diabetics Camp

The Victoria and District Branch of the Canadian Diabetic Association thank those who gave donations during our recent tag day to raise funds for our Diabetic Children's summer camp.

A special thank you goes to those who gave their time and energy during this appeal, particularly the school children and youth groups, and also to the business centres who allowed the use of their premises for tagging.

Applications for our Children's Camp are being accepted. Interested persons may contact Mrs. C. McIntosh at 384-7720 for further information.—Mrs. C. McIntosh, Camp Chairman.

Injustice

It is such a pity that the people who have been unjustly critical of the general manager of the Symphony Society cannot be told the truth, the whole truth and nothing but the truth. Perhaps then we would hear a different story.

There is a terrible injustice being done here and all I can say is may God forgive them what they do. — His Wife.

NET HUMAN BENEFIT

By BRUCE HUTCHISON

Something More Important Than Economics

NO doubt Prime Minister Trudeau expected to be misunderstood when he proposed recently that Canada might start to reckon its wealth by a figure more accurate than the Gross National Product. It was a safe assumption. He has been widely misunderstood. The text of his speech said that "net social benefit" should be the nation's goal and yardstick to take in the liabilities as well as the assets of economic growth. But that is not exactly what he said when he spoke in Vancouver. His words, according to those who heard him, were "net human benefit." Evidently he changed the script at the last moment realizing that the word "social" is semantically dangerous. It makes people think of socialism, Social Credit, or worse.

Hutchison

"Human" benefit may be semantically safer but, for political purposes, not quite safe enough. With ponderous irony the opposition in Parliament immediately asked whether the Economic Council of Canada would study the prime minister's formula "as a measure of economic progress." To which a government spokesman replied, in equally sleek official jargon, that the prime minister had suggested "a new concept" requiring further investigation.

Nothing New

In fact, there is nothing new in it. The idea is as old as civilization, probably older. Any cave man must have been thinking of his own human benefit when he killed an animal or built a fire. The Egyptian Pharoahs thought the same thing when they built pyramids to ensure full employment and their own immortality. So did the Greek philosophers when they gave us most of the ideas on which Western civilization is built.

What Mr. Trudeau said in Vancouver has been said, in many versions, by wise men throughout the ages but it is new in Canada when it comes from an elected politician. Especially at a time of gross economic blundering it must be risky for him to question the Gross National Product as the ultimate criterion of human affairs.

It is also ridiculous to suggest that the Economic Council can devise a different kind of criterion. The council is not equipped or paid to consider such philosophical notions, the business of philosophers. Besides, the council already is fully occupied in explaining that inflation doesn't matter and that the government should leave the economy alone.

Look Beyond

Though caught, like political leaders everywhere, in the economic errors of his own government, the Prime Minister is asking us to look beyond economics to something more important — the old, unsolved riddle of life itself, which no statistic can measure and which a practical politician will avoid like the plague. If such questions are usually ignored in politics, or larded over with greasy rhetoric, Mr. Trudeau is not the only man who now asks them.

Quietly, beneath the writhing surface of North American life, all men who think at all ask why unparalleled wealth somehow has failed to satisfy them; why the United States, richest of nations, is one of the most tortured and unhappy.

As soon as the question is posed the answer usually takes the form of another question and reduces the argument to absurdity. Don't the questioners want wealth? Are they against comfort, good housing, leisure, full employment and all the other things dependent on economic growth? If they are not, why should they question the primary economic motivation of mankind? Why should they doubt the inevitable progress guaranteed by the good old GNP? And, as a final clincher, are they heartless enough to keep the poor from ever achieving a decent life?

These clumsy Socratic questions are designed to get our minds off the central point, to make a reasonable way of living and a reasonable economic system appear to be in permanent conflict — in short, to beg the real question.

For of course no sensible man (unless he be a saint and mystic) is against wealth and in favor of poverty, just as no sensible economist supposes for a moment that economics alone can begin to answer the human riddle. In a false, either-or argument we confuse man's inner being with his outer possessions and fall between two stools, as Mr. Trudeau may have fallen in Vancouver.

It would take at least a book even to touch these questions and a million books have not satisfactorily answered them yet. But politicians like Mr. Trudeau must try to answer some of them from day to day in practical terms and must usually fail.

To take an obvious example in the day's news, the British government decided to save the privately mismanaged Rolls-Royce automobile concern from bankruptcy while the American government is still attempting to save the Lockheed airplane industry threatened by the same disastrous deal.

Specific Test

Here was the sort of specific test foreseen by Mr. Trudeau in general: Would this rescue operation by the public treasury be for "net human benefit?" The two governments thought it would. So did the owners of the two companies who, in theory, are bitterly opposed to governmental interference in private business, and so did thousands of American and British workers who otherwise would lose their jobs.

This is a tiny instance of what Mr. Trudeau is trying to say — that we cannot always afford to be logical and consistent, that the classic rules do not always apply in a modern, technological society and that difficult choices must be made even if they are not always economic.

When questioning the benefits of unlimited luxury, as life's highest goal, Mr. Trudeau might have added that man, in a free society, is not forced to accept it for himself. No one compels him to buy things he doesn't need or really want. He can decide these matters for himself as an individual. If the government takes more of the total wealth than he thinks proper, then, as a voter, he can change the government.

But neither the individual nor the collection of individuals called society can escape in the end the choice between human benefit and human detriment. That is what politics are all about, as they have been from the beginning. And clearly our choices, up to now, have not always been wise philosophically, or even economically, or we wouldn't be in dilemma which the GNP, however large, cannot solve.

FROM OTTAWA

By JAMES RESTON

Is the U.S. Aware of the New Canada?

This article gives an interesting visitor's view of the Canadian scene by the internationally known columnist of the New York Times, James Reston.

VERY few men manage to get political power without being corrupted or to give it up without being wounded and depressed, but Lester B. Pearson, former Prime Minister of Canada, is one of them. Here he is at 74, after a career as strenuous as the Canadian winter, still working away on the great political and philosophical questions of the age, still living simply in his modest way, writing his memoirs, presiding over his seminars at Carleton University, and on the side, looking after his 10 grandchildren.

Reston

Things are a little quieter in Ottawa, now coming into its late spring and blazing with tulips. The view of the world from here is very interesting. Prime Minister Trudeau is in the Soviet Union. The Peoples Republic of China has an embassy on the 12th floor of the Juliana Apartments looking over the spectacular river views of this capital, and the talk here is about the recent professional hockey playoffs, unemployment, and the separatist movement in Quebec among some of the French Canadians.

This is quite a change from the days when "Mike" Pearson was Prime Minister, arguing for "the Atlantic community" acting as a bridge between Washington and London, and between the Western and Communist worlds.

Canada, under Trudeau, has reduced its commitments to the North Atlantic alliance, recognized the Chinese Government in Peking, and is now concentrating on new bilateral compromises with the Soviet Union. All this raises some fundamental questions for the Nixon Administration. What ever happened to the idea that the United States and Canada would follow a common foreign policy? What is the meaning of the Canadian Prime Minister making an 11,000 mile tour throughout the U.S.S.R. before he has ventured into such a journey in the United States? How reconcile a Chinese Communist embassy in Ottawa, with American journalists and scholars coming here to get visas for Peking, with the obvious fact that there is no Peking embassy in Washington?

Something clearly is changing here. The Canada of Trudeau is obviously more nationalistic than the Canada of Pearson just a short while ago. The commercial domination of Canada by the United States increases, but the confidence and trust of Canada in the United States, after Vietnam, decreases.

After all the disorder, draft-dodging and drug problems of the last few years in the U.S., Canada is clearly more troubled about the United States today than it has been for many years.

Meanwhile, the Canadian people are deeply divided at home. A visitor is startled to find thoughtful Canadians talking seriously about French Canada breaking away completely from the rest of Canada, and even about the dismemberment of the Canadian nation. So there is a dual problem.

Not only a difference between Ottawa and Washington about how to deal with Peking and Moscow, but even more important, a separatist movement in Canada itself, which could create vast new political disorders within the whole of North America.

For the generation since the last world war, Canada has produced a remarkable company of politicians and civil servants who have helped to reconcile the differences between the Communist and the Western worlds. Men like former Prime Minister Pearson, former ambassadors to Washington Norman Robertson and Arnold Heeney, among many others, have been very close to Washington and have worked effectively for collective security within North America and the hemisphere and even for accommodation between the Communist and capitalist worlds.

Things Are Different

But things are different now. Trudeau is much more nationalistic than Pearson, much more concerned about domestic problems than about foreign policies.

Meanwhile, President Nixon is likewise concentrating on divisions at home and on problems in Moscow and Peking, while the issues of the Western Hemisphere are being minimized, if not ignored.

Maybe after Vietnam, all this will be changed, but for the moment, trouble is clearly brewing among the neighbors. If the thoughtful Canadians are right, and the separatist movement in French Canada is as serious as they say, not only the unity of Canada but the security of the hemisphere will be a fundamental issue of the future.

Ironically, Canada seems to feel that the United States is playing too dominant a role in its commercial affairs, but the truth is that Washington, preoccupied with the war in Indochina, is actually thinking very little about the divisions and problems developing here in the Western hemisphere.

Looking to the rest of the 70s, few things could cause Washington more trouble than a divided Canada or the spread of Communist supported radical movements, as in Chile. Washington is concentrating now on Thieu and Ky in Saigon, and paying little attention to Trudeau in Ottawa or Allende in Santiago, but the struggles of the future may very well lie closer to home, in Canada, Cuba, and Central and South America.

Looking Back

From the Times of May 25, 1911:

Yesterday was a regular show day in Victoria. When dulcet dawn raced down the horizon on the heels of starless night it heralded the information that the holiday spirit had broken out. The first streak of incipient sunshine transfixed a bannerette woven in many colors and bearing a legend of loyalty. It served to signify the unaltering spirit pervading the occasion — Victoria Day. Glowing warmth lit up the city from morn till night. Glowing spirits pervaded every heart.

Royal Tour Musings

(Former city editor of the Times, Slinger covered the tour for The Globe and Mail)

The night before the tour began, Lt.-Col. Jim McPhee, press co-ordinator, peered over his glasses at the assembled news people and discussed coverage.

"She's the Queen of Canada," he rumbled. "She's not a Hollywood star — don't treat her that way." In other words, stand back and let the people see.

The question comes to mind: why do these thousands of people, many of whom have travelled miles and waited hours, line a driveway in Vernon, streets in villages, stand jammed in parks, city squares and airports? The royal motorcade just whizzes through.

●

Is it patriotism?

Is it just plain curiosity aroused by the definite star quality of the leading players?

What abiding thought is left with the woman in blue hair rollers at Fort St. John, who spoke briefly to the Duke over the rope barrier? Then there were the hundreds of elderly Royal Canadian Legionnaires standing shakily to attention almost everywhere the family stopped. What is left with them?

And what about the tearful little girl whose view had been blocked and who stopped crying only when RCMP Staff Sgt. Robert Crawford held her high above his scarlet shoulders?

Premier W. A. C. Bennett would say toward the end of the tour that his province had become a better province for the visit, which marked the centenary of its entry into Confederation.

●

Even the people who didn't know much about the Crown and what it stood for, he told the Queen on Tuesday night, had been touched. "Your glance in passing them—like a spark — set these people on fire."

Mr. Bennett has proved well able in the past to assess his British Columbians better than any editorial writer or commentator.

But to the visitor, it is impossible to say what happened during the visit. Just say that the people came.

Signing another book

The B.C. Government was criticized even before the thing began for the apparent headlong pace of the tour and the seemingly infinite greeting lines of mayors, mayors' wives and local officials. Would the Royal Family meet the real people?

The Queen and Mr. Bennett made particular points in later speeches that the real people had, in fact, been met.

The feeling among members of the touring press corps, who had travelled with the family in Canada and abroad before, however, was that the B.C. visit lacked any great variety.

The British reporters, in particular, found little to write about until Princess Anne became ill a week ago with an upset stomach. This forced her to miss three days of the tour and meant a news story of sorts for the papers over home.

●

But unless the Princess gets tremendous satisfaction out of trailing along behind her parents, waving to crowds, signing visitors books and talking to Brownies, there was little on the tour that could greatly have interested a sophisticated 20-year-old in 1971.

Her few chances to go off on her own offered two unveilings (a national park monument and a marker at the new CBC building in downtown Vancouver) and a brief lunch with a few students at the University of British Columbia.

Her father managed the luncheon when she became ill. And when the family made a brief detour to do the postponed CBC dedication en route to the airport, Princess Anne showed a keen perspective on the 8:10 a.m. ceremoney with the comment that she hoped history would record her act as the earliest of that sort ever carried out anywhere.

There was a feeling that the Queen received a somewhat antiseptic view of British Columbia. City halls, main streets, airports and historic parks speak little of the whole community.

One incident that stands out occured at Sandspit in the Queen Charlotte Islands. One of the native dancers had lubricated himself too well for the performance and was adding some strenuously creative movements to the ritual dance.

He finally sat down groggily and then left. The whole episode was treated with tremendous tact by his own people, the Mounties and the Queen.

Some reporters chose to mention it in stories. Some didn't. The day after a few stories appeared, however, Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell issued a statement calling their efforts a "misuse of journalism." He said the stories conveyed the idea that "every Indian is a drunken Indian," and suggested that had it been a white man no mention would have been made.

Had it been a white man, many more reporters on the trip would have written the story because it was funny and the man meant no harm. The statement of the minister gave papers who hadn't used the story the first day a chance to use it the second.

More than that, though, it seemed that the government was unduly sensitive about any mention of problems in the province. There is an Indian problem — which is not to say that Indians are a problem — and drunkenness is a part of it. There are problems of crowding and poverty in the cities that have nothing to do with skin color. Many young people are restless. There is unemployment. Beautiful lakes and rivers are polluted and pulp mills smell pretty foul anywhere. The Queen, possibly, and the press, certainly, were protected from these problems on the journey.

Nowhere did there appear any opportunity similar to the one taken last year at The Pas, when Dave Courchene, on behalf of Manitoba's Indians and with respect, asked the Queen to ask her ministers to give his people a chance. There were no "incidents" — even the weather was grand.

●

So another question. On a trip such as this, is the idea to have the Queen see or is it to have people see the Queen? By the last measure, the visit was a considerable success.

It is hard trying to sum up this tour.

How many thousands of dollars were spent? Was it worth it? Will the next Canadian tour follow the same wearying pattern? Who are these people who present extemporaneous gifts to the Queen — the bunch of crushed dandelions from a little girl in Duncan, the small carved cross from a hippie in Kamloops, the Mother's Day cards, and the children pushed through the crowd to her?

She is the Queen, however, and her task is not easy. Everywhere the trio went they showed the greatest enjoyment and interest in the people they met.

There are still so many questions. But there was laughter and cheers, 8,000,000 snapshots were taken and maybe a fire was left burning in the province.

The Arguments Over Economics Point Up the Generation Gaps

By DOUGLAS FISHER

OTTAWA — The charges of incompetence, the counters that one "odd" month's jobless figures belie a rallying economy, will echo across the land until next month's statistics are out.

It's probably a time to write about the economy and poor Edgar Benson.

It happens that last week a politician let me read a letter he got in April from an economist-friend. The economist is a governmental employee. I agree with his analysis of the present economic dilemma. I like even better what he analyses as the central economic problem ahead of us, "the relations between the generations." I present his opinion of the slanging match over inflation and-or unemployment, then go on to his new perspective.

Utterly Wasteful

As the Canadian economy expands again, very slowly, as the appreciation of the Canadian dollar wears off, back the inflation will come, and the episode of the past year will have been shown as utterly wasteful even in its own terms.

Why expand now if it makes sense to keep imported inflation down and why ever endure the unemployment if we can live with the imported inflation? To this the government can have no answer.

Desperate Folly

What they will try, no doubt, is some form of price-and-wage control, an act of desperate folly for which people are unprepared. The measures will not work. In practical terms, they are little better insulation against imported inflation than Dr. Young's incantations.

But they will be much more painful to their sponsors in a political sense.

If we are serious about full employment, we should be willing to try anything sensible to keep inflation away, but we should not sacrifice real people, real output, and real jobs.

We should be ready to meet imported inflation by compensating the weak, who are in no position to offset inflation themselves. It is easier to compensate if we are not throwing away real products at the rate of $5 billions a year.

Our economist hopes that the government will replace Rasminsky of the Bank of Canada with "someone not so neanderthal in outlook . . . it is Rasminsky who is the know-nothing, the anti-intellectual, the man who proceeds against the advice of his own professionals and that of the bulk of independent experts."

Becoming Faddist

Now, to the long term . . . this economist argues that the relations between the generations are becoming a social issue to dwarf anything else on the domestic scene. Ecological concern, he senses, is taking on faddist qualities, just as automation did a few years a go and economic growth a few years before that. The "generation" business has not yet been seen by the faddists, but it will challenge their principles of democracy.

All the rules about equality and redistribution of wealth have to be thought through anew. Where they have been applied to transfers from rich to poor, from one "class" to another, from "these" people to "those" people, now they must be applied to transfers from "all of us" to "all of us" at different periods of our lives.

Left Outside

The stock conception of the economy centres on the workers and the entrepreneurs or employers. Children and pensioners are left outside the framework of formal economic analysis. The assumption has been that they are taken care of within the family.

The "worker" of the economic models has really become a three-generation figure, his life cycle is in three parts, each approaching equality in length.

The child-youth is spent in training and studies outside the work-force, all of it costly, and not just to the worker-father on his disposable income.

Then there are the worker's actual work years. As retirement age drops, as child-youth years lengthen, as life-spans extend, a rough balance in length of these two periods with the retirement or pension generation is apparent.

This adjustment has been associated with another change. The family structure has altered. Those in the first and third of the three generations spend more and more of their time outside a family structure.

Therefore, they must be accounted for in the main economic framework. There is a build-up of human capital as well as of financial capital, on what economists call "private account," during the first generation, and a running down of both kinds of capital in the third generation.

The "work" that produces output for all three generations comes from the labor of the middle generation. They support the whole system.

BENSON
. . . poor Edgar

The transfers from the middle to the first and third generations, carried out largely by the state, are now enormous, especially to the first generation. The "workers" are becoming more and more tense about the terms on which they deal with the other groups. Unless a new social compact is reached which satisfies the general sense of fair play, great cruelty and waste will appear. The market mechanism of the economy cannot provide the solution.

Ghettos are being built that must be broken down before the walls become firm. Reflect on the American "blue-collar-hard-hat" revolt. The transfers to support the young imply a class conflict between those to whom an extended education means little and those for whom it means much. More and more a "loan" device must be used so that the lucky ones to whom extended education means much are not made still luckier by a perverse transfer from their unlucky colleagues in the lower income levels of the middle generation.

Urgent Problems

Availability of education to all must be made more real. But it is at the other end, with the long twilight generation, that the most urgent problems lie. As the scope of the family reduces, as years in retirement lengthen, the life-style allowed the old becomes increasingly barbaric. Some 1,700,000 Canadains receive the old-age security pension. Over half of them get the "guaranteed income" supplements, an income of $112 a month.

More and more the third generation loses out. Over a period of 25 years, productivity and technological change raise standards by almost 100 per cent.

Always Behind

Thus the pensioner is always being left behind. Inflation makes the diminution of his real income even worse. The state must do what in simpler societies and with shorter life spans the family could once do.

The point of the economic and social process must be highlighted again: it is simply to serve life. Technology must be turned to the problems of the third generation, to restore their vitality and to allow their work to be continued. The ghetto for the old must be broken down. The young are contemptible if, after thought, they still let it be built. Amen.

Good Grief, Taft Was Right

By NICHOLAS VON HOFFMAN
The Washington Post

Last week the Senate voted down Mike Mansfield's proposition to halve the number of troops we keep in Europe doing nothing other than satisfying ancient geopolitical theories. They have been there for a generation. It was precisely 20 years ago that they were sent over the objections of men like Sen. Robert A. Taft and other well-known Reds.

The thought of the removal of any of these troops touches off something close to hysteria, not only in the present administration but among the ghosts of administrations past. Characters have been coming out of the woodwork whom we haven't seen in years to shake bony fingers of warning at us. They even found old Dean Acheson to bulge his eyes and switch his moustache while he decried the very idea and called it "asinine."

★ ★ ★

He was calling Taft names two decades ago. But whose judgment have the years shown to be more wisely founded, Acheson's, Truman's, Dulles' or Taft's? Taft is dead, but this is a propitious time to print excerpts from his speech to the Senate of the United States on Jan. 5, 1951:

"During recent years a theory has developed that there shall be no criticism of the foreign policy of the administration, that any such criticism is an attack on the unity of the nation, that it gives aid and comfort to the enemy, and that it sabotages any idea of a bipartisan foreign policy for the national benefit. I venture to state that this proposition is a fallacy and a very dangerous fallacy threatening the very existence of the nation.

"In very recent days we have heard appeals for unity from the administration and from its supporters. I suggest that these appeals are an attempt to cover up the past faults and failures of the administration and enable it to maintain the secrecy which has largely enveloped our foreign policy since the day of Franklin D. Roosevelt . . . it is still fashionable to meet any criticism by cries of isolationism. Criticisms are met by the calling of names rather than by intelligent debate.

". . . It seems to me that our battle against communism is in fact a world-wide battle and must be fought on the world stage. What I object to is undertaking to fight that battle primarily on the vast land areas of the continent of Europe or the continent of Asia where we are at the greatest disadvantage in a war with Russia . . . . we must not undertake anything beyond our power, as we have in Korea. We must not assume obligations by treaty or otherwise which require any extensive use of American land forces.

". . . In committee Secretary Acheson was asked the direct question by Sen. Hickenlooper: 'Are we going to be expected to send substantial numbers of troops over there as a more or less permanent contribution to the development of these countries' capacity to resist?'

★ ★ ★

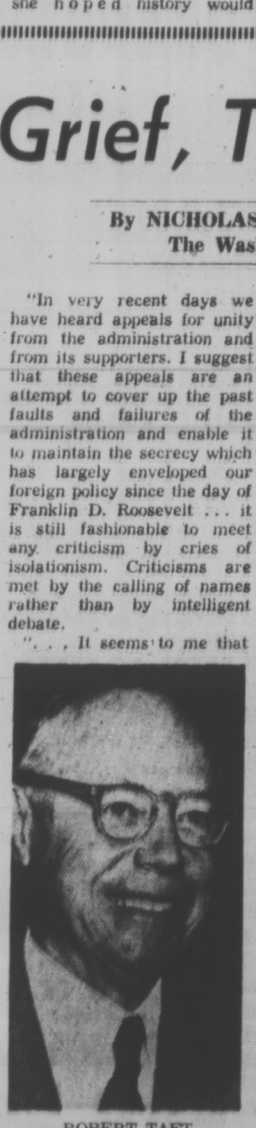
"Secretary Acheson: 'The answer to that question, Senator, is a clear and absolute no.'

"Is such a military program possible for any period of years without inflation and the loss of liberty at home?

". . . The larger the army with very little to do, the more difficult it will be to maintain its morale.

"The key to all the problems before Congress lies in the size of our military budget. That determines the taxes to be levied. It determines the number of boys to be drafted. It is likely to determine whether we can maintain a reasonably free system and the value of our dollar, or whether we are to be weakened by inflation and choked by government controls which inevitably tend to become more arbitrary and unreasonable.

"And finally the policy we adopt must be approved by Congress and the people after full and free discussion. The commitment of a land army to Europe is a program never approved by Congress, into which we should not drift. The policy of secret executive agreements has brought us to danger and disaster. It threatens the liberties of our people."



ROBERT TAFT
. . . beaten down

With that, Sen. Taft sat down and was beaten, beaten not only by those who are dead but by many who still sit in the Senate, Aiken, Fulbright, Pastore, Long, Ellender and others. Some learned and others didn't. LBJ was a member of the Senate and Richard Nixon soon would be.

In 1951 it wasn't so easy to see that Sen. Taft was right. Not only were we going through one of our periodic attacks of commie-phobia, but Hitler was a lot closer; the idea of appeasing any antagonist was much more frightening.

★ ★ ★

But now it is a full generation later, and it turns out that Taft was right, right on every question all the way from inflation to the terrible demoralization of troops. Right on point after point, and yet in the face of all these years of facts and experience Acheson comes out of nowhere to say "asinine' and Nixon calls it "isolationism."

Well, it was neither. It was a way to defend the country without destroying it, a way to be part of the world without running it, and we still, on the morning of this vote, so long after the last one, hadn't found anything better.

"I'll get it..it's for me"

...and it usually is. Even the most understanding parents enjoy and deserve a little time out of earshot. Next time there's the least excuse, give her an extension phone for her bedroom. She'll be delighted and you'll experience more than the usual pleasure of giving. Call our business office.

Stuntman's Dive Ends in Hospital

Times Staff

PORT ALBERNI — Stuntman Gary Johnson of Delta Saturday climbed the 80-foot high spar pole and did a dance and head stand.

He then dived off the top of the pole, hooked to a safety cable.

The cable's brakes didn't work.

Today, Johnson is in West Coast General Hospital with back injuries and his condition is reported to be satisfactory.

More than 2,000 spectators attending the Port Alberni Logger Festival were watching Johnson perform the grand finale to the six hours of competition.

The stuntman was knocked unconscious by the fall and was taken to hospital by ambulance.

His family was at the show.

Johnson was born and raised in Port Alberni and now makes his home in Delta. He performs at logger day festivals throughout the U.S. and West Coast.

Best all-around logger was Mervin Lintz of Crestwell, Oregon, who captured top points.

Winners in each of the events:

Ladies' nail driving—Margaret Koshieff, Port Alberni; Boys' birling—Paul Herrling, Sooke; Axe throwing—Armand Didier, Duncan; Chokerman's race—Ron Hartell, Sooke.

Underhand chop—Brian Herlihy, Sooke; single hand-bucking—Mervin Lintz; obstacle pole bucking—Ian Moratti, Squamish; power saw bucking—Lintz; standing block chop—Brian Herlihy; men's birling—Gerry Phillips, Squamish; cable eye splicing—Richard Cass, Port Alberni; and speed climbing—Armand Didier, Duncan.

Swimmers Overwhelm Firemen

NORTH COWICHAN — Southend volunteer firemen here have found that the demand is so great for swimming lessons in their pool this year that they are unable to have open registrations as they have done for the past 13 years.

Chief Pete Henry said that in past years when they held open registration hundreds of people lined up to apply for Red Cross swimming lessons under the instruction of Louise Hamilton.

This year, children who have passed the non-swimmer course will get a chance to advance to the junior stage,, he said. "If there are any vacancies, they will be filled from the waiting list."

Through an initial outlay of $15,000 in 1958, and a yearly maintenance budget of about $1,200, the 25 volunteer firemen in the department have provided themselves with a 28x40-foot pool.

All construction work and the annual maintenance is done by department members.

The pool, which is open four months of the year, is mainly used by the volunteer firemen, their families and friends.

Conventions Fill Nanaimo

NANAIMO — The next 11 days will be busy ones for Nanaimo as four major conventions are scheduled for the city.

Associated Commercial Travellers meet until May 28 for their biennial convention. Five hundred to 700 members will make their headquarters at the Villa Hotel.

Vintage Car club members from Western Canada and the northwestern United States will meet May 28 to May 30.

More than 400 delegates from 181 branches of the Pacific Command of the Royal Canadian legion will meet for their biennial convention May 30 to June 2. Officers will be elected and delegates will vote on nearly 100 resolutions.

To wind up the busy period the Motor Dealers' Association of B.C. will meet June 3-5 at the Villa with 300 delegates expected.

Aversion to Multiple Housing Can Be Overcome, Says Expert

By MAUREEN DUFFUS

The widespread Canadian aversion to multiple housing can be overcome, delegates to the national conference of the Appriasal Institutue of Canada were told at a Saturday meeting at the Empress Hotel.

Architect and planner A. J. Diamond of Toronto listed common objections discovered during his study of the problem; suggested solutions, and warned against placing single and multiple dwelling units side by side in one neighborhood.

"It produces social trauma," Diamond said. "Different socio-economic groups prefer different types of housing.

"Some are street-oriented, others like to drink their martini in a private backyard, and the two groups don't mix."

NEIGHBORHOODS

Home buyers tend to gravitate to a congenial neighborhood, he explained, and often choose one neighborhood even though a better house might be available in another.

For this reason he suggested, "the planning of neighborhoods is more important than the design of the house."

Need for change in the approach to urban land utilization must be faced by zoning boards, "which don't give developers much room for innovation.

"There is no longer such a thing as low-cost housing," Diamond emphasized. "But there is low income housing."

This is most economically provided in multiple dwelling units, usually built by large private corporations.

COURTYARD HOUSES

"Some of the most exclusive housing in the world is found in the row housing of the Regency terraces of London and Bath, or the Scandinavian courtyard houses," he pointed out.

Still in Canada only a few townhouse developments lie between the two extremes of the single family house on the standard 60-foot lot and the high density of the apartment Canadian reluctance to accept row housing indicated the prejudice could be overcome by incorporating elements of the single family unit into multiple dwellings, at a density of 20 to 40 housing units per acre (a density between townhouses and apartments).

These features include:

- Fenced-off outdoor space.
- Private and separate access to the front door.
- Car space right next to the unit.
- Manual access (direct contact) to the ground for small children.
- A group play area within shouting distance of mother, and within easy surveillance.
- A real separation within the unit between living and sleeping quarters, either by general space use or a division into two floors.

Sound reduction between units, not because of intrusion of noise from the next apartment but because of concern about having to keep one's own family from disturbing neighbors.

Diamond also discussed economic problems in the building industry and suggested more efficient ways of financing home construction.

"The home buyer should be subsidized by bridging the gap between what he can afford to pay and what it costs to provide economic housing," he suggested.

"In other words, put the money in the hands of the buyer, in the form of rent tickets or whatever, instead of subsidizing the developers."

One source of revenue for housing funds, Diamond proposed, would be the $12 million in pension funds in Canada now invested at four per cent.

BETTER RETURN

These funds could get better return for the money and provide a large amount of capital where it is needed, he believes.

"The housing market should be made competitive. When shopping for a house the buyer should pay by the square foot rather than according to the number of rooms. It is space that costs money."

Diamond also proposed ownership of the house as a "shell" separated from the ownership of the lands. The cost of the shell alone would make home ownership possible for many who cannot afford the land as well.

He contended that housing standards set by the middle class were no longer practical, and that building codes should be changed to encourage more initiative on the part of developers, "who are not always to blame" for the inadequacy of many residential areas.

Housing projects have been built in Toronto and Edmonton incorporating many of Diamond's concepts.

Robert Leitch of Calgary was named new president of the institute, succeeding Jim Crawford of Ottawa.

The 4,000-member institute is a national, bilingual professional body for real estate appraisers.

Leitch, superintendent of the Calgary land department, has been a member of the institute since 1958 and has served on the national council since 1969.

MEDICAL GRANT FOR TRANSIENTS?

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver City medical health officer Dr. Gerald Bonham said he will be on the telephone to Ottawa again trying to get a decision out of the federal government on a city request for a $300,000 grant to provide medical aid for summer transients.

Dr. Bonham said he made a submission to the federal health and welfare department in January, but has yet to receive a definite response, even though the influx of summer transients now is under way.

"I've phoned Ottawa eight or nine times this month," he said, "and will try again, but they still won't give a flat yes or no."

Dr. Bonham said if last year's experience is any guide, the problems will get worse as the summer progresses.

"I heard a report the Vancouver General Hospital emergency ward is already treating 60 transients a day," he said.

"There are a lot of genuinely hungry kids whose state of nutrition is quite questionable."

Lack of nutrition is also serious for pregnant young girls and "the damage to infants can be serious," he said.

Another problem was hepatitis, mainly serum hepatitis from injecting drugs with dirty needles. He said venereal disease may also reach epidemic proportions this summer.

VBSGP

The original Italian sports car.

We put the same spirit into a little family car.

The original Italian sports car was a tough, sure-footed little vehicle.

Tough, because it was ruggedly built.

Sure-footed, because the horsepower pulled it instead of pushing it.

So in honour of our famous ancestors, Fiat introduces the new Fiat 128. With front wheel drive.

Of course, we've added our own touches to the tradition.

To do the pulling, we hooked up one of the most rugged 1,116 cc. engines ever made. The chief designer was Aurelio Lampredi, who designed engines for Ferrari when Ferrari was at the top of the Grand Prix circuit.

This little powerhouse accelerates fast, has lots of torque at low speeds, and can drive full out hour after hour. It's all in the design. Such things as a five-bearing crankshaft, overhead cam and Weber carburetor.

Then we added independent four-wheel suspension, based on the simple MacPherson strut principle plus anti-roll bar. This new suspension, combined with the front wheel drive, and rack-and-pinion steering, lets the new Fiat 128 take corners ten miles an hour faster than it ought to. And still tuck in and hold you steady right around.

Then we added front disc brakes, plus a proportioning valve to keep the rear wheels from locking and to give you more control when you have to brake fast. We also added radial tires as standard equipment.

For the people who ride in our little chariot, we built in more room, more sturdiness, and more comfort. In three body styles. Two door. Four door. And station wagon. The passenger and luggage space inside the new Fiat 128 represents 80% of the total space. All the engine and mechanical components are packed into only 20%.

And because it is so big inside, and the floor is flat throughout, the new Fiat 128 will hold four good-sized adults. Comfortably.

Finally the trunk is 13 cubic feet big. Because the differential and the spare tire are up front.

But it's still the spirit of that original Italian sports car that makes the new Fiat 128 the tough, sure-footed little vehicle it is to-day.

Just drive one and feel it for yourself.

And ask your dealer about the Fiat Overseas Delivery Plan.

The new Fiat 128

The little chariot with the Italian sports car spirit. From $1998.*

Pathfinder

Vancouver-based Pathfinder Resources Ltd. has ordered a second diamond drill to speed up an exploration project on its optioned Richmond County asbestos prospect in Quebec's Eastern Townships.

Ore grade asbestos has been intersected in 20 holes drilled, but core analysis has not been completed.

C & D Sugar

Canadian and Dominion Sugar Co. Ltd. consolidated income for the six months ended March 31 was $36.8 million compared with $34.76 million a year ago.

Net income was lower, at $1.67 million, or $1.08 a share, vs. $2.25 million ($1.46).

Working capital increased by $179,860 to $2.77 million.

Affiliated companies produced only $425,500 compared with more than $1 million last year, accounting for the decline in profit, the firm said.

Laronge

Laronge Mining Ltd., of Kamloops, has contracted a minimum 5,000 feet of diamond drilling to test its optioned 110-claim nickel prospect in the Wabowden Lake area of Manitoba.

Drilling is due to start June 1, weather permitting.

The company raised $62,250 through a rights offering to shareholders, which will be used with funds from the next stage of financing under negotiation to test Resting Lake nickel property.

Hogan

Four properties held by Hogan Mines Ltd. in B.C. will be explored in a program planned this year following option agreement with backers.

It is proposed to spend $21,000 on Anyox copper, $12,500 on Princeton copper-molybdenum, $7,000 on Peace River coal and, provided additional options are taken, $69,000 on Sukunka coal.

A balance of $56,500 would be left to add to working capital.

Bathurst

Bathurst Norsemines Ltd. reports diamond drilling has started in the 1971 field season on a silver-copper-lead zinc prospect 40 miles inland from Bathurst Inlet in the Northwest Territories. Operator of the project is Cominco Ltd., which is expected to spend $420,000 using two and possibly three rigs.

Between 20 and 30 men will work the site and do soil sampling and geophysical work besides drilling on the 858 claims over 60 square miles.

Wardair

Better than 25 per cent of the Canadians-based trans-Atlantic charter aircraft business last year was claimed by Wardair Canada Ltd., but even with a 26 per cent increase in revenue the airline lost $996,960 (31 cents a share).

The company said the trans-Atlantic charter trade grew from $47.7 million in 1967 to $50 million last year, of which Wardair did 27.3 per cent.

Revenue drew $16.44 million ($12.97 million), but flying operations cost $11.22 million ($7.5 million). In 1969 the line had a profit of $396,720 (12 cents a share).

Nithex

A $100,000 diamond drilling and geological mapping program on 72 claims near Fraser Lake is planned by Nithex Exploration and Development Ltd. with proceeds from its first public offering.

A substantial anomalous area has been outlined, with molybdenum indicated and targets located.

In the first stage of drilling, 5,000 feet is recommended this year, but a consultant estimates an additional $544,000 worth of drilling could be required to test the ground completely.

Westburne

Westburne International Industries Ltd. earned $2.84 million (98 cents a common share) during the year ended March 31.

The earnings, after preferred-share dividends, were up slightly from $2.72 million (98 cents) the previous year.

Westburne is a diversified company which had gross sales of $104.7 million during 1970.

Babcock

Babcock and Wilcox Co. of New York has acquired full ownership of Babcock and Wilcox Canada Ltd. of Galt with the purchase of outstanding shares from Babcock and Wilcox Ltd., London, England.

The United States firm held 58 per cent and the British firm 42 per cent. Purchase price was not divulged.

J. M. Douglas, president of the Canadian firm, said its business will continue to be operated as a subsidiary of the U.S. company.

Inland

Inland Natural Gas Co. plans a $10-million expansion program this year, with most of the expenditure going toward a 12-inch, 100-mile high pressure line in the southern interior of B.C.

Work on the $8-million project is to begin in July and some 250 men will be employed at peak construction periods.

The line, from Kingsvale, 15 miles south of Merritt, to Oliver provides an alternative feed for Inland's main transmission line through the Okanagan, and will reinforce gas supply to the Kootenays.

Chrysler Closing Coast Plant

DETROIT (AP) — A United Auto Workers Union vice-president has termed Chrysler Corp.'s decision to close its Los Angeles assembly plant "cruel and deplorable."

Douglas Fraser, director of the UAW's Chrysler Corp., division, said Monday the closing would affect about 2,000 Chrysler workers and their families.

Chrysler said it would close the assembly plant on the West Coast at the end of the present model year.

The auto-maker said it was being shutdown because changes in shipping new cars, make the operation uneconomical.

Chrysler said workers would be given a chance to go to other jobs with the automaker or would be helped finding other work in the Los Angeles area.

However, Fraser said: "It would mean not only the loss of jobs for many high-seniority employees but little liklihood of their finding other employment since the job situation in Los Angeles is not good."

The UAW official said he would ask Chrysler to reconsider the move.

Temporary-Help Industry Looks to More Business

TORONTO (CP) — Recent wage agreements with provisions for large severance-pay settlements can mean more business for the temporary-help industry.

This is the belief of William J. Coke, 45, president of the Canadian Institute of Temporary Help and Business Services, an association of 14 temporary-help agencies.

Mr. Coke, also vice-president and general manager of Manpower Services Ltd. of Toronto, a subsidiary of Manpower Inc. of Milwaukee, says Canadian companies may follow their European counterparts in relying more heavily on temporary staff.

Historically, he says, the temporary-help industry has been stimulated by more generous social-security benefits for fulltime staff, which result in higher costs for employers.

Mr. Coke says European employers, more often than Canadian employers, hire a minimum of permanent staff and rely upon the temporary-help industry to supply additional workers during peak periods.

REGULATES INDUSTRY

The institute, which he says acts as a regulatory body for the industry as well as a channel of communication with the government and the public, was formed two years ago.

It started in a boom period in 1969, when the temporary-help industry's sales were expanding at an annual rate of 25 per cent. Now, after a general cooling of the economy, the rate is down to about 10 per cent.

The industry last year filled an estimated 360,000 vacancies in Canada, ranging in length from a few days employment to several months. Temporary employees received about $55 million in wages.

Typical temporary jobs include office, clerical and labor positions. However, says Mr. Coke, there is an increasing demand for persons with engineering and computer operations skills.

Among problems of the industry, "it's a high-volume, lowprofit business," says Mr. Coke.

Companies derive their profits from a service charge to clients that provide a profit margin of about four per cent of gross sales before taxes.

Black Soldiers Blamed For Rash of Bombings

SEOUL (AP) — Black soldiers protesting racial discrimination are blamed for a rash of grenade explosions at a U.S. camp 35 miles south of Seoul. One American and three South Koreans have been injured in the blasts.

Five grenades exploded during the weekend at Camp Humphreys, and a military source said two more blasts occurred today. No arrests have been made.

The Seoul newspaper Hankook Ilbo said 10 Negro soldiers were responsible for the weekend explosions. Police sources said a box of 50 fragmentation grenades was stolen four hours before the first grenade exploded Saturday night.

The English-language Korea Times reported an American soldier disappeared after the explosions.

An army spokesman said some grenades were missing from the camp's ammunition storage.

REWARD OFFERED

Col. John C. McWhorter, commander of the 23rd General Support Group at the base, offered a $1,000 reward for information leading to the recovery of the stolen grenades. He also announced that any soldier who helped locate them would be returned immediately to the United States.

The American was injured when he opened a helicopter door and detonated a grenade placed as a booby trap. He was reported in satisfactory condition at hospital.

Officials said another explosion occurred in the camp's mess hall Saturday, but no one was hurt.

Last month about 100 black soldiers from Camp Humphrey forced their way into a South Korean bar catering to white servicemen, and eight white soldiers and 10 Korean waitresses were injured in the ensuing brawl.

About 150 Negro soldiers from units around Seoul demonstrated last Wednesday at the U.S. military headquarters in the South Korean capital protesting racial grievances. They complained of inadequate promotion opportunities, other racial inequality and that a large number of Negro soldiers were confined in the army stockade.

'Every U.S. Brigade Has Had Its My Lai'

FORT MEADE, Md. (AP) — Col. Oran K. Henderson, accused in the alleged coverup of the My Lai massacre, says: "Every brigade in Vietnam has had its My Lai—not of the same size and scope—but the brigade commander doesn't know."

Henderson, 50, also told reporters Monday during a break in an evidence hearing concerning his case that he also offered to take the blame for the My Lai incident but was turned down by the army.

Henderson, who commanded the 11th Infantry Brigade when one of its companies swept through My Lai, said he made the offer in a letter Dec. 10, 1969, to Gen. William C. Westmoreland, the army chief of staff.

When asked if Westmoreland answered the letter, Henderson said "It was a very blunt reply. 'I received your letter and don't plan taking any action.'"

He insists he received only "nebulous reports" from subordinate officers following the March, 1968, My Lai massacre. Henderson said Capt. Ernest Medina, commander of Charley Company which swept through My Lai, "admitted he lied to me in the field about the number of persons killed."

Henderson is accused of giving false information to a Pentagon inquiry board headed by Lt.-Gen. William R. Peers and of failing to investigate properly atrocity reports from My Lai.

Race Riots Engulf Air Base

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — More than 600 U.S. servicemen brawled at Travis Air Force Base Monday night in fighting which a base spokesman said grew out of a racial incident in a mess hall.

It was a third day of racial disorders at the northern California base, a major embarkation point for Southeast Asia. The base is about 45 miles northeast of San Francisco.

A civilian fireman at the base died Monday night fighting a blaze which partially destroyed a barracks for officers. Another fireman was in hospital with facial burns and, a base spokesman said, at least five men were treated at the base hospital for injuries received in the fights.

At least 100 military personnel were detained by military police, the spokesman said.

The brawling men were dispersed by 11 p.m. after 300 military security police, plus 78 men from the Solano and Napa county sheriff's offices and four area police departments converged on them in a "large show of force." The spokesman said no shots were fired and no tear gas used.

The base commander, Col. John Blake, sealed off the base to all visitors.

An air force spokesman said a fight broke out in a mess hall during the evening meal, with blacks and whites throwing salt and pepper shakers and other tableware.

It turned into an "all out melee" about 8 p.m., about the time the barracks fire broke out, the spokesman said.

NOW DISCOVER WHAT OLDS IS DOING FOR CLEANER AIR:

Every 1971 Oldsmobile fights air pollution in two ways.

1. Every Rocket engine — regardless of size and horsepower — is designed to run efficiently on the new low-lead, or no-lead or regular gasolines. Yet it still meets Oldsmobile's famous standards of performance!
2. Every Olds is equipped to control emissions by evaporation. A new sealed fuel system with evaporation controls now traps, stores and recycles gasoline and vapors — preventing them from entering the outside environment. It's another step by Olds to keep our air clean — and it's standard on every '71 Olds.

Let's Talk Real Estate by Jack Mears

Undoubtedly the most important step in the buying of a home is the "thinking stage." In this the whole family should participate, taking into account the needs of each member as to space requirements and facilities and the requirments of the family collectively. Obviously this involves choosing between alternatives since we can't have everything.

I would suggest that you sit down with a pencil and paper and make two lists. One of "Musts" and the other of things you would like, but can do without. It is very much a question of getting priorities right and by that I mean right for you, your family, and the mode of life you wish to live.

A "must for you is not necessarily a "must" for someone else." For example: A dining room may be a "must" for one family; for another, proximity to a school or shopping may be the prime consideration. It could be easy to add a dining room. It is impossible to add a school or shopping centre.

Remember you can alter a home by adding or subtracting from nearly any building. Location is immovable and cannot be altered other than by moving yourselves. If you are thinking of doing this call us for a friendly consultation. 598-3321.

It Was a Grand Parade!

. . . and a Fitting Start To Victorian Days

Tens of thousands lined Douglas Street Monday to watch the longest Victoria Day Parade ever, a 3½-hour moving tribute to British Columbia's 100th anniversary of entering Confederation.

Highlights of the colorful extravaganza included:

- The Port Angeles Derby Days float (top left), a category prize-winner.
- The City of Victoria float entry (top right), graced by Miss Victoria Susan Jones and her two princesses, Karen Patterson and Cheyl Clemens.
- The crisp, military step of veterans of Canadian fighting in two world wars, represented by members of the Royal Canadian Legion (left).
- The glitter of tinsel and pretty girls on the Chinese Benevolent Association entry (centre left).
- Canada's armed forces (lower left) from Canadian Forces Base Esquimalt, which led the parade.
- Hijinks and outrageous capers by clowns such as Don Hepburn (centre right), whose mauve-and-yellow Sunday suit and traditional greasepaint drew laughs from these young watchers.
- And Oak Bay's civic float entry (lower right) also displaying a pair of lovely lasses.

Victoria Day Arson Gangs Rove Montreal, Set 100 Fires

MONTREAL (CP) — Police and firemen played cat and mouse with roving arsonists in Montreal Monday night after an otherwise quiet Victoria Day had passed with a series of demonstrations in other parts of the province.

More than 250 specially-assigned policemen patrolled the southwest district of the city in attempts to round up gangs of youths who set about 100 small fires, mostly to sheds, cars and garbage stacks.

A police spokesman aid 12 persons were arrested, including eight juveniles. Several families were evacuated from their homes when fires were set in tenements.

Earlier in the evening, about 600 persons jammed into 100 cars to stage a noisy motorcade demonstration through the city's east end in opposition to construction of a cross-town expressway which will result in demolition of thousands of homes in low-income districts.

Police stood by but did not interfere as the parade of flags and banner-bearing cars moved through the streets before dispersing.

OPPOSE MONARCHY

French-Canadian nationalists, who annually use the May 24 holiday to demonstrate their support for an independent Quebec, gathered in other parts of the province to voice their opposition to the celebration of the Queen's birthday and what they called its symbolism of foreign domination in the province.

About 300 paraded in St. Eustache north of Montreal, scene of a battle between government forces and Quebec "patriotes" in the 1837 Lower Canada rebellion.

Many had made the 15-mile trip from here in a motorcade of about 60 cars decorated with the red, white and green colors of the 1837 rebels.

There was no interference by police standing by as the demonstrators marched through the Laurentian Mountains community carrying French-language placards bearing slogans such as "down with the English colonialists" and "Free Quebec."

In Quebec City, another 200 nationalists staged a noisy but peaceful march from the Chateau Frontenac hotel to the Joan of Arc monument on the Plains of Abraham which organizers said symbolized the "complex of the vanquished in September, 1759.

Both demonstrations contrasted with Victoria day protests in Montreal in 1964 and 1965 that resulted in rioting, arrests and injuries.

B.C. French Group Undergoes Facelift

VANCOUVER (CP) — The organization that represents French-speaking British Columbians underwent a rebirth on the weekend with professional help and the federal government paying the maternity fees.

At the end of three days of discussions, even the name of the organization was changed—the French-Canadian Federation of B.C.—became la Federation des Franco-Colombiens.

Two goals remained unchanged: the federation adopted a resolution calling for the rights of French-speaking citizens to have their children educated in French within the framework of existing provincial laws and another supported a petition for early introduction of French network television.

To the federation, education in French means teaching any or all subjects in French rather than the teaching of French as a "foreign" language.

The television petition is addressed to the Canadian Broadcasting Corp., but the resolution also called for appointment of a standing committee on communications that would search for possibilities of providing French-language television independently and soon, possibly by cable.

The costs of the meeting were paid out of part of federal grants reported to the 55 delegates to total $72,300.

The expenditure was part of the secretary of state's department effort to help French-speaking minority groups in predominantly English-speaking provinces and English-speaking groups in Quebec to assert their identities.

The federation re-elected Roger Albert, 25, of Maillardville to a two-year term as president. A Douglas College student, he sells his own paintings and mans a service station on weekends.

As a step toward welcoming French speakers of any religion to membership, the federation dropped from among its objectives advancement of religious interests of its members.

At the same time, the federation continues to represent French-speaking or bilingual Caholic parishes and parish organizations and it chose a priest, Rev. Nestor Therrien, of New Westminster, as vice-president. It also represents credit unions; youth, cultural and recreational groups, including local units stretching from Victoria to Dawson Creek.

They group about 5,000 French-speaking British Columbians, said Romeo Paquette, secretary-general of the federation, which is now headquartered at Mallardville, a community near Vancouver heavily populated with French-Canadians.

Doctor Incomes

CALGARY (CP) — Net incomes for doctors in the $30,000-a-year range are justified because of long hours and a short and hectic career, says Dr. W. A. Robb, a city specialist in urology.

The former president of the Calgary and District Medical Society said doctors' earnings should also take into account long and difficult traning and the diligence and ability of the practitioner.

Addressing a city club Tuesday, Dr. Robb told members income figures for doctors published by several provincial governments were wrong.

Air Crash Tire Theory Disputed

From AP-REUTER

RIJEKA, Yugoslavia (CP) — A Yugoslav airline disputed today an investigation commission's suggestion a tire blowout might have caused the crash of an airliner Sunday in which 78 persons were killed.

The commission sai dthe blowout on one of the right landing wheels of the Soviet-built TU-134 was followed by the right wing breaking off. The plane slewed 180 degrees around, turned over and caught fire.

Miroslav Vasic, chief maintenance man for the Aviogenex airliner, said the plane had two wheels on each side and a blowout on one "would not result in such a disaster." He said a blowout also would not have caused the wing to break off.

"The true causes of the disaster have not been detected," he said.

The dead included 72 British tourists coming to the Adriatic for a two-week holiday, a family of three Yugoslavs and three Yugoslav stewardesses. The Yugoslav tour director and four members of the crew survived.

Captain Milos Markivevic, the plane's pilot, said he ran into a blinding rainstorm just before touchdown.

He said the rain obliterated the runway as he made his approach. He told a Belgrade newspaper that "a strong gust of wind lifted the plane and I lost control over it."

OPPOSE MONARCHY

French-Canadian nationalists, who annually use the May 24 holiday to demonstrate their support for an independent Quebec, gathered in other parts of the province to voice their opposition to the celebration of the Queen's birthday and what they called its symbolism of foreign domination in the province.

About 300 paraded in St. Eustache north of Montreal, scene of a battle between government forces and Quebec "patriotes" in the 1837 Lower Canada rebellion.

Many had made the 15-mile trip from here in a motorcade of about 60 cars decorated with the red, white and green colors of the 1837 rebels.

There was no interference by police standing by as the demonstrators marched through the Laurentian Mountains community carrying French-language placards bearing slogans such as "down with the English colonialists" and "Free Quebec."

In Quebec City, another 200 nationalists staged a noisy but peaceful march from the Chateau Frontenac hotel to the Joan of Arc monument on the Plains of Abraham which organizers said symbolized the "complex of the vanquished in September, 1759.

Both demonstrations contrasted with Victoria day protests in Montreal in 1964 and 1965 that resulted in rioting, arrests and injuries.

B.C. French Group Undergoes Facelift

VANCOUVER (CP) — The organization that represents French-speaking British Columbians underwent a rebirth on the weekend with professional help and the federal government paying the maternity fees.

At the end of three days of discussions, even the name of the organization was changed—the French-Canadian Federation of B.C.—became la Federation des Franco-Colombiens.

Two goals remained unchanged: the federation adopted a resolution calling for the rights of French-speaking citizens to have their children educated in French within the framework of existing provincial laws and another supported a petition for early introduction of French network television.

To the federation, education in French means teaching any or all subjects in French rather than the teaching of French as a "foreign" language.

The television petition is addressed to the Canadian Broadcasting Corp., but the resolution also called for appointment of a standing committee on communications that would search for possibilities of providing French-language television independently and soon, possibly by cable.

The costs of the meeting were paid out of part of federal grants reported to the 55 delegates to total $72,300.

The expenditure was part of the secretary of state's department effort to help French-speaking minority groups in predominantly English-speaking provinces and English-speaking groups in Quebec to assert their identities.

The federation re-elected Roger Albert, 25, of Maillardville to a two-year term as president. A Douglas College student, he sells his own paintings and mans a service station on weekends.

As a step toward welcoming French speakers of any religion to membership, the federation dropped from among its objectives advancement of religious interests of its members.

At the same time, the federation continues to represent French-speaking or bilingual Caholic parishes and parish organizations and it chose a priest, Rev. Nestor Therrien, of New Westminster, as vice-president. It also represents credit unions; youth, cultural and recreational groups, including local units stretching from Victoria to Dawson Creek.

They group about 5,000 French-speaking British Columbians, said Romeo Paquette, secretary-general of the federation, which is now headquartered at Mallardville, a community near Vancouver heavily populated with French-Canadians.

Doctor Incomes

CALGARY (CP) — Net incomes for doctors in the $30,000-a-year range are justified because of long hours and a short and hectic career, says Dr. W. A. Robb, a city specialist in urology.

The former president of the Calgary and District Medical Society said doctors' earnings should also take into account long and difficult traning and the diligence and ability of the practitioner.

Addressing a city club Tuesday, Dr. Robb told members income figures for doctors published by several provincial governments were wrong.

Air Crash Tire Theory Disputed

From AP-REUTER

RIJEKA, Yugoslavia (CP) — A Yugoslav airline disputed today an investigation commission's suggestion a tire blowout might have caused the crash of an airliner Sunday in which 78 persons were killed.

The commission sai dthe blowout on one of the right landing wheels of the Soviet-built TU-134 was followed by the right wing breaking off. The plane slewed 180 degrees around, turned over and caught fire.

Miroslav Vasic, chief maintenance man for the Aviogenex airliner, said the plane had two wheels on each side and a blowout on one "would not result in such a disaster." He said a blowout also would not have caused the wing to break off.

"The true causes of the disaster have not been detected," he said.

The dead included 72 British tourists coming to the Adriatic for a two-week holiday, a family of three Yugoslavs and three Yugoslav stewardesses. The Yugoslav tour director and four members of the crew survived.

Captain Milos Markivevic, the plane's pilot, said he ran into a blinding rainstorm just before touchdown.

He said the rain obliterated the runway as he made his approach. He told a Belgrade newspaper that "a strong gust of wind lifted the plane and I lost control over it."

Soviet Policy Problems Need Quick Solutions

By CHRIS CATLIN

MOSCOW (Reuter) — Despite some success in the last year in developing better relations with Western Europe, Soviet policy-makers still face a variety of problems that need solutions in the near future.

As Soviet Communist party Chief Leonid Brezhnev suggested in his report to the Soviet Communist party congress last month, there is growing impatience in the Kremlin that the non-aggression treaty reached last year with West Germany still is unratified.

Equally undisguised is Soviet anxiety about the prospect of an expanded Common Market, a subject which may well complicate Moscow's otherwise untroubled relations with France.

Yet another Soviet preoccupation, the proposal by Warsaw pact countries of East Europe for an all-Europeann security conference, continues to receive wide publicity here. But there are signs that failure so far to achieve anything more than a favorable initial response for some Western countries has qualified its once ambitious hopes.

The central problem in Soviet European policy, to which all others are directly or indirectly connected, is that of divided Berlin. For Moscow, its solution is imperative for political success in Europe. At the same time it is bedevilled by conflicting considerations.

DEPENDS ON TALKS

West Germany has made its ratification of the Bonn-Moscow treaty dependent on the outcome of the talks between the Soviet Union, Britain, France and the United States.

Should they not reach a satisfactory settlement on West Berlin's status and access to it from West Germany, no seal can be set on the pact, it says.

NATO has set the same condition on its readiness to begin preparations for an all-European security and co-operation conference. The West wants Canada and the United States represented at any such conference.

The Soviet bargaining position is limited by the need to keep the interests of East Germany in mind. Access routes to West Berlin from West Germany cross 110 miles of East German territory, and the Soviet Union's Communist ally is evidently displeased that it plays no direct part in the discussions.

Observers see little likelihood of a change in East Berlin's position following Walter Ulbricht's replacement this month by Erich Honecker as East German party leader. Some diplomatic sources even suggest Honecker's stand could be even tougher than Ulbricht's.

PROPOSALS LEAK

A deliberate leak of Soviet proposals on Berlin hinted that Moscow was prepared to let East Germany negotiate access responsibilities directly with West Berlin and West Germany.

But French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann, in talks here at the beginning of May, specifically made the point that East Germany should not alone be responsible for access routes. They should also come under the wing of a big power with worldwide interests to consider, he said.

Observers here also believe the Kremlin's original idea of advocating the all-European conference—to repair a Soviet image badly damaged by the invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968—has since undergone rethinking following moves toward expanding the six-nation European Common Market.

Referring to the conference in his speech to the party congress last month, Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin raised several possible topics it might discuss to expand East-West economic co-operation.

Observers believe such proposals are an attempt to establish new economic ties with Western Europe outside the authority of the Common Market.

The Soviet Union has voiced several complaints about the Community's policy toward Eastern Europe. It is aware that the Market's commission intends to ban bilateral trade agreements between its members and countries such as Russia, which do not recognize the Community.

Three-Month-Wait for Market?

LONDON (AP) — Government agreement on Common Market entry terms in a month; parliamentary approval within three. That's the possible course for Europe which Prime Minister Edward Heath's administration is reported to have charted for Britain.

Political insiders are saying that Heath's summit meeting last week with President Georges Pompidou of France was so successful that parliamentarians may be asked to make their momentous decision on whether Britain joins the Common Market before they recess for the summer vacations.

Everything depends on detailed negotiations on entry terms with the six Market states. Although Heath and Pompidou reached broad agreement on the future shape of Europe, several problems remain to be thrashed out.

They are, principally:

—How much Britain will pay into the community budget.

—What safeguards there will be to protect New Zealand's vital dairy industry.

—What restrictions will exist to prevent over-fishing of territorial waters.

Heath told the House of Commons Monday that he emphasized to President Pompidou the importance of reaching satisfactory arrangements over New Zealand and the difficulties posed to Britain's fishermen by the Market's "free fishing" regulations.

He disclosed: "The president and I both felt able to say after our talks that we were confident that the main issues could be settled before the end of June."

Sources close to government thinking said the optimism of Heath and his cabinet was such that they saw a remote possibility of entry terms being reached in Luxembourg June 7. That would leave British Common Market ministerial meetings arranged for June 22 largely a formality.

Despite its high hopes, however, the government is gearing itself to agreement with the six at the end of June.

Burning Rectal Itch Relieved In Minutes

This Special Hemorrhoid Remedy Contains A Unique Healing Substance That Relieves Pain As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "Itching Piles." It is most embarrassing for the sufferer during the day and especially aggravating at night.

If you want satisfactory relief—here's good news. A renowned research laboratory has found a unique healing substance with the ability to promptly relieve the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids. This substance has been shown to produce a most effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported. This improvement was maintained in cases where clinical observations were continued over a period of many months. Furthermore, these tests and observations were made on patients with a wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions.

All this was accomplished by a healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—developed by a world-renowned research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

THE WEATHER

Skies cleared over the northern half of the province Monday night and temperatures overnight were record low minimums at Prince Rupert and Terrace. In contrast the southern half of the province was cloudy and rain was reported at many stations. Because of the cloud and rain minimums were near the highest on record for late May. The same general conditions will persist today with sunny periods in the north and showers in the south. A ridge of high pressure building in the Gulf of Alaska will move eastward in the next few days beinging a clearing trend on Wednesday. Temperatures today and Wednesday will be below the long time averages for late May.

Capsule Found

WHITECOURT, Alta. (CP) — A canister containing a deadly radioactive capsule which was taken from a truck last February was recovered Monday, police reported.

Police said there was no indication of any leak of radioactivity.

The 50-pound lead canister was found by a fisherman who was walking along a road on the northern outskirts of Whitecourt, 100 miles northwest of Edmonton. The man, John Archinuk, notified police.

The capsule was owned by Century Geophysical Corp. of Canada and valued at $3,000.

Shops Destroyed

EDMONTON (CP) — An explosion and fire destroyed part of the Rosslyn Shopping Centre in North Edmonton early Monday.

Police said the explosion was caused by paint fumes which leaked from a store into a poolroom. The fire started after the explosion and firemen worked for four hours before it was put out.

Damage to the shopping centre was estimated at $174,000.

$5,690 Awarded

CALGARY (CP) — Sunnyside Greenhouses Ltd. was awarded $5,690 in Alberta Supreme court after windows in the company's greenhouses turned brown and blocked the sunlight.

The settlement against Golden West Seeds Ltd. was to recover part of the cost of the glass-substitute panels and the cost of replacing the faulty panels.

The poly-vinyl chloride sheets were purchased in 1966 to cover 19 greenhouses but by 1969 had become virtually opaque.

Forces Want Northerners

OTTAWA (CP) — The defence department has started a campaign to recruit more northern Canadians for Canadian Forces careers.

A department statement today says recruiters will visit Arctic communities during the next month in attempts to enlist about 100 men and women.

The objective is to enrol persons with particular knowledge of the north.

Establishment of a northern region headquarters at Yellowknife, N.W.T., and increased defence activity in the Arctic has created the need for the northern recruits.

Recruiters will visit Yellowknife, Inuvik, Whitehorse, Hay River, Fort Smith, Churchill and Frobisher Bay starting in late May. Basic training will be at Cornwallis, N.S.

Soviet Policy Problems Need Quick Solutions

By CHRIS CATLIN

MOSCOW (Reuter) — Despite some success in the last year in developing better relations with Western Europe, Soviet policy-makers still face a variety of problems that need solutions in the near future.

As Soviet Communist party Chief Leonid Brezhnev suggested in his report to the Soviet Communist party congress last month, there is growing impatience in the Kremlin that the non-aggression treaty reached last year with West Germany still is unratified.

Equally undisguised is Soviet anxiety about the prospect of an expanded Common Market, a subject which may well complicate Moscow's otherwise untroubled relations with France.

Yet another Soviet preoccupation, the proposal by Warsaw pact countries of East Europe for an all-Europeann security conference, continues to receive wide publicity here. But there are signs that failure so far to achieve anything more than a favorable initial response for some Western countries has qualified its once ambitious hopes.

The central problem in Soviet European policy, to which all others are directly or indirectly connected, is that of divided Berlin. For Moscow, its solution is imperative for political success in Europe. At the same time it is bedevilled by conflicting considerations.

DEPENDS ON TALKS

West Germany has made its ratification of the Bonn-Moscow treaty dependent on the outcome of the talks between the Soviet Union, Britain, France and the United States.

Should they not reach a satisfactory settlement on West Berlin's status and access to it from West Germany, no seal can be set on the pact, it says.

NATO has set the same condition on its readiness to begin preparations for an all-European security and co-operation conference. The West wants Canada and the United States represented at any such conference.

The Soviet bargaining position is limited by the need to keep the interests of East Germany in mind. Access routes to West Berlin from West Germany cross 110 miles of East German territory, and the Soviet Union's Communist ally is evidently displeased that it plays no direct part in the discussions.

Observers see little likelihood of a change in East Berlin's position following Walter Ulbricht's replacement this month by Erich Honecker as East German party leader. Some diplomatic sources even suggest Honecker's stand could be even tougher than Ulbricht's.

PROPOSALS LEAK

A deliberate leak of Soviet proposals on Berlin hinted that Moscow was prepared to let East Germany negotiate access responsibilities directly with West Berlin and West Germany.

But French Foreign Minister Maurice Schumann, in talks here at the beginning of May, specifically made the point that East Germany should not alone be responsible for access routes. They should also come under the wing of a big power with worldwide interests to consider, he said.

Observers here also believe the Kremlin's original idea of advocating the all-European conference—to repair a Soviet image badly damaged by the invasion of Czechoslovakia in 1968—has since undergone rethinking following moves toward expanding the six-nation European Common Market.

Referring to the conference in his speech to the party congress last month, Soviet Premier Alexei Kosygin raised several possible topics it might discuss to expand East-West economic co-operation.

Observers believe such proposals are an attempt to establish new economic ties with Western Europe outside the authority of the Common Market.

The Soviet Union has voiced several complaints about the Community's policy toward Eastern Europe. It is aware that the Market's commission intends to ban bilateral trade agreements between its members and countries such as Russia, which do not recognize the Community.

Three-Month Wait for Market?

LONDON (AP) — Government agreement on Common Market entry terms in a month; parliamentary approval within three. That's the possible course for Europe which Prime Minister Edward Heath's administration is reported to have charted for Britain.

Political insiders are saying that Heath's summit meeting last week with President Georges Pompidou of France was so successful that parliamentarians may be asked to make their momentous decision on whether Britain joins the Common Market before they recess for the summer vacations.

Everything depends on detailed negotiations on entry terms with the six Market states. Although Heath and Pompidou reached broad agreement on the future shape of Europe, several problems remain to be thrashed out.

They are, principally:

—How much Britain will pay into the community budget.

—What safeguards there will be to protect New Zealand's vital dairy industry.

—What restrictions will exist to prevent over-fishing of territorial waters.

Heath told the House of Commons Monday that he emphasized to President Pompidou the importance of reaching satisfactory arrangements over New Zealand and the difficulties posed to Britain's fishermen by the Market's "free fishing" regulations.

He disclosed: "The president and I both felt able to say after our talks that we were confident that the main issues could be settled before the end of June."

Sources close to government thinking said the optimism of Heath and his cabinet was such that they saw a remote possibility of entry terms being reached in Luxembourg June 7. That would leave British Common Market ministerial meetings arranged for June 22 largely a formality.

Despite its high hopes, however, the government is gearing itself to agreement with the six at the end of June.

Burning Rectal Itch Relieved In Minutes

This Special Hemorrhoid Remedy Contains A Unique Healing Substance That Relieves Pain As It Shrinks Hemorrhoids

One of the most common afflictions is a condition known as "Itching Piles." It is most embarrassing for the sufferer during the day and especially aggravating at night.

If you want satisfactory relief—here's good news. A renowned research laboratory has found a unique healing substance with the ability to promptly relieve the burning itch and pain. It actually shrinks hemorrhoids. This substance has been shown to produce a most effective rate of healing. Its germ-killing properties also help prevent infection.

In one hemorrhoid case after another "very striking improvement" was reported. This improvement was maintained in cases where clinical observations were continued over a period of many months. Furthermore, these tests and observations were made on patients with a wide variety of hemorrhoidal conditions.

All this was accomplished by a healing substance (Bio-Dyne)—developed by a world-renowned research institution. This substance is now obtainable in ointment or suppository form known as Preparation H. Ask for Preparation H Suppositories (convenient to carry if away from home) or Preparation H Ointment with special applicator. Available at all drug counters. Satisfaction or your money refunded.

A novice woman gardener purchased some seeds at a nursery and as she was leaving, she spied a farmer walking down the street. Looking for some free gardening advice, she strolled up to him and asked, "Sir, can you tell me what would be good to plant in a spot that gets very little rain due to overhanging eaves, has too much late afternoon sun, has clay soil and is on a rocky edge?"

"Well, lady," mused the farmer, "how about a nice flagpole?"

THE WEATHER

Skies cleared over the northern half of the province Monday night and temperatures overnight were record low minimums at Prince Rupert and Terrace. In contrast the southern half of the province was cloudy and rain was reported at many stations. Because of the cloud and rain minimums were near the highest on record for late May. The same general conditions will persist today with sunny periods in the north and showers in the south. A ridge of high pressure building in the Gulf of Alaska will move eastward in the next few days beinging a clearing trend on Wednesday. Temperatures today and Wednesday will be below the long time averages for late May.

Capsule Found

WHITECOURT, Alta. (CP) — A canister containing a deadly radioactive capsule which was taken from a truck last February was recovered Monday, police reported.

Police said there was no indication of any leak of radioactivity.

The 50-pound lead canister was found by a fisherman who was walking along a road on the northern outskirts of Whitecourt, 100 miles northwest of Edmonton. The man, John Archinuk, notified police.

The capsule was owned by Century Geophysical Corp. of Canada and valued at $3,000.

Shops Destroyed

EDMONTON (CP) — An explosion and fire destroyed part of the Rosslyn Shopping Centre in North Edmonton early Monday.

Police said the explosion was caused by paint fumes which leaked from a store into a poolroom. The fire started after the explosion and firemen worked for four hours before it was put out.

Damage to the shopping centre was estimated at $174,000.

$5,690 Awarded

CALGARY (CP) — Sunnyside Greenhouses Ltd. was awarded $5,690 in Alberta Supreme court after windows in the company's greenhouses turned brown and blocked the sunlight.

The settlement against Golden West Seeds Ltd. was to recover part of the cost of the glass-substitute panels and the cost of replacing the faulty panels.

The poly-vinyl chloride sheets were purchased in 1966 to cover 19 greenhouses but by 1969 had become virtually opaque.

Forces Want Northerners

OTTAWA (CP) — The defence department has started a campaign to recruit more northern Canadians for Canadian Forces careers.

A department statement today says recruiters will visit Arctic communities during the next month in attempts to enlist about 100 men and women.

The objective is to enrol persons with particular knowledge of the north.

Establishment of a northern region headquarters at Yellowknife, N.W.T., and increased defence activity in the Arctic has created the need for the northern recruits.

Recruiters will visit Yellowknife, Inuvik, Whitehorse, Hay River, Fort Smith, Churchill and Frobisher Bay starting in late May. Basic training will be at Cornwallis, N.S.

Swiftsure Flotilla Largest on Record

The largest Swiftsure armada on record is due to get the start gun off Brotchie Ledge Saturday with about 193 entries having been received at cutoff time today.

This is 25 boats more than the 1970 flotillas that raced in the annual Swiftsure and Juan de Fuca classics.

Swiftsure fever began surfacing this weekend as yachts with out-of-town burgees began gathering at local marinas in preparation.

●

Many old-time contestants will be back to try again. John Long's Mary Bower and Henry Kotkins' Diamond Head, which gave spectators a thrill of a lifetime by finishing bow and bow in a previous Swiftsure, will be here.

Such well-known boats as Maui veteran Bill Killam's Porpoise III, Joseph Williams Norwester and Bruce Henrick's Six Pack will be among the colorful contingent that will tie up in the Inner Harbor within the next few days.

There'll be many new boats — some with names resenbling the ingredients of a fruit salad — Peaches, Banana and Rhubrab — to swell the entry list.

Mary Bower, Diamond Head Back to Try This Year

The 1970 Swiftsure star, George O'Brien's Endless Summer will not be here to repeat her trophy-swooping performance. The former Australian 12-metre Dame Pattie is too busy in Vancouver, being used as the base for Canada's proposed entry into the next Amrica's Cup competition.

●

In keeping with B.C.'s centennial celebrations, the SS Beaver will be used as the committee boat for the start.

The larger Swiftsure boats will get their start gun at 9:30 a.m. for the race which will take them 136.2 miles out to the site of the former Swiftsure Light and back.

Fifteen minutes later will be the start of the Juan de Fuca sailout which will have the smaller boats racing 75½ miles to Clallam Bay and back.

Two new Spencer 51s from the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club are expected to provide some pretty stiff competition in the Swiftsure race. They are Grant Brandlmayr's Coho and Art Way's Andante II.

●

Not to be overlooked, either, is Bonar Davis' Hyak of the same club. She won herself top-place honors in the recent Strait of Georgia testing.

She's designed by Vancouver marine architect Peter Hatfield, who also designed another Swiftsure winner, Per Christoffersen's Terna, who will be back for another try.

Swiftsure fever will reach a pitch Friday evening at pre-race festivities in the Inner Harbor.

Burgees and pennants flying, competing boats will be given salutes in the roll call which has become a tradition in the festivities.

Adding another touch of marine flavor will be a sunset ceremony by the guard and band of the Rainbow Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps.

WHITBREAD BRUSHES ASIDE VIEW ROYAL PROTESTERS

A condominium row housing development in View Royal meets sewage disposal requirements "and as far as I am concerned this will work," senior medical health officer Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread said today.

He was commenting on a petition by 66 View Royal residents who say they are opposed to further construction or the development until certain questions are answered.

The development, Village Grove, is already under way by Bruce Cooke Building and Construction Co. Ltd. Thirty-eight one and two-bedroom units are to be built just behind View Royal fire hall.

The petitioners, who have directed their questions to Whitbread and to the Capital Regional District board, ask:

● What assurance is made that waste water disposal will function properly over an extended period of time?

● If the disposal system malfunctions, who is responsible?

● Why was the permit approved by the health department when the department later asked the regional board to stop issuing building permits in View Royal because of health hazards caused by sewage disposal?

"We are not in a position to curtail building, we approve systems that come up to the requirements," said Whitbread.

"The regional board is the only group that can prevent building, like Central Saanich did in certain areas."

He said View Royal, an unincorporated area, should organize itself as a municipality and "then it can prevent this, that and the other thing." He also said View Royal residents should have approved sewers when they voted two or three years ago.

Bill Gerry, the regional district's director of engineering, was not available for comment this morning.

GAGLARDI REMARKS BLASTED

Rest Homes Protest to Bennett

The B.C. Rest Home Association dispatched a special delivery letter to Premier Bennett today condemning statements made by Rehabilitation Minister Gaglardi Friday.

Victoria rest home operator John Hanrahan said earlier he would sue Gaglardi for suggesting he was not fit to run a business.

Rest home operators, particularly many in the Victoria area, have been feuding with the provincial government for months over the grant paid them to take care of guests on welfare.

Last week 48 of them decided to turn in their provincial licences and switch to guest home status and in a phone interview from Kamloops Friday Gaglardi said:

"It's good to have these people come out from under the rocks and show the kind of people they really are."

Of Hanrahan he said: "Take Hanrahan, for instance. He hasn't one social assistance case in his home (Beacon Hill Villa). The Hanrahans don't belong in this type of business at all."

The letter to Bennett today says the association executive abhors the personal attack on Hanrahan and his family.

"We would point out in no uncertain terms to the minister that Mr. Hanrahan was unanimously elected as spokesman for the association and is firmly voicing the decisions of this group.

"We further state that Mr. Hanrahan will have the 100 per cent backing of the association in any action he deems to be necessary to protect himself and his family from this and any further verbal abuse."

Hanrahan said today another four or five licences from rest home operators at Port Alberni, Nanaimo and Duncan have been forwarded to the association, to be returned to the government.

NO EVICTIONS

The rest home operators are now paid $5 to about $5.50 a day by the province to care for welfare cases and they say they cannot provide the necessary service for this rate.

The Victoria branch of the association last week discarded the idea of mass eviction of welfare guests. They had threatened to deliver such cases to the nearest general hospital en masse.

As operators of guest homes rather than rest homes they argue their clients will be in the same position as guests at a hotel. If they can't pay they will have to leave and become the responsibility of either the municipality or the province.

Hanrahan said rest home operators in Toronto are currently engaged in a similar dispute with the Ontario government. Operators there are now paid $10.50 a day and have threatened eviction of welfare cases if this allowance isn't increased to $16.50.

French Student Wins Top Prize

The winner of the Governor-General's Medal for 1971 at the University of Victoria is Ralph William Sarkonak, 2612 Blackwood Street, Victoria.

The medal is awarded to the student graduating in arts or science with the highest grade point average.

Sarkonak, a student in honors French, has been a consistent scholarship and prize winner throughout his undergraduate years.

Nels Granewall, secretary to the senate committee on awards, who announced the 1971 prize winners today, said, "He is tops, outstanding. There was no question about it. Sarkonak was a clear-cut winner."

Sarkonak won a $500 president's scholarship to Uvic on graduation from Victoria Senior Secondary. He was a winner of the Adeline Julienne Deloume scholarship for three consecutive years.

Sarkonak is one of the graduating students who have asked to have president Bruce J. Partridge's signature left off their degrees.

The Maxwell Cameron silver medal and prize awarded to two students completing the final year in the bachelor of education course, one specializing in elementary and one in secondary, with first class honors in practice teaching, have been awarded to Sister Trudy-Anne Richardson, 2494 Arbutus Road, and Kathrine Antonia Golobic, RR 2, Nanaimo.

Pat Bay Highway Crash Sends Five to Hospital

Five persons are in hospital today following a grinding two-car collision at 8:35 a.m. on the Patricia Bay Highway near Island View Road in Central Saanich.

Injured are Mr. and Mrs. James Bigsby of 1812 W. 36th Ave. in Vancouver, their three-year-old son David, an 18-year-old girl Margot Taylor, address unavailable, and Thomas A. Quinnett, of 2370 Brethour in Sidney.

All are reported in either fair or good condition. Central Saanich police said today a car driven by James Bigsby, 28, was travelling north on the highway when it collided with another car driven by Quinnett.

Bigsby's car spun sideways then fell on its side, police said. Both Bigsby's and Quinnett's car were total losses.

James Bigsby and his son David, three, were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. Both were operated upon this morning for head injuries, and are reported to be in fair condition.

Mrs. Bigsby and Miss Taylor were taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital. Both suffered facial lacerations, and Mrs. Bigsby also sustained a knee injury. Both are reported in good condition.

Quinnett was taken to Rest Haven Hosptial in Sidney with a broken arm. Police said he is in satisfactory condition.

Quinnett was the only passenger in his car.

Police said the accident occurred a few hundred yards north of Island View road. Attending the accident were two Central Saanich ambulances, one Sidney ambulance, Central Saanich and Saanich police and RCMP.

A St. Joseph's Hospital spokesman said the Bigsby's are originally from Victoria. James Bigsby is a student at Simon Fraser University in Burnaby, the spokesman said.

Weekenders Get Trapped In Huge Traffic Snarls

Rain washed out the latter hours of the holiday weekend but sunshine is on the way briefly.

The weather office forecasts continued clearing Wednesday for Greater Victoria and at least some sunny intervals Thursday. But there's a hint of more clouds and rain coming after that.

While holiday travellers in the interior sometimes found themselves in monster traffic jams Monday, B.C. ferries said today only one extra ferry at 11 p.m. was needed to clean up traffic at the Swartz Bay terminal Monday night.

During the afternoon some travellers had to wait two hours and a few three hours to get aboard for the mainland. The same situation prevailed at Nanaimo. Traffic from the Tsawwassen terminal was reported as light.

Traffic backed up 13 miles at Hope Monday afternoon towards Princeton and north of Hope the line extended for nearly 10 miles on the Trans-Canada Highway. It was just a matter of too many vehicles. There were no traffic accidents.

Vacationers returning from the Sunshine Coast area were delayed as much as five hours.

Two minor accidents on the Port Mann bridge tied up traffic for three-quarters of an hour Monday evening. Heavy traffic through the Deas tunnel continued until early today.

The traffic branch of the Colwood RCMP detachment said today that while traffic on the Malahat was heavy Monday it kept moving. There were no major accidents.

BOUNCE BY ROSE PRECEDES RHUBARB

Double-play attempt by Philadelphia shortstop Larry Bowa ended in tumble and ball rolls away after Bowa was bounced by Cincinnati outfielder Pete Rose in first inning of National League game Sunday at Philadelphia. Rose was called out and rhubarb that followed play halted game briefly before Reds went on to nip Phillies 4-3. (See major league story on this page. Scores are on Page 19.)

United Play Was Right But Bounce All Wrong

Victorians Eliminated By Croatia Squad, 1-0

By DOUG PEDEN

Howie Anderson made an excellent play, but the bounce went in favor of Vancouver Croatia Monday afternoon at Royal Athletic Park and a season of often-brilliant labor in the Pacific Soccer League ended abruptly for Victoria United.

Once leading the league by a handsome margin before running into trouble in the closing stages of the regular season to finish second to Vancouver Columbus, United went down to an unfortunate 1-0 defeat before 579 fans Monday when a pair of defenders combined to put the ball in the Victoria net.

The crusher for United arrived in the 16th minute on the rain-slicked Athletic Park turf on a play from a Croatia corner kick. Vancouver's John Dias and Victoria gaolie Barry Sadler both went after the ball curving in front of the goal.

Dias got to it first and lobbed a header over the rushing Sadler towards the left side of the Victoria net. Right-back Anderson made the play according to the book on good soccer and all appeared well as he moved into position behind Sadler.

Then the disaster struck the men of coach Frank Grealy.

Anderson's booming kick for an attempted clearance struck clubmate Jim Irvine, who was charging goalward to help cover up, and bounced into the United net.

That was all Croatia needed as the visitors assembled a robust, tightly-packed defence in front of goalie Tony Churski and protected the slender margin the rest of the way.

Often Dangerous, Seldom Gentle . . .

With Vancouver referee Walter Calli neglecting to call several minor infractions in the opening stages and Croatia players electing to play a bruising style of game with a bit of holding, United appeared to be upset at the start.

With often dangerous, seldom gentle John Haar leading the attack, the Mainlanders had a margin in play in early exchanges.

Following the goal credited to Dias, the Victorias settled down and held a territorial advantage the rest of the way, but couldn't crack the defensive shell set up by Croatia, although coming close on a few occasions.

Sadler, who had made a fine leaping save against Doug Scorse at 26 minutes, had to be alert in the opening stages of the second half. He moved quickly to rush John Connor away from a good shot on a breakthrough 30 seconds after the intermission and he pulled a diving save against Haar five minutes later.

Churski also had his moments of trouble, although tested less severely over the distance than was Sadler.

However, his greatest test came in the closing minutes when he made a diving stop of a low cross by Dan Lomas and recovered quickly to block a drive off the foot of Anderson, who had been moved up to striker.

Perhaps hampered by the slippery ball, the Victorians never did get around to attacking with their best style of short passing. They displayed a tendency to bunch up around mid-field and possibly might have utilized the outside more in attempts to open gaps in the Croatia defensive armor.

However, it was Croatia's day and the Vancouverites, often theatening with quick sorties in the second half as Victoria defenders moved up field in an attempt to bolster the attack, had the style for the conditions and the determination to end what once had shaped up as an all-conquering season for United.

During presentation ceremonies at the halftime intermission, United players received individual awards for efforts over the regular season.

MacKay, the league scoring leader, and the rugged Anderson received from former lieutenant-governor George Pearkes awards of Pearkes Trophies as the club's top scorer and the most-valuable defensive player.

MacKay also was named winner of an award as United's most-valuable performer and a trophy for the most improved Victoria player among graduates from the Lower Island Juvenile League, was shared by Jan Bentley and George Hyne.

Columbus Gains Final After Defeat on Field

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Columbus will advance to the Pacific Coast Soccer League final against Croatia of Vancouver on the strength of a protest upheld Monday by the league executive.

Columbus had lost 6-5 to Eintracht of Vancouver Monday afternoon in a semi-final here on overtime penalty kicks but protested the game, claiming Eintracht had used an ineligible substitute.

The executive met after the contest and awarded the game to Columbus, which will start a two-game, total-goals series for the playoff championship here Sunday against Croatia, which defeated Victoria United 1-0 in Victoria Monday in the other semi-final.

★ ★ ★

The teams were tied 1-1 at the end of regulation time, George Zambrano having scored for Columbus while Vajon Mikunovik tied it up with only five minutes remaining.

After two 30-minute overtime periods, the score remained 1-1 and the teams were permitted alternate penalty kicks until Eintracht was dclared the winner.

Eintracht used four reserves in the game. Rule 43 of the constitution states that only three reserves may enter the game and any team violating the rule must forfeit the game. "I just made a simple mistake," said Eintracht manager Rollie Skov.

MORRIS FINISHES THIRD . . . . . IN THREE-DAY CONTEST

Japanese Rider Tops Cyclists

KELOWNA (CP)—Kasumasa Yamamoto of Japan took the lead in the hill climb and hung on to win the three-day Centennial bike race Monday with a time of six hours, 15 minutes and five seconds.

Yamamoto, one of four Japanese riders competing in Canada for the first time, took a one-minute lead over the field of 75 in the five-mile hill climb up Anarchist Mountain near Osoyoos on Saturday and maintained it despite two days of pressure from top Canadian and U.S. cyclists.

Roger Sumner of Vancouver was second in the six-stage event which covered 180 miles between Keremeos and Kelowna with a time of six hours, 51 minutes and 12 seconds. Tom Morris of Victoria was five seconds behind him in third place.

Norio Sugiga of Japan took the final section of the race, a 25-mile circuit of downtown in 43 minutes and 41 seconds. Max Grace of Vancouver was second and Bas Lycett of New Westminster third, barely a bike-length back of Sugiga.

The 42-mile dash from Penticton to Kelowna which preceded the city circuit was taken by Grace in one hour, 44 minutes and 18 seconds. Lyette and Hank Koning of Calgary were right behind him.

The race was held in conjunction with the British Columbia Festival of Sports which opened last Thursday and runs to June 7.

Hurtubise Bid Ends in Crash

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind. (AP) — Two of the most courageous men in sports—Mel Kenyon and Jim Hurtubise—tried Sunday to put cars into next Saturday's 55th Indianapolis 500-mile race at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway. One succeeded and one failed in the final qualifying session.

Kenyon, using a special device to replace all the fingers of his left hand, lost in a 1963 racing accident, made it.

Hurtubise, fingers of both hands seared into immobility by a 1964 racing crash, wrecked again on his last attempt, but this time escaped injury.

His own Mongoose, last of the front-engine cars at the old track, twice crashed into the wall on the northwest turn after two qualifying laps that would have been too slow anyway.

Other drivers left on the sidelines as the 33-car starting field was completed included Jim McElreath, who became the first driver in Speedway history to be in and out of the lineup three times in one year.

BUMPER BUMPED

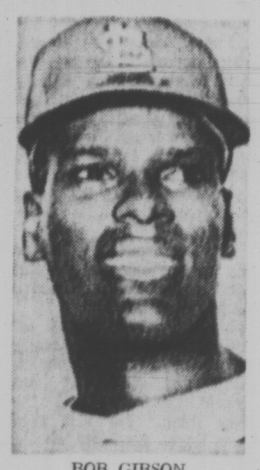
McElreath was bumped from the lineup by Art Pollard, whom he had bumped Saturday. Each had shifted to a different car.

McElreath, bumped Saturday by Roger McCluskey, regained the lineup when a qualified car was withdrawn, then was bumped again minutes later by Donnie Allison.

Forty-year-old Bob Harkey and 44-year-old Pollard were the only drivers other than Kenyon who squeezed into the fastest field in history for the million-dollar race.

The final field averaged 171.655, 4.526 higher than the record 1970 average.

Senators Turn on Sox; Cards, Gibson Shelled



BOB GIBSON
. . . out in fourth

By The Associated Press

Ted Williams, once a .400 hitter for Boston Red Sox, is now a .500 manager against them.

Williams' Washington Senators, last in the American League East, turned on the division-leading Red Sox 8-6 Monday night, snapping an eight-game losing streak.

The victory was the 20th in 40 games for the onetime Boston hero as a manager against the Red Sox and sliced their lead to 2½ games over idle Baltimore Orioles.

In National League play Monday, San Diego Padres knocked Bob Gibson out in the fourth inning and routed St. Louis Cardinals 12-3, Philadelphia Phillies edged Cincinnati Reds 2-1 and Atlanta Braves toppled Montreal Expos 9-4.

The Senators took their lumps during the weekend, losing 5-0 and 11-0 Sunday and 3-1 Saturday to Detroit Tigers.

BREWERS WIN

In other American League action Sunday, Milwaukee Brewers blanked Kansas City Royal 4-0; California Angels downed Chicago Whie Sox 10-5; Baltimore Orioles split a doubleheader with Boston Red Sox, winning the first 12-3 and dropping the second 2-1; and New York Yankees tripped Cleveland Indians 6-3 while the Indians rebounded in the nightcap 2-1.

In the National League, Los Angeles Dodgers clipped Chicago Cubs 4-3, St. Louis defeated San Diego 6-1, New York Mets blanked Atlanta 4-0, Cincinnati edged Philadelphia 4-3, San Francisco Giants handled Houston Astros 7-4 and Montreal downed Pittsburgh Pirates 4-2 in Sunday games.

LOST 18 OF 21

The Senators rolled into Boston having lost 18 of their previous 21 games and having scored one lone run while dropping a four-game weekend series in Detroit.

That changed quickly. With Frank Howard belting a two-run homer, his first in Boston since 1969, the Senators jumped on Bill Lee for five runs in the first inning.

But the Sox clipped Casey Cox for a run in their half of the first and shelled him in the third with Carl Yastrzemski hitting a two-run homer and Billy Conigliaro a three-run job.

"When we blew that lead I was ready to take the gas pipe," said Williams. "I just thought, oh, hell, here we go again."

"However, we got great relief pitching and I mean great by Joe Grzenda and Paul Lindblad."

KEEP CARINALS BACK

Clarence Gaston and Dave Campbell led San Diego's assault against St. Louis and prevented the Cardinals from moving into first place in the National League East.

Gaston drove in four runs with three singles while Campbell also had four RBI with his fifth homer, a two-run triple and bases-loaded walk. Gibson, 4-5, was raked for nine hits and seven runs in three innings-plus.

Philadelphia's Denny Doyle, with only four home runs in his big league career, connected with a runner aboard in the second inning, enabling the Phils to nip the Reds 2-1 behind the six-hit pitching of Rick Wise.

On Sunday Vida Blue won his 10th straight game with a five-hitter in Oakland's 3-1 triumph over Minnesota. Blue hasn't lost since opening day.

Two-Tier Hockey Called Degrading

THUNDER BAY, Ont. (CP) — The one-year-old system of dividing Canadian junior hockey into two levels was attacked as a device "that can destroy hockey on the junior level" as the Candian Amateur Hockey Association began its week-long meetings here Monday.

Ray Mitchell of Thunder Bay told the CAHA's junior council the two-level system was "legally and morally unsound. . . . It's destined to destroy hockey on the junior level."

The meeting voted in favor of a motion asking that the two-level system be abolished and that all junior clubs be eligible to compete for the Memorial Cup, the trophy presented to the national Junior A championship team. The CAHA will consider the motion later this week.

The junior clubs are now divided into two levels or tiers. Major Junior A or level one and Junior A, or level two. The major clubs, represented by three leagues in Canada, compete for the Memorial Cup and the other juniors for the Centennial Cup.

The three Major Junior A leagues are the Western Canada Hockey League, the Ontario Hockey Association and the Quebec Amateur Hockey League.

TEAMS 'DEGRADED'

Mitchell, a member of the Thunder Bay delegatioon which represents a level-two league, said the level-two teams have been "degraded and the whole concept of junior hockey has also been degraded.

"Let's dispense with the two levels and return to Junior A and B. If we in Thunder Bay or those in Newfoundland can't make the Memorial Cup final, let competition be the judge."

Ron Butlin, president of the WCHL, said the tier system has worked reasonably well despite the problems on both levels.

Eintracht Takes Cup Soccer Final

VANCOUVER (CP)—Second-half goals by Peter Arnett and Wolfgang Bludau gave Eintracht Vancouver a 2-0 victory over Paul's Canadians of Vancouver in the Province Cup soccer final Sunday.

North Stars Get Two Minnesotans

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Minnesota North Stars acquired home-state products Gary Gambucci and Bob Paradise from Montreal Canadiens today, the final day for trades in the National Hockey League.

General manager Wren Blair said left winger Gambucci, from Hibbing, and Paradise, a defenceman from St. Paul were obtained for cash and a re-arrangement in the amateur draft agreements between the two teams.

The deal was the second major trade swung by the North Stars in the last three days. Minnesota obtained centre Dennis Hextall from California Golden Seals Saturday in exhange or minor league centres Walt McKechnie and Joe Johnston.

Blair said he has hopes of making additional moves before tonight's midnight trading deadline.

HAD FOUR FROM STATE

Gambucci and Paradise are the third and fourth Minnesotans added to the North Stars' roster since the team joined the NHL four seasons ago. The others are right winger Lou Nanne, still with the club, and centre Tom Williams, since traded to California.

The amount paid for the new players was not revealed. The deal included a flip-flop of arangements for the 1972 amateur draft, in which Minnesota holds two first-round picks. Montreal had rights to use the lower of the two, and now can use the higher selection while the North Stars retain the other choice.

Gambucci, 24, was a high school All-American player at Hibbing and an All-American in is senior year at the University of Minnesota. He has played the last three years for the U.S. Nationls, scoring 51 goals and 47 assists in 50 games last season.

Paradise, 27, played minor league hockey for Omaha in the Central League two years ago and Montreal Voyageurs in the American League last year.

CALGARY WOMAN LEADS . . . . . . IN NATIONAL FINAL

Burnaby Bowler Sets Fast Pace

BURNABY (CP) — Audrey Perkin of Calgary and 22-year-old Steve Brown of Burnaby were crowned Canada's top tenpin bowlers Sunday at the 20-game national finals of the Canadian Tenpin Federation.

They will lead a team of six women and nine men into the Federation Internationale des Quillieres championships at Milwaukee, Wis., in August.

The 27-year-old Mrs. Perkin had to fight down to the last frame to edge Mary Landreville of Dollard des Ormeaux, Que., for the women's title. Mrs. Perkin finished with a 20-game total of 3,719 pins, four more than her opponent.

Meanwhile, Brown, a left-hander, put on a brilliant display as he had 15 200 games for a 4,378-pin total. His average was 219.

Ron Carson of Vancouver was runner-up with a 4,299 total and a 215 average.

Mrs. Landreville's 266 was the top game for the women. Eileen Scoccia of Toronto was third with a 3,625 total.

Other members of the women's team are Louise Smith, Vancouver (3,599), Mitsy Naka, Estevan, Sask. (3,583) and Lil Hilton of Edmonton (3,569).

Filling out the men's team are Paul Yoshimasu, Winnipeg (4,062), Frank Boehm, Regina (4,052), Sid Allen, Edmonton (3,977), Anton Glasser, Regina (3,963), Ron Olson, Calgary (3,959), Lou Palumbo, Sault Ste. Marie, Ont. (3,932), and Jules Soataert, Edmonton (3,919).

Toronto Girl Snaps Pentathlon Record

TORONTO (CP) — Debbie Van Kiekebelt shattered the North American pentathlon mark during the weekend with 4,965 points and her coach is expecting even more before the Pan-American Games this summer.

"I am just so happy," the 17-year-old athlete from nearby Clarkson said Sunday after inishing second in the windup 200 metre event at the Eastern Canadian decathlon and pentathlon championships.

The second-place finish, behind Yvon Saunders, Guelph, Ont., was the only setback the five-foot-11 youngster suffered in the five-event program.

She earned 950 points by finishing just two yards behind Miss Saunders' time of 24.6 seconds.

Vladimir Kosterie, a former Olympic pole vaulter from Yugoslavia, who coaches Miss Van Kiekebelt, said his protege's "capacity this year is over 5,000 points."

IMPROVEMENTS NEEDED

"It's hard to say that her potential is," he added, noting improvements were needed in hurdling, shot put and the 200-metre sprint.

Miss Van Kiekebelt's performance shattered the Canadian native mark of 4,774 points set by Jenny Meldrum of Toronto at the 1968 Olympics in Mexico City.

GENE LITTLER

Amazed Littler Turned Around By Late Eagle

FORT WORTH, Tex. (AP) — "One shot has a way of turning a whole tournament around," said Gene Littler, admittedly a little dazed at his triumph Sunday in the $125,000 Colonial National Invitation event.

"Without that eagle Saturday, I didn't have a chance of winning. And the birdie at the 13th today (Sunday) kinda got me going."

Five shots back as the final round started Sunday over the wind-whipped par-70 Colonial Course, Littler birdied three of the closing six holes and captured the $25,000 prize by a stroke over Bert Yancey.

"I didn't even look at the leader board at 14," he said. "I got a birdie at 1g and I thought I might finish fourth or fifth maybe."

Littler set out Sunday five strokes behind pace-setting Julius Boros and trailing 11 members of the field. In the end, it was Boros, Toronto's George Knudson, Homero Blancas, Dave Stockton, Yancey and Littler locked in a title fight with the tricky, swirling winds.

FINISHES WITH 69

Littler fashioned a 69 for a 72-hole total of 283, three over par, the highest winning total in a PGA event since 1963. Yancey closed with a 70 for 284 and $14,300.

Knudson, Orville Moody, Boros and Fred Marti were a stroke back and earned $8,850 apiece. Five others, including Blancas, the defending champion, and Gary Player, were clustered at 286.

Littler, three times a runner-up here, smashed a seven-iron 165 yards into the cup on the 18th hole Saturday en route to a 74, and said before that he would have taken $500 and plane fare home Saturday night.

"I never even thought about winning," he smiled.

Knudson, who led the field by one stroke at the end of 36 holes Friday, built his margin to four shots after three holes Saturday but he fizzled the lead away as he shot a six-over-par 76. He finished with a 73 Sunday on the final round.

"I was just indecisive about what I did hit," Knudson said after his Saturday round. "It wasn't my game that was bad. It was my thoughts that weren't too clear," he said.

D. Mick and A. MacLeod (GV) vs. R. Kent and Murray Brown (GM).
J. Taylor and B. Beauchemin (GV) vs. H. Jacobsen and B. Sluggett (GM).

Uplands at Cedar Hill

F. Scroggs and K. Nott (Uplands) vs. J. Girrard and B. Rands (Cedar Hill).
R. Burrell and Bob Hunt (U) vs. D. Hunt and G. McCandlish (CH).
D. Billsborough and D. McCall (U) vs. B. Candy and G. Barnes (CH).

Leslie Cliff Rising Star

VANCOUVER (CP) — Leslie Cliff, 16-year-old super swimmer from Vancouver, Monday was awarded the trophy as outstanding entrant in the Vancouver Amateur Swimming Club international and Centennial '71 swim meet.

She entered 12 events in the three-day meet, reached the finals in 11 and won six.

Janice Stenhouse, 12, of Burnaby also won six events and was second in the 400-metre freestyle behind Sandra Smith of Edmonton.

Gunnar Larson, 20, the Swedish star attending university in California, took the 100 and 200-metre freestyle races, and in winning the 400-metre individual medley pushed Peter Harrower of Vancouver to a Canadian native record of 4:50.7. The old mark was 4:51.8.

Miss Smith, 19, set a Canadian native record in the 400-metre freestyle with a time of 4:36.5.

Rains Hasten Bates' Reign

Rain clouds cast a shadow over the finish Monday as Bate Construction of Victoria were declared champions of the annual Major Men's Softball League tournament at Central Park.

Rain forced termination of the tournament after only one inning of the tournament final between Bates and Campbell River Tyees.

As the only unbeaten team in the double-knockout tournament, Bates were declared tournament winners despite a Campbell River offer to play the final next weekend.

Bates had advanced to the Sunday round with a 7-0 victory over Seattle Westgate Builders.

AVACHE SPARKLES

The ptiching-strong Tyees, blanked 3-0 by Bates in Saturday's opening game, bounced back by advancing through the losers' bracket, climaxed by Monday's 5-2 victory over Westgates.

Lorne Avache, recruited by Bates from Vancouver Molsons, hurled 14 scoreless innings to win the outstanding-pitcher honors while Westgates' Ray Atkinson emerged as the top batter with a .550 average.

Campbell River catcher Neil McDermit, playing in all the final-day games despite a broken finger, was voted the most valuable player.

Surprises for Wakeham Tho' Title Win Expected

Reg Clarkson Defeated 6 and 5; Marty Smith Handicap Champion

By ERNIE FEDORUK

It was no surprise that Bill Wakeham won, but the 30-year-old professional was treated to a pair of pleasant surprises en route to his triumph in the Times Vancouver Island Open match-play final Sunday.

Reg Clarkson produced one.

Wakeham's driving supplied the other.

It all made for a pleasant day, capped by Wakeham's 6 and 5 victory over Clarkson at Victoria Golf Club.

It also was a good day for Marty Smith. The youthful Uplands amateur captured the Hugh Francis Trophy, emblematic of the Island's match-play handicap championship, with a 9 and 7 victory over Gorge Vale's Harry Panteluk.

Clarkson, 45, was the surprise finalist who also enjoyed a share of the day's glories. The four-handicap amateur from Gorge Vale was expected to be "easy meat" for Wakeham.

Clarkson overcame an early jittery start, then forced Wakeham to show his professional class.

It delighted Wakeham because "our families have been friends long before I can remember." Reg's parents and Bill's grandparents were backyard neighbors in Victoria's earlier days.

"I honestly didn't expect Reg would be so tough under the conditions that prevailed. The wind and tricky greens made the course play very difficult," said Wakeham.

"It struck home when I was walking to the 28th green. I was only four over par, with a double bogey, after 27 holes . . . and only three up. Quite honestly, I didn't expect that kind of golf from a four handicapper."

Bill Even Par for 31 Holes Played

Wakeham, finishing with a blaze of three straight birdies, was even par for the 31 holes played. Clarkson was nine over, taking five over-par strokes on the first seven holes.

Wakeham was three up after nine holes, four up after 18 and three up after 27.

The former touring pro, who takes over as the club pro at Cowichan next Tuesday, also was impressed with his driving.

"I don't think I ever hit the ball better," said Wakeham. "Some of the distances I got actually amazed me.

"I've been setting myself up differently, playing the ball off my left toe and hitting up on the ball."

Both Wakeham and Clarkson also were impressive in adapting themselves to the conditions that prevailed Sunday. A strong south wind wrecked only a few shots. In addition, both appeared to cope with hard greens that made it almost impossible to stop a ball immediately.

Two "stretch bursts" by Wakeham scuttled Clarkson's hopes of an upset.

Wakeham on Even Terms With Ron

One down after losing the first hole, Wakeham took command on the run from the third to 12th by winning six of the nine holes to go five up.

Clarkson, however, doggedly remained on Wakeham's heels until the professional closed it out with his three-birdie binge on holes 29, 30 and 31.

It makes the third time Wakeham has won The Daily Times Trophy, a feat accomplished previously by Ron MacLeod.

Smith, an Uplands intermediate who claimed his first major district trophy with his victory over Panteluk, virtually wrapped up handicap honors in the moring round of the 36-hole final.

Both handicap finalists play to a seven handicap, but Marty was a picture of consistency. Smith won the first hole and was never headed, leading by three after nine, and going eight up after 18.

He extended the margin to 10 on the 21st hole, then it became only a matter or running out the string.

Champ Shows Class In Festival Tennis

Brenda Cameron of the Racquet Club of Victoria, last year's Canadian girls' under-12 champion, continued her winning ways Monday at the second annual B.C. Festival of Sports tennis tournament.

With matches being held at four city courts in the week-long competition, Miss Cameron stole the spotlight for the day with victories in the under-16 and under-14 singles finals.

She defeated Lynn Davies of the Oak Bay Tennis Club in the former event 6-1, 6-0 and Cindy Bray of Oak Bay in the under-14, 6-2 and 6-0.

Also in junior competition, Ted Davis of Oak Bay won the boys' under-18 title, defeating 13-year-old Glen Bradshaw of the Racquet Club 9-7 and 6-3 in a hard-fought match. Bradshaw won the boys' under-16 final over Nick Carr 6-0, 6-0.

Oak Bay's Heather Graham took the girls' under-18 crown after a tight duel against Lynn Davies, 4-6, 6-2 and 6-1.

Andree Levey and Peter Smythe were winners in the under-12 singles finals.

Senior finals will not be held until Saturday at the Oak Bay Club, but action coninues tonight on two fronts.

Pole Vault Mark

SEATTLE (AP) — Kirk Bryde of Abbotsford, pole vaulted 17 feet, four inches Saturday for the University of Washington and set a new Canadian and British Commonwealth record. He was participating in the Pacific-Eight Conference track and field championships.

Surgenor Survives O'Dell Challenge

Rain stopped the automobile racing action at Western Speedway Monday, washing out a double-header program which had super-stocks and a figure-eight race scheduled for the afternoon and stock car events slated at night.

Super-stock and stocker contests were staged at the Speedway Saturday night with the most exciting racing for the fans coming in the 30-lap main event for super-stocks.

Ross Surgenor, ast season's super-stock driving champion, snatched his first main-event triumph of the season when he survived a closing challenge from crowd-favorite Rick O'Dell.

EMERGENCY REPAIRS

O'Delll appeared out of the running when he crashed into the wall on the sixth lap, damaging the front end of his machine. Rapid emergency repairs enabled him to continue and Rick made it a tight squeeze for Surgenor, who had moved in front on the 12th circuit.

Rick kept gaining ground and made a determined bid to take the lead on the final lap. However, O'Dell spun out and had to settle for fourth place. Chris Van De Water won easily in the main stock event Saturday, however, his record was lowered by three-one-hundredths of a second in the time trials. Larry Pollard did the lap in 20.81 seconds.

Saturday's results:

SUPER-STOCKS

Trophy dash — 1. Neil Montgomery; 2. Ross Surgenor; 3. Larry Walker; 4. Rick O'Dell.

All-Star Tackle Has Eye Injury

REGINA (CP) — All-star defensive tackle Ed McQuarters of Saskatchewan Roughriders is in satisfatory condition in hospital today following weekend surgery to one eye.

The Canadian Football League's outstanding lineman in 1967 suffered the injury at his home when a nail apparently struck him in the eye. Details were not immediately known.

FESTIVAL OF SPORTS — BUSY WEEKEND

Track Records Tumble

Provincial bantam track records, an outstand shot put, a record hill-climb time and a softball no-hitter were among the highlights as the second annual British Columbia Festival of Sports enjoyed its first weekend of action.

The festival, which runs from May 20 through June 7, opened with events from one end of the province to the other.

Mike Mawdsley of Calgary and New Westminster's Janet DeHaas established B.C. bantam records Monday at the Festival of Sports track and field meet in New Westminster.

Mawdsley set an open mark when he won the 1,500-metres in 4:20.04. Miss DeHaas set a provincial mark when she threw the javelin 129 feet, three inches.

Outstanding athlete of the meet was Vancouver Olympic Club's Stephanie Berto, who won the women's open 100-metres in 11.9 seconds and the 200-metres in 23.9.

Named outstanding field competitor was Norma Jordon, 30, of Richmond. She won the women's open shot put with a mark of 45 feet, eight inches, the best throw in Canada this year by a female.

MOTORSPORT WINNERS

John Hall of Vancouver smashed 15 seconds off the record for production sedans on the way to scoring the fastest-ever time in the Knox Mountain Hill Climb at Kelowna Monday.

Russell Hotel of New Westminster won a men's softball tournament at Gibsons Monday by defeating Powell River 4-1, but the big news was made by a player who didn't reach the final.

Freeman Reynolds of Gibsons threw a no-hitter Sunday as his team won 6-0. Reynolds struck out seven and walked just one man.

Polo Clubs Share Honors

Victoria Polo Club shared honors with Vancouver in a pair of matches at the weekend.

The Victorians defeated Vancouver 14-4 Saturday in a mixed, eight-chukker match that highlighted the opening of the mainland club's new, 40-acre field.

Vancouver gained revenge Sunday, defeating Victoria 8-4 in Saanichton behind the seven-goal spree of J. B. Parker. Andy Barry, Eoin Ruthven, Robert Chappel and Harold Dixon scored Victoria's goals.

Other members of the Victoria team were Tony Yonge, Bill Grimshaw and Basil Parker.

Navigator Larry More and driver Keld Alstrup, both of Vancouver, won the 21st annual Columbian car rally with no penalty points. Close to 50 entries took part in the event which began with a run Saturday from New Westminster to Kelowna and ended in New Westminster Monday after the crews had Sunday off in the Okanagan.

TOOK THE PLUNGE

At the B.C. diving championships in West Vancouver Saturday and Sunday, Tammy McLeod of the Simon Fraser club won the girls 13 and 14 one-and three-metre events. She also placed second in the senior womens one and three-metre events.

Linda Berg of Seattle won both senior womens events.

Stewart Boosts Lead

JACKIE STEWART
. . . set lap record

MONTE CARLO (AP) — Jackie Stewart of Scotland fought off nausea on the last lap and held on Sundey to win the Monte Carlo Grand Prix Formula I auto race in a Tyreel-Ford and increase his lead in the world drivers' championship.

Zooming around the 80 laps of the 151-mile race in one hour 52 minutes 21.30 seconds, an average of 80.6 miles per hour, Stewart finished 25 seconds ahead of Ronnie Peterson of Sweden in an STP. March.

Jacky Ickx of Belgium was third in a Ferrari, Denis Hulme of New Zealand fourth in a McLaren and Brazil's Emerson Fittipaldi fifth in a Lotus.

Stewart set a lap record on the 5th lap around the 1.9-mile circuit which twists through this tiny principality. His time was 1:22.20, bettering the 1:23.20 of the late Jochen Rindt of Austria last year.

There were 18 starters in the injury-free race, but many didn't finish, including five-time winner Graham Hill of Britain, who hit a wall three minutes after the start. He was not injured.

The victory gave Stewart 24 points in the championship standings. Ickx is second with 10 and Mario Andretti of the United States and Peterson are tied for third with nine each.

Andretti was thwarted by a rain-slickened track Saturday in his bid to qualify for a starting place in Sunday's event. It was Andretti's first major failure since joining the grand prix circuit on a full-time basis this year. he had earlier won the South African Grand Prix.

Burrards Host Rocks After Tripping Adanacs

Vancouver Burrards return to their home floor tonight to host Victoria Shamrocks after upsetting the Adanacs at Coquitlam Saturday for their first victory of the Western Lacrosse Association season.

Burrards prevented the Adanacs from breaking a second-place deadlock with the Shamrocks when they ended a five-game losing streak with an 11-9 triumph before about 1,200 fans.

Adanacs now have a record of three wins and three defeats while the Rocks, who tangle with Burrards again at Memorial Arena Wednesday, have three victories in five starts.

Junior Paki Pohalis, along with Brian Davidson and Brian Bergum, scored two goals each for Burrards. Another junior, Rick Orner, scored a goal.

Little Bobbie Rezansoff picked up three tallies for the Adanacs, while Bill Robinson and Mike Hughes contributed two goals each. Captain Bill Bradley got one goal and assisted on four others.

A slow start and numerous goal post hits led to Coquitlam's defeat. Both goaltenders turned in good performances. Dave Wedlock made 44 stops — including 21 in the second period alone — for Coquitlam, while veteran Don Hamilton turned away 39 in the Burrard nets.

Mainland Scores In Cricket Trial

A Vancouver side defeated Victoria by 52 runs Sunday at Vancouver's Connaught Park in a B.C. trial match set up to determine the provincial representatives for the Canadian interprovincial championships to be played in Victoria July 4-10.

Vancouver scored 149 for seven wickets declared while Victoria reached 97. Top Victoria scorers were Dave Clarke with 30 runs and Peter Wilson and John Brasier, who each added 15.

Best bowling performance for Vancouver was by Ben Seebaron, with five wickets for 43 runs.

Incogs meanhile, gained possession of first place in the Victoria and District Cricket Association Saturday after scoring an upset victory over defending champion Albions.

Capturing the last wicket in the last over of the day in a game at University School, Incogs defeated Albions by 73 runs.

Castaways easily defeated a winless Oak Bay team by 92 runs and took over second place in the standings. Albions found themselves in a third-place tie with Cowichan, who had beatedn Alcos in a game at Windsor Park.

TAKE SECOND

Batsman Tim Bale made 77 as Incogs ran up 153 for eight declared and sparked the attack by taking three wickets for 16 runs. Tony Davis ended up with three for 25 as Albions were set aside with 80 runs.

Cowichan made 128 before dismissing Alcos for 87, with Brett Davis scoring 38 and Howard Martin tallying 32. Nick Walton and Ashley Hall of Castaways bowled through Oak Bay's team, taking the first seven wickets for just seven runs, after their side set 121 runs.

Tottenham Stars Spark England Past Scotland

LONDON (CP) — England's much-criticised soccer team returned to near-top form Saturday to clinch the British championship with a crushing 3-1 victory over Scotland at Wembley Stadium here.

A crowd of 100,000 who paid £141,000 — a record for a home international—saw England score its three goals before half-time.

Spearheaded by Tottenham sharp-shooters Martin Chivers and Martin Peters, England completely dominated the first half.

MUCH SUPERIOR

Chivers scored twice after Peters had put England in the lead in the eighth minute and Hugh Curran had tied the score 1-1 for Scotland after 10 minutes.

Scotland tightened up their game after the interval, moving Frank McLintock upfield and bringing in Frank Munro to stiffen their shaky defence.

But still England looked much the better side, and if they had taken more chances it appeared they could have scored several more goals.

England's three goals lifted the gloom which had surrounded the championship series—in four matches played before Saturday, six hours of football yielded only two goals. It was also a triumph for team captain Sir Alf Ramsey, who had been under fire following lack-lustre England performances against Northern Ireland and Wales.

At Belfast's Windsor Park, George Best celebrated his 25th birthday in grand style by inspiring Northern Ireland to a 1-0 victory over Wales and second place in the championship.

A crowd of 23,000 saw Best at his best as Northern Ireland gained their first victory over Wales at Windsor Park in 12 years.

JIM GREAVES ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT

LONDON (AP) — Jimmy Greaves, the greatest goal-scorer English soccer has ever seen, is quitting the game at the age of 31.

Greaves, who racked up 491 goals over 14 years — 44 of them in 57 matches for England — is reported to have told his West Ham club he won't be back next year.

"I've had enough," he confided to friends. "I'm through with it all and I'm not sorry."

COUGAR WINS AGAIN

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Chilean import Cougar II, the even-money favorite, came through the pack in the stretch to win the 18th running of the $138,600 Californian at Hollywood Park for his fourth stakes victory of the season.

Jockey Bill Shoemaker brought the five-year-old Cougar II under the wire 1¼ lengths in front of 30-to-1 shot Master Hand. Another outsider, Fleet Surprise, was third in the field of 11 older horses.

Time for 1 1-16 miles on a fast track was 1:41 4-5.

You're miles and dollars ahead with
Firestone
Riding System
Service

"This bargain can save a lot more than it costs."

"What will happen if your front wheels are out of alignment? Or if your tires need balancing? Well, your car won't give you the comfort it should. But there's more to worry about than comfort. Or even safety. Your tires will take a terrible licking. Pretty soon, you'll notice that the tread is worn right off in big patches. Tires like that need replacing. That can mean forty or fifty bucks worth of tire mileage down the drain. Maybe more.
"Without proper lubrication, your wheel bearings can suffer and need replacing. So having them cleaned and re-packed with grease could save another fifteen dollars or so.
"Of course, when you talk about a brake adjustment, there's a lot more than money at stake. A lot more."

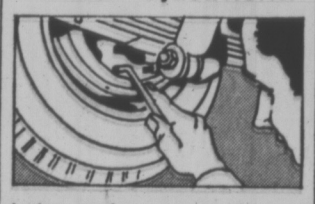
All this Front-end service

1. Precision Alignment.

If you've got front wheel problems of caster, camber and toe-in you've got big problems heading your way. Like ruined tires. And maybe damaged suspension components. Our technicians use very precise instruments to make sure your wheels track true and straight.

2. Wheel Balancing.

You may not even know if your wheels are out of balance. But your tires certainly know about it. Every turn of the wheel scuffs off a little more tread. So our Riding System Service specialists can be the best friends your tires ever had.

3. Brake Inspection And Adjustment.


As time goes by, you may not be aware of slowly fading braking power. But if you suddenly need full braking power, you could be in big trouble. For example, a weakened brake line may burst with the sudden surge of fluid. So this inspection and adjustment could be a life saver.

4. Re-packing Front Wheel Bearings.

Your wheel bearings are hidden away where you don't often see them. So there's a good chance they are being gradually ruined by dried out or caked lubricant. Our technicians carefully wash the bearing races in a special cleaning fluid. Inspect them for signs of failure. And re-pack them with a top quality grease. Finally, we road test your car.

Burrards Host Rocks After Tripping Adanacs

Vancouver Burrards return to their home floor tonight to host Victoria Shamrocks after upsetting the Adanacs at Coquitlam Saturday for their first victory of the Western Lacrosse Association season.

Burrards prevented the Adanacs from breaking a second-place deadlock with the Shamrocks when they ended a five-game losing streak with an 11-9 triumph before about 1,200 fans.

Adanacs now have a record of three wins and three defeats while the Rocks, who tangle with Burrards again at Memorial Arena Wednesday, have three victories in five starts.

Junior Paki Pohalis, along with Brian Davidson and Brian Bergum, scored two goals each for Burrards. Another junior, Rick Orner, scored a goal.

Little Bobbie Rezansoff picked up three tallies for the Adanacs, while Bill Robinson and Mike Hughes contributed two goals each. Captain Bill Bradley got one goal and assisted on four others.

A slow start and numerous goal post hits led to Coquitlam's defeat. Both goaltenders turned in good performances. Dave Wedlock made 44 stops — including 21 in the second period alone — for Coquitlam, while veteran Don Hamilton turned away 39 in the Burrard nets.

Mainland Scores In Cricket Trial

A Vancouver side defeated Victoria by 52 runs Sunday at Vancouver's Connaught Park in a B.C. trial match set up to determine the provincial representatives for the Canadian interprovincial championships to be played in Victoria July 4-10.

Vancouver scored 149 for seven wickets declared while Victoria reached 97. Top Victoria scorers were Dave Clarke with 30 runs and Peter Wilson and John Brasier, who each added 15.

Best bowling performance for Vancouver was by Ben Seebaron, with five wickets for 43 runs.

Incogs meanhile, gained possession of first place in the Victoria and District Cricket Association Saturday after scoring an upset victory over defending champion Albions.

Capturing the last wicket in the last over of the day in a game at University School, Incogs defeated Albions by 73 runs.

Castaways easily defeated a winless Oak Bay team by 92 runs and took over second place in the standings. Albions found themselves in a third-place tie with Cowichan, who had beatedn Alcos in a game at Windsor Park.

TAKE SECOND

Batsman Tim Bale made 77 as Incogs ran up 153 for eight declared and sparked the attack by taking three wickets for 16 runs. Tony Davis ended up with three for 25 as Albions were set aside with 80 runs.

Cowichan made 128 before dismissing Alcos for 87, with Brett Davis scoring 38 and Howard Martin tallying 32. Nick Walton and Ashley Hall of Castaways bowled through Oak Bay's team, taking the first seven wickets for just seven runs, after their side set 121 runs.

Kern, Fulton In the Money

NORTH LITTLE ROCK, Ark. (AP) — Tom Ulizas won the $25,000 Maumelle Open by four trokes Sunday.

Ulizas shot a final-round 73 for a 72-hole total of 283 to claim the $5,000 first prize.

Rick Massengale, the 54-hole leader, skied to a 78 and finished in a tie for second with Seattle's Mike Reasor and Jim Gant. They won $2,041 each.

Ben Kern of Toronto shot a final-round 73 to wind up with 291 and a $521 slice of the prize money. Ken Fulton of Montreal finished with a 293 total and $326 after shooting 77 on the last round.

Padres Buy Pascual

CLEVELAND (AP) — Veteran right-handed pitcher Camilo Pascual was sold Saturday by Cleveland Indians to San Diego Padres of the National League for an undisclosed amount of money. The Indians had announced the recall of right-handed pitcher Ed Farmer from their Wichita farm club.

SURGENOR STOCK WINNER

Ross Surgenor, driving a 1968 Torino, Sunday won the super-stock "A" main event at the Langley Speedway on the mainland before a crowd of 4,000.

The Victoria driver finished ahead of Jim Fraley of Vancouver in a 1957 Chevrolet, and Carl Zarelzied of Seattle also in a 1957 Chevrolet.

Tottenham Stars Spark England Past Scotland

LONDON (CP) — England's much-criticised soccer team returned to near-top form Saturday to clinch the British championship with a crushing 3-1 victory over Scotland at Wembley Stadium here.

A crowd of 100,000 who paid £141,000 — a record for a home international—saw England score its three goals before halftime.

Spearheaded by Tottenham sharp-shooters Martin Chivers and Martin Peters, England completely dominated the first half.

MUCH SUPERIOR

Chivers scored twice after Peters had put England in the lead in the eighth minute and Hugh Curran had tied the score 1-1 for Scotland after 10 minutes.

Scotland tightened up their game after the interval, moving Frank McLintock upfield and bringing in Frank Munro to stiffen their shaky defence.

But still England looked much the better side, and if they had taken more chances it appeared they could have scored several more goals.

England's three goals lifted the gloom which had surrounded the championship series in four matches played before Saturday, six hours of football yielded only two goals. It was also a triumph for team captain Sir Alf Ramsey, who had been under fire following lack-lustre England performances against Northern Ireland and Wales.

At Belfast's Windsor Park, George Best celebrated his 25th birthday in grand style by inspiring Northern Ireland to a 1-0 victory over Wales and second place in the championship.

A crowd of 23,000 saw Best at his best as Northern Ireland gained their first victory over Wales at Windsor Park in 12 years.

JIM GREAVES ANNOUNCES RETIREMENT

LONDON (AP) — Jimmy Greaves, the greatest goal-scorer English soccer has ever seen, is quitting the game at the age of 31.

Greaves, who racked up 491 goals over 14 years — 44 of them in 57 matches for England — is reported to have told his West Ham club he won't be back next year.

"I've had enough," he confided to friends. "I'm through with it all and I'm not sorry."

COUGAR WINS AGAIN

INGLEWOOD, Calif. (AP) — Chilean import Cougar II, the even-money favorite, came through the pack in the stretch to win the 18th running of the $138,600 Californian at Hollywood Park for his fourth stakes victory of the season.

Jockey Bill Shoemaker brought the five-year-old Cougar II under the wire 1¼ lengths in front of 30-to-1 shot Master Hand. Another outsider, Fleet Surprise, was third in the field of 11 older horses.

Time for 1 1-16 miles on a fast track was 1:41 4-5.

You're miles and dollars ahead with
Firestone
Riding System
Service

"This bargain can save a lot more than it costs."

"What will happen if your front wheels are out of alignment? Or if your tires need balancing? Well, your car won't give you the comfort it should. But there's more to worry about than comfort. Or even safety. Your tires will take a terrible licking. Pretty soon, you'll notice that the tread is worn right off in big patches. Tires like that need replacing. That can mean forty or fifty bucks worth of tire mileage down the drain. Maybe more.
"Without proper lubrication, your wheel bearings can suffer and need replacing. So having them cleaned and re-packed with grease could save another fifteen dollars or so.
"Of course, when you talk about a brake adjustment, there's a lot more than money at stake. A lot more."

All this Front-end service

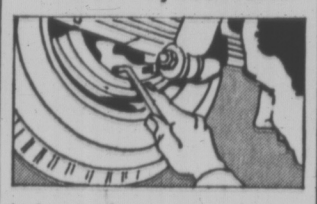
1. Precision Alignment.

If you've got front wheel problems of caster, camber and toe-in you've got big problems heading your way. Like ruined tires. And maybe damaged suspension components. Our technicians use very precise instruments to make sure your wheels track true and straight.

2. Wheel Balancing.

You may not even know if your wheels are out of balance. But your tires certainly know about it. Every turn of the wheel scuffs off a little more tread. So our Riding System Service specialists can be the best friends your tires ever had.

3. Brake Inspection And Adjustment.



As time goes by, you may not be aware of slowly fading braking power. But if you suddenly need full braking power, you could be in big trouble. For example, a weakened brake line may burst with the sudden surge of fluid. So this inspection and adjustment could be a life saver.

4. Re-packing Front Wheel Bearings.

Your wheel bearings are hidden away where you don't often see them. So there's a good chance they are being gradually ruined by dried out or caked lubricant. Our technicians carefully wash the bearing races in a special cleaning fluid. Inspect them for signs of failure. And re-pack them with a top quality grease. Finally, we road test your car.

Victory on Next Dancer Jockey's Third Straight

VANCOUVER (CP) — Jockey Andy Smith made it tsree straight victories Monday at Exhibition Park as he guided longshot Next Dancer to a victory in the featured $7,850-added Victoria Day Purse.

Watched by a crowd of 9,231, Smith urged the four-year-old chestnut gelding to the wire ahead of Cougar Lea with a time of 1:45 3-5 for the mile and one-sixteenth.

Alandian ran third as Next Dancer returned $28.00, $8.30 and $2.80. Smith finished with four winners on the 10-race holiday program.

On Saturday, Busy B farms collected its second stakes victory in as many days when Have Pappa scored a 2½-lengths triumph in the $5,955 Vanity Handicap.

Under the handling of jockey Alan Cuthbertson, the Kentucky-bred filly was in front all the way to beat Nanahanna in the 6½-furlong gallop for fillies and mares.

Frisky's Charm was another three lengths back and Glenlivet's Zoie, slightly favored over Have Pappa, was last in the eight-horse field after being bumped on the first turn.

An exacto in tse fourth race of Saturday's card paid $437.90 after Craig Dell led Khalde Truckle under the wire.

SAANICH TEAM TOPS TOURNAMENT

NEW WESTMINSTER — Fowler Construction of Saanich won the first Western Canada bantam lacrosse tournament here Sunday by defeating Norburns of Vancouver 13-10.

Saanich advanced to the final after a squeaker 10-9 victory over the powerful host team from New Westminster earlier in the day. Saturday, Fowlers defeated Surrey 10-5 in quarter-final play.

Norburns had reached the final with a 16-8 win over Vancouver Hastings, who had downed Esquimalt on Saturday.

Willow Park of Calgary took the "B" event final, blanking Edmonton Glenora 5-0.

Birdie Finish Helps Whitworth

BUENA PARK, Calif. (AP) — Kathy Whitworth shot birdies on the final two holes Sunday to eke out her second victory of the year on the women's golf tour by two strokes in the Suzuki Golf Internationale.

Sandra Palmer, the tour's leading money winner, wilted in the stretch after leading the tourney most of the way. She wound up tied with Sandra Haynie, both at 219, two strokes back.

Oak Bay Grabs Team Title With Final-Event Triumph

Oak Bay athletes staged a thrill-packed finish at Centennial Stadium Saturday to snatch the team title in the seventh annual Vancouver Island high school track and field championships.

Often threatening to overhaul the defending-champion Mount Douglas squad, although never announced as the leading team during the last day of the two-day meet, Oak Bay made it to the top in the final event to edge the champs by a slender two-point margin.

Trailing Mount Douglas by five points going into the closing contest, Oak Bay runners in the boys' 1,600-metre relay raced across the finish line to earn just enough points for the team triumph, a record fourth for the Bays.

In the dramatic curtain-dropping relay event, Oak Bay's Duff McCaghey ran a brilliant anchor leg to erase a 20-metre lead given to Brad Yakubowich, the exhausted sprint champion from Mt. Douglas. Then, in the remaining 150 metres, McCaghey put a distance of about 40 metres between himself and Yakubowich, who was running his seventh race of the day, before hitting the wire in first place with Yakubowich second.

However, it was the Oak Bay "B" team in the 1,600-metre relay that struck the knockout blow, finishing sixth for two points — the margin of victory.

With points awarded on a 15-10-7-3-2 basis in relays and 10-6-4-2-1 in individual events, the final standings showed Oak Bay with 194¾ to a tally of 192¾ for Mt. Douglas.

Jill Pelland, Weicker Earn Awards

In addition to winning the Claremont Students' Council Trophy for the relay triumph and the J. L. Nichols Perpetual Trophy as over-all champion, Oak Bay also collected the B.C. Centennial Trophy as the leading girls' team.

Top individual honors also went to Oak Bay athletes when Jill Pelland and Al Weicker were awarded Colonist Cups as the outstanding female and male athlete of the meet.

Miss Pelland set what meet officials believe to be a B.C. and perhaps Canadian scholastic record Friday with a mark of 11.4 seconds in her heat for the 100-metre hurdles. She also won the 80-metre hurdles in 11.6.

They also believed that Weicker set a B.C. scholastic record by covering 1,500 metres in 4:04.3. He also won the 800-metre race.

Mt. Douglas won the B.C. Centennial Cup for the leading boys' team and the MacMillan Bloedel Trophy for runnerup team aggregate.

The boys' sprint relay cup (the Municipality of Saanich Trophy) went to Mount View, while the girls' sprint relay award (the Butler Brothers Trophy) was won by the Esquimalt squad of Reni Zerelli, Delma Corby, Joanie Fleicher and Lorraine Saunders. The same four also won the longer relay event.

Nine records fell at the meet, four of them Saturday. Lorna McHattie of Claremont recorded a shotput mark of 38¾ inches, after setting a new discus record Friday.

Bob Ross of Oak Bay cut 34 seconds off his own mark for the 3,000 metres, establishing a new record of 8:45.1.

Competitors from north of the Malahat won two finals Saturday, with Brian Hawksworth of Brentwood College taking the 300-metre hurdles and Don McGavin winning the boys' javelin.

Gail Turney of Cowichan turned in a triple victory, with wins in the 100 metres, the 200 metres and the long jump.

Along with Weicker, Ken Fox of Claremont was a double winner among the boys, taking the discus event Saturday after a shot put triumph on Friday.

Three Victories Mark Vic West Anniversary

Victoria West Football Club teams fashioned themselves a 75th anniversary birthday present Saturday at Royal Athletic Park by winning three exhibition soccer matches.

More than 400 fans watched Vic West's Division I club defeat the Victoria District All-Stars 3-1 in the feature match. Mike Beaulac, Glen Robinson and Dean Stokes tallied for the Wests while Peter Brett scored for the All-Stars.

West Division II team beat Portland Americans 5-2, with Vern Black getting two goals, and their Juvenile Division I club squeezed past Seattle Olsen United, 3-2, on a late goal by Garnet Moen and two tallies by Gary McLaren.

Percy Wilson and Don Wakelyn were presented with special awards, Wilson for producing a book on the history of the club and Wakelyn for his service to the organization.

Husband Hunters Gather

NEW SALEM, N.D. (AP) Looking for a husband?

Like to get away from the roar of the city and live in the quiet countryside?

With that in mind, women from far and near will converge next month on this community in western North Dakota's range and grain country.

This town of 1,000 is holding its annual Bachelor Days celebration June 11-13. The object: to lure brides for the area's bashful bachelor farmers.

About 12 to 15 couples have been married as a result of the celebration which began in 1967.

It all started as a joke, says Ray Olin, director of this year's celebration. "Someone wrote a letter to a women's college in New York, saying we had 40 eligible bachelors in town worth $100,000 apiece."

Olin says about 50 women from out of state registered for last year's celebration "and a lot more came who didn't register."

Lee Hollingworth, active in the program, says the area has about 100 bachelors. Many are middle-aged and most are farmers.

Why are so many men unmarried? The people hereabouts say it's because they are shy, hardworking men too busy to spend much time courting. Then, too, there is a shortage of eligible women.

Historic Tips

MOSCOW (AP) — Ladies in central Asia 5,000 to 7,000 years ago were just as fashion-conscious as women today, Russian archeologists report. The Soviet news agency Tass said a study in Leningrad indicates style tips came to the ancient Asians by camel caravan from Mesopotamia, 1,000 miles west.

BEAMING WITH PLEASURE Mayor Courtney Haddock crowned 17-year-old Judy Heslegrove of Reynolds Senior Secondary School May Queen Sunday in Centennial Square. Miss Heslegrove's princesses are Dale McKenzie of Mount Douglas Senior Secondary and Jill Trim of Victoria Senior Secondary. This is the first year a May Queen has been chosen in nearly two decades. # Appraisers Affected History

"Whoever did the appraisal on Alaska?" provincial archivist Willard Ireland asked his audience at a luncheon meeting at the Empress Hotel Saturday.

His subject was The Century We Celebrate, and his audience consisted of appraisers attending the national conference of the Appraisal Institute of Canada.

Ireland was commenting on the fact that although Alaska had been absurdly undervalued when the United States bought the territory from Russia, British Columbia had been considered even less valuable.

In a brief resume of British Columbia history Ireland told his audience:

"We were born in sections, which makes us anatomically interesting."

He explained how crown colonies and territories had joined togehter in order to prevent a take-over by Americans. This, he said, left a legacy of centennials for B.C. to celebrate.

"Recently centennials have become a disease which has now reached epidemic proportions, and I sincerely hope this is the last, until next year. But this is a genuine one," Ireland said.

He emphasized that the union of the province with the rest of Canada, after four years of persuasion by far-sighted politicians of the time, had turned Canada into a transcontinental dominion which might never have reached farther west than Manitoba if U.S. expansionist plans had succeeded.

"We gave Canada the Pacific," Ireland said, noting that west coast trade had always been primarily with Pacific countries.

"Furs crossed the Pacific to China, in exchange for silks that went to Britain or the Eastern U.S.

"As a colony the tradition was carried on. Lumber from our first small mills was not sold here — there were only 500 white settlers here at the time — but to San Francisco, South America, the Philippines and China.

"From the beginning we have been aware of the role we have played in the Pacific Rim."

Medical Records Faulted For Not Listing Occupations

OTTAWA (CP) — It takes a dozen or more years for some kinds of cancer to become indentifiable in individuals.

This is particularly so with bladder cancers, one of the more serious and growing preventable occupational diseases.

Yet Canada is so balkanized that the medical records which might lead a doctor to suspect bladder cancer earlier do not follow a patient who moves from one province to another.

And even if they did, the taking of a medical history places so little emphasis on occupation that a patient's possible exposure to known cancer-causing agents in industry may go unsuspected.

A still further complication is that medical records that are held by provincial medical care insurance commissions are not uniform.

★ ★ ★

"Industrial medicine is just in its babyhood," said Dr. T. H. Patterson, chief of the federal health department's occupational health division, after detailing these obstacles among others to the detection of bladder cancer.

"Bladder cancers are difficult to detect, their incidence is increasing and, most important of all, they are preventable."

Most recent statistics show that cancers of the urinary organs sent 17 per cent more men to hospital in 1966 than four years earlier. For men, 53 per 100,000 population was sent to hospital in 1966 against 45 in 1962. The picture is almost identical for women.

The list of known cancer-causing agents is growing. Only last year federal department scientists identified dinitrobiphenyl and other biphenyl derivatives, mainly used in dyes, as factors in occupational bladder cancers.

In addition, there are benzidine, alpha-naphthylamine and, most powerful of all, betanaphthylamine. Their complicity has been accepted since 1947 studies of chemical workers.

★ ★ ★

Dr. Patterson says the exposure hazards to carcinogens, cancer-causing agents, is quite extensive and includes chemicals and rubber industries, laboratory workers, employees of textile and printing industries and probably tar, pitch and soot workers.

Most industries, and provincial health department, operate medical services and police the hazards.

But one of the problems with industrial disease of all kinds is that once a worker moves to another job it is virtually impossible to follow up. This could be fatal in the case of a bladder cancer which may go from four to 48 years before it manifests itself.

In a bulletin in occupational health, Dr. Patterson has urged special attention to preventive measures such as workroom cleanliness, adequate exhaust of vapors, restrictions on fume and dust emissions, mechanical transport of chemical products in closed containers and close attention to personal hygiene. exist; for example, the Papanicolaomu technique which involves examining the urine for the presence of abnormal cells.

Dr. Patterson says five-year studies of this test plus examination of urine for red blood cells indicates it is reliable for mass screening of industrial workers.

Svetlana, Baby Doing Well

SAN RAFAEL, Calif. (AP) — Svetlana Alliluyeva Peters plans to take personal care of her new daughter, an experience that the only daughter of the late Soviet dictator Joseph Stalin did not have after her first two children were born in Russia.

"Svetlana is looking forward to taking care of her own child, which is something she did not do before in Russia, partly because she was a student at the time," her sister-in-law, Margedant Peters Hayakawa, said Friday.

Mrs. Hayakawa is the wife of Dr. S.I. Hayakawa, the Vancouver-born president of San Francisco State College, and the sister of William Wesley Peters, 58, the American who became Svetlana's third husband last April 7.

The 45-year-old Mrs. Peters has a grown son and daughter in Russia. Both she and the seven-pound nine-ounce girl born to her early Friday are reported doing well in hospital.

Peters, chief architect of the Frank Lloyd Wright Foundation, said in response to a question about how he and his wife would tell his daughter of Stalin:

"We have not particularly discussed how to tell the child about her grandfather. We think of our daughter as our daughter, not as anyone's granddaughter. We hope she will be growing up as a normal child."

Svetlana's two marriages in the Soviet Union ended in divorce. She sought asylum in the West after being allowed to take the ashes of Brijesh Singh, an Indian Communist, to India. She had lived with Singh but Soviet authorities had refused to permit them to marry.

DIET DANGERS

Confidence Threatens Success

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

This is the sixth week of my Eight Week Beauty Improvement Plan. Thousands of my readers have gained a new image of themselves. They were tired of being overweight and fatigued. They were bored by their bulges and rolls. Six weeks ago they determined to exchange the old image for a new one.

Those who started following this course when it first appeared in this newspaper have only two more weeks to go. There are two times of danger during a reducing routine. I have already mentioned one of them — when your weight loss suddenly comes to a standstill. The second one is right now.

You have been successful and have probably lost 10 or 15 pounds. You wear a smaller dress size. You are constantly receiving compliments. Your bulges are turning into curves. You are rightfully very proud of yourself. It would be only natural if you should begin to be a little less earnest about your calorie counting and exercises. Don't give in to that feeling. What a shame if you stop just short of the goal.

I do think it is time, though, for you to give yourself a few little rewards. Now is the time to buy a new outfit or dress. If you need a permanent have one now. Do not wait until you have lost those last few pounds or inches. This will encourage you to continue. Try a new hairdo and experiment with makeup.

Many of you are beginning to wonder how many calories you will require to maintain your ideal weight. This depends on several factors. A large person must have more calories to maintain current weight. A very active person needs many more calories. Therefore, you mus take your size and your life pattern into consideration. In cold weather we all require a few more calories, too.

As she gows older, the average woman needs fewer calories. For instance, according to the National Research Council, women who are 5 feet and weigh 128 pounds between the ages of 18-35 should have 2,100 calories daily to maintain their desirable weight. Those the same size between the ages of 35-55 need 1,900 and between 55-75, 1,600 calories.

You can get a general idea of how many calories you will need to maintain your weight by multiplying your ideal weight by 15 if you are moderately active. If you are extremely active add one-quarter more. If you are sedentary subtract one-quarter.

If you missed the first part of my Eight Week Beauty Improvement Plan and would like to start now to lose from 15 to 20 pounds in the next eight weeks, or if you would like to have the course in book form, send 25 cents plus 15 cents for postage and handling, with your printed name and address to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

THIS EXERCISE beautifies the thigh, waist and arms. Stand with your right side toward the wall or a chair and place your right hand on the wall or chair. Raise your left arm up by your left ear. Lower your left arm as you raise your left leg upward. Touch your hand to your leg. Return to starting position. Keep both the arm and the leg straight. Turn your left side toward the wall and raise and lower your right arm and leg.

Lose 10 lbs. in 10 Days on Grapefruit Diet

HOLLYWOOD, CALIF. (Special)—This is the revolutionary grapefruit diet that everyone is suddenly talking about. It has made people slim, attractive and feel young again. Literally thousands upon thousands of copies have been passed from hand to hand in factories and offices throughout the U.S.

Word of its success has spread like wildfire. This is the diet that really works. No pills or drugs. We have testimonials in our files reporting on its success. If you follow it exactly, you should lose 10 pounds in 10 days. There will be no weight loss in the first 4 days, but you will suddenly drop 5 pounds on the 5th day. Thereafter you will lose one pound a day until the 10th day. Then you will lose 1½ pounds every two days until you get down to your proper weight. Best of all, there will be no hunger pangs. Now revised and enlarged, this new diet plan lets you partake of foods formerly "forbidden" such as big juicy steaks, roast or fried chicken, rich gravies, spareribs, mayonnaise, lobster swimming in butter, bacon, sausages and scrambled eggs. You can eat until you are full and still lose 10 pounds in the first 10 days plus 1½ pounds every two days thereafter. The secret behind this new "quick weight loss" diet is simple. Fat does not form fat. The grapefruit acts as a catalyst (the "trigger") to start the fat burning process. You eat as much as you want of the permitted foods listed in the diet plan, and still lose unsightly fat and excess body fluids. When the fat and bloat are gone your weight will remain constant. A copy of this very successful diet plan including suggested menus can be obtained by sending $2 to Grapefruit Diet, MONEY BACK GUARANTEE. If after diligently trying the diet plan you have not lost 7 pounds in the first 7 days and 1½ pounds every two days thereafter, simply return the diet plan and your $2 will be refunded promptly and without argument. Fill out the coupon, mail it today, and you will receive your diet rush via first class mail. Decide now to regain the trim, attractive figure of your youth, while enjoying hearty breakfasts, lunches and dinners.

"A Business Built on Customer Confidence and Goodwill"

Family Schedules Pollution Control

PALO VERDES ESTATES, Calif. (AP) — Pollution, waste. Everybody talks about it; everybody agrees something should be done about it. The Bold family of this picturesque Pacific community on the outskirts of Los Angeles has decided that action speaks louder than words.

As an experiment, Sue and John Bold and their three daughters asked themselves what they could do about pollution. They looked at lists of suggested ways of saving more, wasting less. They asked each other what they thought was practical in terms of their lives.

How long do you take in the shower? No one knew for sure.

Fourteen-year-old Terri thought maybe half an hour.

Eleven-year-old Kathy said flatly: "An hour."

Andrea, 10, wasn't sure.

"All right," said Sue Bold.

"Let's start taking five-miniature showers."

"Five minutes," said Kathy. "To wash? And wash my hair? What if I get soap in my eyes?"

Her mother frowned. "All right then, six minutes."

And how about electric lights? A reluctant OK to try to conserve electricity.

"How about taking a lunch box to school? That way I wouldn't have to buy extra paper bags."

"A lunch box? That's square."

"Can't I just buy my lunch?" asked Terri.

"Can't I bring my paper bag home and use it again?" Bless you Andrea.

"How about walking to girl scouts? You know every time I take out the car . . ."

"Wednesday I can't."

"I've got this big fat bruise right here on my foot and whenever I walk . . ."

Sue Bold said she had put a bottle of water in the refrigerator and it would be used henceforth. Running water until it's cold is wasteful in an area where water is expensive and fire is a hazard. Pacific Ocean or no Pacific Ocean.

And she had reinstalled the dishcloth. No sense using paper towelling for everything.

All right John, what about your new habits? "You mean, take a bus to work?"

A little research showed that John, with 13 miles between home and plant, can't take a bus. There just aren't any. That's the Los Angeles area — the biggest smog problem in the United States and short on public transportation. A bike? Thirteen miles? No way.

Compromise: When possible, share rides with one or two guys who work in the same area.

The Bolds moved out here to get away from the smog. About halfway in, on his way to work, John's back in the smog again. But here, that blessed Pacific offers onshore winds that blow the smog back where it came from. Both family cars are equipped with approved smog control devices and use low-lead gasoline.

As Sue walks along the aisles to the supermarket, she tries to measure what is important and what isn't. This supermarket offers milk and eggs in cartons. But nowhere in her neighborhood, she discovers to her surprise, can she buy milk in handy, returnable bottles. Everything is in a carton. The alternative is taking milk from a milkman at almost twice the price.

She uses two low-phosphate detergents recommended by friends. She finds them adequate. Phosphates, at least in closed bodies of water such as Lake Erie, encourage vegetative growth, algae and the like, which devour available oxygen in the water forcing the fish away. The algae also leaves a scum which gives drinking water a bad taste and smell.

Now the Bolds separate their aluminum and steel cans, their non-returnable glass bottles, and return them all to the recycling centre, along with their bundled newspapers.

At night you can scarcely tell they are home. They turn out lights in unused rooms.

"We're going on, you know," Sue says.

"We'll keep on stamping the cans and separating the bottles and tying up the papers and holding down on the water and the electricity. But I keep wondering, even if we do, what's the use? Other people don't, and things will keep on getting bad."

CARDBOARD DESKS are saving about $50,000 in tax money during the census. The federal census office is using 4,000 of the 8½-pound, reusable desks in offices across Canada. Each desk costs $1.75, including shipping costs, and can bear the weight of two 200-pound men. Above two federal employees try one out for size. The cardboard desks cost $7,000, compared with an estimated $60,000 to rent conventional desks, or $520,000 to buy them.

DEAR ABBY . . .

Heavy Tastes

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: I am a 66-year-old man, in excellent health. My dear wife of over 40 years died four years ago and I am very lonely. I would like to find myself a lady friend, but I have a rather strange preference for heavy women.

I would like a woman who weighs anywhere from 250 to 300 pounds, and with a huge bust. Her age could be from 50 to 65 years old. Where could I find such a woman? Is there is a club in California I could join? I am not a prejudiced person. The lady could be any color. — Born In Europe

DEAR BORN: I know of no club that specializes in large women, but you should have no trouble if you have only one head. Just let a few friends know that you are in the marekt for a woman who is at least 250 pounds on the hoof, and wait for the stampede.

DEAR ABBY: I have been going with a gentleman I'll call "John" for three years. He wants to marry me and honeymoon in Europe. My problem is that when I first met John, I told him that I was only a year older than he, which is not true. I will need a passport and visa, which of course will bear my real age. While travelling together, a passport will be very difficult to conceal from John. Should I tell him my real age now? Should I wait until after we are married? Or should I try to keep it from him as long as possible? He may not want to marry me when he finds out how old I really am. — Anonymous, Naturally

DEAR ANONYMOUS: Tell him now and take your chances. If age makes that much difference to John, if you marry him first, he might terminate the marriage after he learns the truth.

DEAR ABBY: You said that you find "well-manicured" beards extremely attractive. For your information, you can no more manicure a beard than you can give your fingernails a haircut. Ray Z.

DEAR RAY: Landscape artists speak of "manicuring" a lawn, so if a lawn can be "manicured" — why not a beard?

DEAR ABBY: I invited a friend over, and she wanted to make prank phone calls, but I told her my parents don't like me to use the phone unless it's for a good reason. My parents weren't home at the time, but my mother called and asked me to go to the bus station and meet my uncle. My friend said she'd rather wait in my room so I went alone. When I was gone she made a prank long distance call.

We got the bill a month later and there was a $6.28 charge on it for a call to Florida! My parents were furious and made me pay for it. When I asked my friend if she made the call she laughed and said she did. How can I get her to pay me back? Mad.

DEAR MAD: You probably can't. I don't know how friendly you are with this girl, but you gained a very valuable insight into her character (or lack of it) for $6.28. A bargain at today's prices.

DROPOUT SCHOOL

Students Asked for Math

VANCOUVER (CP) — What subjects would you include in the curriculum of a school for teenagers who hate school? Good question.

For Hugh McCurrach, a 26-year-old former public school teacher, the answer was silk-screening, arts and crafts, black-and-white photography, some philosophy, and a portion of mathematics. Math was included because the students wanted it.

McCurrach is the director of the Spring Street Experience, a school for dropouts launched recently under the guidance of the Vancouver social planning department.

"Most of the kids have been in a fairly zero space for quite some time," says McCurrach. "They have dropped out, turned off learning, spent their time with TV and dope.

"Maybe we won't get accreditation from the education department in Victoria, but our kids will learn a lot that will be useful to them. Maybe we can even turn them back on to the enjoyment of learning."

The students of the Spring Street Experience decide which course they want; then it's up to McCurrach to find someone to teach it. Maybe a member of the staff can do the job; sometimes it will have to be an outside volunteer.

McCurrach wants to use the community at large as a tool to awaken the curiosity of the dropouts.

He says the school will follow the interests of the students, whatever they are. But he is determined to resist any drift toward the superdemocracy of a certain type of free school.

"If you mean by a free school one where you come when you want and do what you want to do, that wouldn't work around here. With these kids, who have been so averse to anything connected with school, that system would very quickly break down.

"A variety of schools for dropouts is possible, but the one here will mean you will have to get involved in a fairly intensive experience situation in small groups."

McCurrach wants to strike a balance between group pressure and anarchy. Students are expected to attend classes every day on a definite schedule. But if somebody doesn't want to do something the group is doing, Mr. McCurrach says he will sit down and talk with him.

The school is located on the sixth floor of an old warehouse in Vancouver's east end, and has been rebuilt and remodelled by three young people — the only three to stick it out so far.

Woman Engineer To Take Doctorate

VANCOUVER (CP) — The first woman to get a master's degree in mechanical engineering at the University of British Columbia says she's "not particularly mechanically inclined but more so than most women."

Marjorie Green, 27, says however that she does have good analytic ability which she'll test further in the next couple of years as she studies for her doctorate in mechanical engineering.

She decided to enter engineering after completing high school at Fort Macleod, Alta., and assessing her skills against available careers.

Mrs. Green, whose husband received his degree in mechanical engineering last year, says she'd like to work eventually in applied research, developing "new kinds of bearings, lubricants for bearings and metal-working processes."

Robert Kripps, 21, first man to graduate in home economics at UBC says he became interested in nutrition while experimenting with "moderate vegetarianism."

"The only other way I could study nutrition was in agriculture," he said, "and that has to do with animals. My main interest is human nutrition."

The son of Agnes Kripps, Social Credit member of the B.C. Legislature for Vancouver South, said he will continue research this summer on the enzyme system in algae, a potential source of food.

He said he hopes eventually to study for his master's degree but at present is negotiating for a research job in New Guinea or "somewhere in the South Seas."

Good Citizen

VANCOUVER (CP) — Margaret Ricketts of Vancouver has been named good citizen of the year by the Native Sons of British Columbia for her work with hospital patients and prisoners on parole. The 73-year-old grandmother spends hours providing food, clothing and kindness to the sick and needy families.

THE BETTER HALF — By Bob Barnes

"This $2 check, Mrs. Parker . . . How do you want it — in large or small bills?"

Baby Could Die From Good Shaking

LONDON (UPI) — Parents who give their babies a good shaking can kill them without leaving a clue, a neurosurgeon warned today.

A shaking can cause fatal blood clots on the brain but leave no visible injury, Dr. A. N. Guthkelch says in an article in the British Medical Journal.

Guthkelch, a consultant at Hull Royal Infirmary, examined "battered baby" cases admitted to the hospital and reported: "the mere absence of visible injury on the head does not exclude direct violence.

"One has the impression that 'a good shaking' is felt, at least by British parents, to be socially more acceptable and physically less dangerous than a blow on the head or elsewhere."

The doctor said he knew of one case in which a baby boy died after his mother had shaken him merely in an attempt to cure a fit of coughing.

WEIGHTY PROBLEM

LONDON (CP) — Fashion houses claim that the contraceptive pill is damaging their business. They say women who take it put on more weight than usual. Says a bra manufacturer: "The most popular size was 34B cup. Now it's 36B." Small-size dresses are hard to sell.

HOW'S YOUR HEARING?

Victoria, B.C. — A free offer of special interest to those who hear but don't understand words has been announced by Beltone. A replica (non-operating model) of the smallest Beltone aid ever made will be given absolutely free to anyone answering this advertisment.

The Lord is my shepherd: I shall not want,
He maketh me to lie down in green pastures: He leadeth me beside the still waters.
He restoreth my soul: He leadeth me in the paths of righteousness for His name's sake.
Yea, though I walk through the valley of the shadow of death, I will fear no evil: for thou art with me; thy rod and thy staff they comfort me.
Thou preparest a table before me in the presence of mine enemies; thou anointest my head with oil; my cup runneth over.
Surely goodness and mercy shall follow me all the days of my life: and I will dwell in the house of the Lord for ever.
PSALM 23.

9 IN MEMORIAM

BENNETT — In loving memory of Nellie, who passed away May 24, 1967.
Softly the leaves of memory fall,
Gently we gather and treasure them all.
Unseen, unheard, she is ever near,
Still loved, still missed, and very dear.
—Always loved and sadly missed by sister Alice Saunders, and son Robert Laird.

Tonight's Top Television Shows

CABLEVISION TEN LISTINGS. 7 p.m., Ladies First — Community Chest; 7:30 p.m., Project Travel; 8 p.m., Film features 1, Correlieu, 2, The Jolifou Inn; 8:30 p.m., Victoria Outdoorsmen, hunting and fishing; 9 p.m., You and The Law, Saanich Police; 9:30 p.m., Outlook, with Helen Beirnes.

MOD SQUAD. 7:30 p.m., Channels 4 and 8 (Rerun). Illegal entry of Mexicans into the U.S. is the theme of tonight's story. Fernando Lamas is guest star, portraying a police lieutenant of Mexican heritage who has condoned the illegal border crossings of young Mexicans into California. The Mod Squad becomes involved when an immigration agent is murdered and a young Mexican is suspected.

BEVERLY HILLBILLIES. 7:30 p.m., Channel 7 (Rerun). Granny is still obsessed with frogs. This time, she take a home-brewed sleeping concoction and it gives her a nightmare. She dreams that Elly May has married a giant frog.

G-E MONOGRAM SERIES. 8 p.m., Channel 5. "Fikaru the Black Rhinoceros" (Rerun). Don Knotts gets pre-empted for this interesting documentary on efforts to save the rhino from extinction. Canadian wildlife biologist John Stoddard, his wife and two children stayed in rhino country five years, studying the life style of the big animal. He is shown doping them with a dart gun, tagging them and altogether keeping track of them. E. G. Marshall narrates this interesting documentary.

IT WAS A VERY GOOD YEAR. 8 p.m., Channels 2 and 6. The year is 1933 . . . some of the events included the repeal of prohibition in the United States, Hitler's appointment as chancellor in Germany, and the various headline-making capers of Capone, Dillinger and Bonnie and Clyde. Mel Torme is the host.

TELESCOPE. 8:30 p.m., Channels 2 and 6. Iran is explored tonight. Featured are readings from Omar Khayyam's Rubaiyat and music with a Persian theme by Richard Strauss and Moussorgsky.

MOVIE OF THE WEEK. 8:30 p.m., Channel 4. "Assault on the Wayne." (Rerun.) Intrigue and suspense deep down in the ocean. Leonard Nimoy is commander of the nuclear submarine Anthony Wayne, and on a special mission (turning nuclear subs into ABM sites), he discoveres that enemy agents have infiltrated his crew. There is a fierce struggle for control, and an intriguing game of separating the loyal from the enemy. Other stars are Joseph Cotten, Dewey Martin, William Windom, and Keenan Wynn.

TUESDAY NIGHT MOVIE. 9 p.m., Channel 5. "The Love God." (Rerun). Don Knotts may have been pre-empted from his own show, but he's not to be denied this night on TV. He is starred, along with Anne Francis and Edmond O'Brien in this bit of nonsense about the publisher (Don) of a bird-watchers' magazine. O'Brien is a con artist who turns the bird-watchers' publication into a girlie magazine and Don unwittingly becomes an international sex symbol.

ALL IN THE FAMILY. 9:30 p.m., Channels 7 and 12. (Rerun). How relevant! Mike (Bob Reiner) invited a young couple into the house to spend the night, too. Archie (Carroll O'Connor) blows a gasket when he discovers the couple isn't married. Things just aren't done that way, or at least he would like to believe it.

MARCUS WELBY, M.D. 10 p.m., Channel 4. (Rerun). There is as much psychological administration as the application of medicine as Dr. Welby (Robert Young) helps rancher Wesley Hill (Glenn Corbett) face the loss of his kidney and the realization that he will be dependent on a kidney machine for the rest of his life. Chill Wills also guests as Wesley's father.

TONIGHT'S MOVIES

5:30 Channel 12: The Stand of Apache River (1953 Western) Stephen McNally, Julie Adams. Familiar western yarn about a group of strangers stranded in a secluded trading post and waiting for an inevitable Apache attack.

8:30 Channel 4: Assault on the Wayne (1970 Drama) Leonard Nimoy, Lloyd Hayne. A nuclear sub commander tries to carry out a top-secret mission despite a raging fever and sabotage by foreign agents in his crew.

9:00 Channel 5: The Love God? (1969 Comedy) Don Knotts, Anne Francis. Satire on smut peddling.

9:00 Channel 8: Black Water Gold (1970 Adventure) Aron Kincaid, France Nuyen. Made for TV adventure filmed at Nassau in the Bahamas.

11:00 Channel 13: The Girl from Monterey (1943 Comedy) Armida, Edgar Kennedy. A Mexican dancer comes to New York with her prize-fighting brother.

11:30 Channel 7: Hell and High Water (1933 Adventure) Richard Arlen, Judith Allen. Owner of a garbage scow falls heir to a girl and a baby at the same time.

11:50 Channel 2: Dreams (Swedish 1954 Comedy) Ingmar Bergman, Harriet Anderson. Two battles in the war between the sexes, directed with an ironic hand by Ingmar Bergman.

YOUR HEALTH: Dr. Walter Alvarez

Some of the people I see in my office with abdominal discomforts or various aches and pains here and there are suffering mainly from a very severe and distressing shyness. Then, the only way I can help them to feel better is to talk with them, and try to get them to see that in a way, they are overly involved with themselves.

Such persons should constantly be telling themselves that they are much more concerned about how they appear and what they say or do than other persons will ever be about them. Other people are absorbed in their own problems. The sensitive person long remembers his own embarrasing moments, but he promptly forgets the foolish or rude things other people did or said in his presence.

Every time that he starts worrying about some slip of the tongue, he can say to himself, "The other fellow probably did not notice it, or if he did, he will soon forget it."

The shy person would get along easily in public if he were to spend his time being interested, not in himself, but in the people he meets. Often when he has been silent he says, "I didn't know what to say," or "I couldn't think of anything to say." He could probably have handled the situation very easily by asking the people about him what they had been doing lately that was of interest. They would gladly have told him. People just love anyone who will listen to them talk.

Another help is to keep reading fine articles and books until one's mind is crammed with interesting information on all sorts of subjects. Then, even a very shy person is likely to be able to contribute something to many a conversation.

NEW YORK — The generation that professes to trust only those under 30 may be in trouble. One of its leading oracles, songwriter and folk singer Bob Dylan, passed that critical milestone Monday. Dylan regarded by some as one of the three greatest influences in today's pop music beside the Beatles and Elvis Presley, has gone from Woody Guthrie—like talking blues in his first album, circa 1962, through folk, protest and surrealistic drug songs to his present simple, happy, country-flavored songs.

DYLAN
. . . over 30

TEL AVIV — Ephraim Elrom, the Israeli consul-general in Istanbul killed by Turkish terrorists, was buried Monday. A police guard of honor fired three salvos into the air and policemen carried the coffin to the grave in tribute to the 27 years Elrom had served as an Israeli police officer.

KELOWNA — The Social Credit party was dubbed "a ruthless political machine" Saturday by Dave Barrett, British Columbia leader of the New Democratic Party. During a caucus of NDP MLAs here, Barrett said the Social Credit theme of being the party of the little man is just a myth. He said Kelowna and other areas are neglected "because they do not have fighting members of the opposition." Kelowna is represented in the legislature by Premier W. A. C. Bennett, leader of the Social Credit party which has been in power for 18 years.

WEST SPRINGFIELD, Mass — A minister has reversed a centuries-old church custom — that of passing the basket for a collection.

At Mittineague United Methodist church Sunday, Rev. Robert Sweet Jr. surprised his 175 parishioners by passing the buck to them.

He handed each churchgoer a new $1 bill and asked them to put their talents to work by investing the dollar, and returning their profits to the church in September.

MELBOURNE, Australia — A man blinded 35 years ago saw his wife for the first time Sunday and told her: "You're beautiful, love." John Crowe, 58, met his wife Jean at the airport here after undergoing an operation in New York last month to restore his eyesight, lost after a refrigerator explosion in 1936.

The couple was married in 1964.

HONIARA, British Solomons — A young New Zealand woman, feared lost at sea in a canoe nearly a month ago, has been rescued in good health from a remote island by a trading ship. Christine Bertaut, 24, left Pigeon Island near Santa Cruz, about 400 miles east of here, April 28. An extensive search for her was abandoned May 7.

The ship radioed Monday that Miss Bertaut had been taken aboard from the island of Utupua, 75 miles from Pigeon Island.

PITTSBURGH — John Bruce Drake came home from the war during the weekend — the First World War, this is. Drake, 71, joined the army in 1914 at the age of 15. But after he was discharged, he never communicated with his family again.

He showed up in suburban Natrona Heights and after asking directions from a service station attendant, went to see his brother and four sisters for a reunion.

"We recognized him immediately," said Mrs. Charles Decroo, who was four years old when she last saw her brother.

3,800 Sign CIC Petition

A total of 3,800 people in Victoria signed a petition to Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau Saturday urging him to stop foreign economic domination of Canada.

Members of the Committee for an Independent Canada collected signatures all day Saturday in 14 locations throughout the city.

Lack of petitioners rather than lack of interest among Victorians was the main reason the signatures collected fell short of the committee's 5,000-signature goal, said CIC chairman Peter Kuzaan.

"If we had more people collecting signatures we could easily have made the total."

Kuzaan said an average of seven out of 10 people approached signed the petition.

Just under 6,000 Victorians in all have contributed their signatures over the last five weeks.

May 28 is the shut-off date for signing.

The Victoria petition will be combined with petitions from all over Canada and presented to Trudeau in about six weeks, said Kuzaan.

The CIC's next project is to establish Independent Canada committees in Victoria high chools.

Laos Vets Need Heroin Treatment

WASHINGTON (Reuter) — Some South Vietnamese forces and American support personnel involved in the recent Laotian campaign needed treatment for heroin withdrawal pains because the drug was not easily obtainable, the House of Representatives foreign affairs committee reported today.

Congressional investigators also were told by reliable sources that high military and government officials in Southeast Asia, including the chief of the Laotian general staff, were deeply involved in the smuggling of heroin to South Vietnam.

These disclosures were outlined in a report by the committee's special study commission following a tour of nine countries to investigate the illegal heroin trade.

The report said that Asian governments now are responding to U.S. initiatives to curb the problem because it has affected the local populations.

"This is particularly true in the South Vietnamese military forces. We were told that during the South Vietnamese invasion of Laos, that some of the South Vietnamese troops who had been transferred from other areas of Vietnam on short notice had to be treated for withdrawal symptoms.

"Some U.S. personnel supporting the operation were also treated for withdrawal pains."

MANY USE DRUG

The study commission also noted an alarming increase in heroin addiction among American servicemen stationed overseas. It said that, as of May, 1971, there were an estimated 30,000 to 90,000 American troops in Southeast Asia using the drug.

In Vietnam alone some 10 to 15 per cent of American soldiers are addicted to heroin and at least 59 soldiers dide during a five-month period in 1970 from overdoses of heroin, the investigators said.

They added that heroin smuggling was extensively carried out with the help of high government and military officials in Thailand, Laos and South Vietnam.

Loyalists Seek Veto

OTTAWA (CP) — The Canadian Loyalist Association, claiming the Trudeau government is "hell bent on making Canada a French nation," is petitioning provincial premiers to veto any attempt to bring the constitution to Canada with power to amend it here.

The campaign was launched in advance of the federal-provincial constitutional conference set to open in Victoria June 14.

The association, which claims membership in "the thousands," says "... the present federal government is anxious to amend the constitution in order that French-language rights will be entrenched so that they cannot be successfully challenged." It has sent letters to nine provincial premiers, copies of which were released here Monday.

Up-Island Youth Dead

COURTENAY (CP) — Peter Frank Herman, 14, of Campbell River, was identified by police Sunday as the youth killed when a car in which he was riding left a road on the outskirts of this community and overturned Saturday night.

Richard Lapine, in his 20s, driver of the car, was in serious condition in hospital at nearby Comox.

Uvic Salmon May Outstrip Goldstream

The Greater Victoria Water District board plans to check into a salmon-growing operation at the University of Victoria that may be a better producer than Goldstream River.

Saanich Ald. Sandy Noel convinced board members today they should spend half a day at Uvic this year instead of the normal June tour of the water district operations.

The board came under criticism last fall when a threatened water shortage came close to forcing the board to cut off the water supply to Goldstream and preventing the salmon spawning run.

Noel said the university produces more salmon in an indoor-outdoor pool twice the size of the board room than Goldstream does in a year of natural spawning.

Mayor Courtney Haddock commented that the Goldstream spawning question was more "emotional" than critical, but agreed he would like to see Uvic's salmon production.

Other than jokes about whether or not they should bring fishing rods along, board members made no mention of what they might do with the knowledge of salmon growing they acquire at Uvic.

Bonallack Confident Of Walker Cup Win

ST. ANDREWS, Scotland (AP) — Mike Bonallack, a reticent Englishman who never admits the sun is shining until he sees it, vowed today his British team would win back the Walker Cup from the United States this week for the first time since 1938.

"We've got such a good team, all 10 of them, that I don't know who to play and who to leave out," said the 37-year-old British amateur champion and captain.

"We are at least even in the betting and I would put it just a little above that."

On the record this was a long shot.

STARTS WEDNESDAY

The British and American amateur golf teams square away Wednesday in a two-day tussle of foursomes and singles matches 24 altogether in the golden jubilee of the uniqu competition.

The Americans have won 22 times and lost only once in the biennial battle played on both sides of the water. This time the United States sent here a combination of age and youth that looks good enough to give a bookmaker the wilies.

John Winters, of Tulsa, Okla., the non-playing American captain, said: "We can adapt ourselves to these conditions even though seven of our team never have seen them."

The conditions he was talking about involved rain and cold descending on the fickle St. Andrews course, 6,951 yards long and par-72.

Tough Luck, But Good Try

DICKINSON, N.D. (AP) — Don't ask Dennis Doppler, Trinity high school band instructor, about his last attempted trip from here to Moose Jaw. He's still fuming.

Doppler, five chaperones and 62 students set out for the Canadian community in Saskatchewan to take part in a band festival.

One of the buses blew an engine before the students were picked up. A replacement was found and the contingent made it to the first ovenight stop in Canada when Doppler found there had been a scheduling mistake.

The band festival was the previous weekend.

The Only Way to Fly

NEWPORT BEACH, Calif. (AP) — A group of 150 enthusiasts here has revived old-fashioned, self-launched gliding, which they say is as close as man can come to flying like a bird.

The Low and Slow Club gathers weekends to soar from hillsides, covering 300 to 800 feet in flights lasting as long as 17 seconds.

The gliders used are usually two big wings held together with struts, with a space for the pilot.

"Wars took aviation out of the age-old dreams and shot us into dry technology," says Joe Faust, one of the founders of Low and Slow. "We're dedicated to bring the spirit of joy back to flight."

Jet Noise Panel Set

A panel discussion on jet aircraft noise will be held tonight in Sansche Hall, Sidney, at 8 p.m.

Esquimalt-Saanich MP David Anderson will be moderator.

Also on the panel will be two representatives of the federal department of transport, an environmentalist from the University of Victoria, and Joe Lott, principal of Claremont school.

The discussion is organized by Saanich and the Islands Liberal Association.

Sewage Plant Chamber Topic

DUNCAN — Russell Potter from Starboard Investments will be guest speaker at the Cowichan-Duncan Chamber of Commerce's luncheon meeting Wednesday to discuss the company's application to instal a sewage treatment plant at Cowichan Bay.

Representatives from the regional district, the Cowichan-Malahat branch of SPEC, and the Cowichan Bay Salmon Club will attend.

LADYSMITH BAT RABID

NANAIMO (CP) — A bat captured in the Ladysmith area near here was found to be suffering from rabies, says Dr. Peter Reynolds, director of the Central Vancouver Island Health Unit.

He warned that bats which fly in daylight are likely to be suffering from rabies.

Federal Minister To Review Cadets

Federal Minister of Public Works Arthur Laing will be reviewing officer when Royal Roads Military college holds its end-of-year ceremonies Wednesday, June 2.

The ceremony is open to the public and spectators should be seated by 1:30 p.m. At this time the cadet wing will form up on the parade square.

An academic procession will follow and Laing will arrive at 2 p.m.

Census Problem? Answer Available

Problems arising from the census questionnaire will be answered through a toll-free service.

census telephone answering service.

Service operation went into effect today and will be available every day except Sunday from 9 a.m. to 9 p.m. until June 4.

Telephone numbers are on the back of the census questionnaire. People outside the calling zones of the eight cities where the service operates may ask the operator for Zenith 0-1971, and one of the 1,290 staff members will answer.

Mexico Blanks Bermuda Squad

HAMILTON, Bermuda (CP) — Mexico downed Bermuda 2-0 in an Olympic Games soccer preliminary match Sunday.

Nest Sunday Bermuda plays Canada here and after the home side's poor display against Mexico, the Canadians are given a good chance of grabbing a win.

The Canadian team plays in Mexio City June 8, returns home for a game in Toronto against Bermuda June 13 and plays Mexico in Vancouver Aug. 24. The three teams make up Goup One in the preliminary competition leading to the World Cup.

In Goup Two are Guatemala, Surinam and Panama. Group Three has Barbados, El Salvador and the United States. Group Four consists of Jamaica and The Netherlands Antilles.

The winners of each group will play one another in the second round, and the two teams with the best records will enter the World Cup in Munich in August, 1972.

Cool-Aid Seeks Skilled Help

Volunteer carpenters, plumbers and electricians are urgently needed by Cool-Aid to complete renovations in the former Emmanuel Baptist Church in time for its planned June 1 opening as a hostel.

Cool-Aid spokesman Charles Barber said today the group needs skilled direction to install basic wiring, plumbing and carpentry, but can't afford to put the work out to contract.

Tradesmen who would like to help out should call 383-1951. They can work on the building at their convenience, Barber said.

AMARILLO PULLS OUT

AMARILLO, Tex. (AP) — Amarillo Wranglers have withdrawn from the Central Hockey League, leaving only six teams — Kansas City, Oklahoma City, Dallas, Fort Worth, Omaha and Tulsa — in the fold for next season.

HEARING PLANNED

SEATTLE (AP)—Two federal agencies will conduct a hearing June 22 on an application by Atlantic Richfield Co. to discharge refuse into the Strait of Georgia at Cherry Point.

The firm, which is building a refinery at Cherry Point, applied to construct an outfall pipe and diffuser to discharge refuse.

It's Time for Wallflowers

By HILDA BEASTALL

The last week of May is seed sowing time for wallflowers if the home gardener wants to raise some for their lovely perfume and rich colors. These are biennial plants, along with forget-me-nots, sweet williams, foxglove, Brompton stock and hollyhocks.

Hilda

The word means "two year": that is, they have a life cycle of two years. Seed is sown in May each year, the plants grow throughout summer, harden off during fall enough to endure our average winters in the open garden. Flowering takes place in spring, and into summer for some of the kinds, and normally the plants die when flowering ceases.

A plant or two will survive the second winter, but flowers are much inferior to the perfection of the first season of bloom. That is why we say "pull up the wallflowers as soon as most of the flowers fade."

The great reluctance of the home gardener to sow biennial seeds at the end of May is probably the reason why we seldom see a good display of sweet william, and particularly of Canterbury-bells.

These flowers used in quantity are marvellously unsophisticated for June weddings by those who wish to shun the formal and the predictable.

Double Canterbury-bells (the Cup-and-Saucer type) grown in separate colors of pink, white and blue repeat the wedding bell theme. Any family can raise these in their own garden for next year's wedding if they sow the seed now.

Plants are seldom if ever offered for sale — only the wallflowers seem to be around during September planting out time if you don't grow your own.

To sow the seed now, choose a piece of good soil with high overhead shade from hot sun. You can arrange a double gauze curtain on sticks a foot high off the ground.

Dampen the soil well, sow the seed thinly; cover lightly with screened fine compost. Then be sure that the soil does not dry out before and during germination. A light spray with a syringe is ideal.

Remove the artificial shade when leaves are well spread, for they need strong light to make them grow.

After the second pair of leaves is formed, transplant the seedlings (this applies to all biennials) to a place in good soil; the vegetable plot will have the best conditions. Space about five inches apart (double staggered rows if space is limited), shade from hot sun while becoming re-established.

During summer never let the plants suffer from drought, for any setback gives them woody stems, retarding their growth so that your results will be poor.

As early in September as you can prepare the soil where you wish to flower these lovely plants, get them moved. Keep the soil around their roots and no disturbance will occur.

Do not use peatmoss or fertilizer for these biennials; only compost, leafmould and good garden soil.

KARPIN ON BRIDGE

In today's deal, our declarer was unquestionably unlucky: he took two finesses, and they both lost. Had either one of them been successful, he would have fulfilled his contract. The fact is, however, that he misplayed the hand. Can you isolate his error? Neither side vulnerable. South deals.

The bidding:

| South | West | North | East |
|---|---|---|---|
| 1 ♠ | Pass | 2 ♠ | Pass |
| 4 ♠ | Pass | Pass | Pass |

Opening lead: King of ◇.

On West's opening lead of the diamond king, East encouraged a continuation of the suit by playing the eight-spot. West continued with the deuce of diamonds, East's ace winning. A third diamond lead was then made by East, which South ruffed.

The ace and king of trumps now gathered in the outstanding pieces, after which a club was led off the board, South finessing his jack. West took this trick with his queen, and exited with a club, South's king winning.

Declarer now elected to finesse East for the heart queen. He led a heart to dummy's king and returned a heart, inserting his ten-spot. As is evident, West's queen of hearts took the setting trick. What was declarer's misplay?

As declarer played the hand, he would have fulfilled his contract if East had possessed either the heart queen or the club queen. Or if, instead, he had elected to finesse against West for the queen of hearts. However, even if he had guessed the heart set-up correctly, his line of play was wrong, for he had a guaranteed contract without resorting to either a heart or a club finesse.

After drawing trumps, declarer should have cashed the ace and king of clubs. Next would come the jack of clubs, putting West into the lead (or, in theory, East, if East had been the possessor of the queen of clubs).

West would now be endplayed. If he returned a diamond (or a club, if he had one), dummy would trump as, simultaneously, South discarded his seven of hearts. And if, instead, West led a heart, declarer would get a "free" finesse, thus making three heart tricks regardless of which of the defenders had the queen of hearts.

But unfortunately for his side, our South declarer chose to stake his destiny on one of the two finesses being successful. As was stated, he was unlucky. If I might be permitted to editorialize, South got no more than he deserved.

Betty smiled. "Yes, we had planned to go," she said. "But Ann was sick and we couldn't leave her. Were there many at the meeting?"

"Only forty in all," replied Susan. "A few students, just half again as many teachers, and as many parents as teachers and students together. That's the lot."

How many teachers were there?

Canada-Mexico Trade Quadruples

By GORDON GRANT

MEXICO CITY (CP) — Saul Rae, Canadian ambassador to Mexico, said Monday he sees unmistakable signs of growing Canadian interest in Latin America—"an interest which is being warmly reciprocated."

Rae told the opening session of the week-long meetings of the Canadian Association of Latin American Studies, (CALAS) that Canada-Latin America trade had more than quadrupled since 1960, reaching "well over a billion dollars in 1970."

An important element in this expansion has been the system of export credits under the authority of the Export Development Corp., both through the Inter-American Development Bank, and directly to a number of Latin American countries including Mexico, Chile, Argentina and Brazil, he said.

"Over the past several years, of a total of about $650 million in such credits extended to foreign governments . . . credits totalling over $212 million have gone to Latin American countries."

TRADE GROWS

Referring to Mexican-Canadian trade, Rae said it had grown to $140 million in 1970 from $59 million in 1960.

These trade exchanges were normally in Canada's favor although they nearly balanced in 1969.

"While commercial balances have thus far been favorable to Canada, it is important to bear in mind . . . the expenditures on tourist account by the growing number of Canadians visiting Mexico."

"Precise figures were difficult to establish, but it was estimated that more than 70,000 Canadians would visit Mexico this year, spending more than $25 million," he said.

26 More Arrested In Egyptian Plot

FROM NORILSK TO MURMANSK

MOSCOW (CP-Reuter) — Prime Minister Trudeau left the Soviet Arctic city of Norilsk tonight for the ice-free Soviet port of Murmansk, near the Norwegian border.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said the Canadian leader praised Soviet construction work in permafrost regions. His comments were made in a speech at a luncheon given in his honor by city authorities in Norilsk, where the temperature was 14 degrees fahrenheit today.

An account of the prime minister's activities earlier on the weekend by Times bureau writer John Mika is on page 3.

Two Nation Plan Buried

By PAUL WHITELAW
Times Quebec Bureau

QUEBEC CITY — Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield officially buried the two-nations theory that was espoused by the Progressive Conservative Party in the 1968 election, as he addressed a weekend convention here of the party's Quebec wing.

Speaking to more than 500 people Saturday, Stanfield said the two-nations concept is not the only one which can "assure Quebec of its full development."

He said he was searching for the ideal formula which would consecrate unity in quality, strength in co-existence.

Linked by History, Geography

"Must we consider as two distinct nations, two groups of humans whom geography and history during more than two centuries have linked under the same destiny?" he asked.

The Tory leader avoided a direct reference to the constitutional resolutions that were adopted by the 200 delegates who took part in workshop discussions at the meeting of the Quebec wing.

Slightly more than 85 per ent of the delegates voted in favor of a resolution which recognizes that Canada is omposed of five distinct economic areas; the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario, the Prairies and British Columbia.

The distinction would be made exclusively on economic rounds.

The resolution adopted differed from a draft proposal discussed Saturday morning which urged that the five regions be based on cultural and other factors.

The delegates also voted that the Canadian government should be obliged to respect the individual character of these five regions, and that any power granted to one province should be offered to the others.

Provincial Jurisdiction

The Quebec wing of the party also accepted that provincial jurisdiction should be increased in some areas, while studying the possibility of increasing the federal powers in other areas.

Other sections of the constitutional resolution called for:

- A constitutional revision as soon as possible, and suggested this be achieved within the first two years of a new Progressive Conservative government in Ottawa;
- A new constitution redistribution of legislative and fiscal powers which would take into account the individual character of Quebec and the regional characteristics of other parts of Canada;
- Quebec would have priority power to legislate in the social welfare and cultural field;
- An immediate regionalization and decentralization by the Trudeau government of its decision-making system and its fiscal, monetary and budgetary policies.

Alie Philosophy Modified

The PC Association in Quebec also condemned as illogical, dangerous and not acceptable, the formal adoption of a constitutional amending formula before a new redistribution of powers between the federal and provincial governments.

The resolution was a modified version of the philosophies of Fernand Alie, who was deposed as president of the Quebec wing a few weeks ago after his statements on Quebec's role in Confederation threatened to cause a split between the Quebecers and the national party.

In an interview Stanfield said that the resolution adopted by the convention is in line with his personal thinking.

Stanfield said the resolution differs from Alie's stand on the need for five regions in Canada in that it recognizes plurality and regional differences without recognizing the autonomy of any one area, such as Quebec.

"I want to emphasize that this is a very moderate resolution. It has nothing to do with two nations, or five nations," he said.

Despite suggestions in some sections of the party that the theory of five regions would be difficult to explain outside

More of Everything In Victoria Parade

By ROBIN BURGESS

It was a lucky parade.

The longest Victoria Day parade ever, a massive, moving 100th birthday party for B.C., marched its 3½ hours under grey, rain-filled clouds without a drop falling on it.

Just as the last entry reached the end of the route down Douglas Street and as spectators began to disperse, the rain came.

And despite the clouds, the parade drew a big crowd.

By 8:30 a.m. Monday, scattered groups had already arrived to secure front-row seats for the big event. By 10 a.m. there were solid banks of spectators along both sides of the route from Maytair shopping centre to Humboldt.

Some parade-goers dressed up in honor of the centennial.

TOP HATS

Men in top hats and old-fashioned frock coats and women in 1867-style long dresses mingled casually with modern-day couples in blue jeans and hot pants.

It was a crowd full of happy, relaxed people in the mood to be entertained.

They weren't disappointed. The 3½-hour-long parade had all the right ingredients — color, music and movement in the right proportions.

A 15-minute historical "mini-parade" preceded the grand parade.

The mayors of Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Central Saanich rode by in antique cars. Mayor Courtney Haddock of Victoria grinned from beneath his old-fashioned top hat and flashed peace signs to the crowd as he passed.

Four RCMP officers in scarlet tunics sitting tall in the saddles of their black horses drew warm applause and admiring murmurs from spectators.

Ship Fire: Was It Arson?

VANCOUVER (CP) — Norwegian investigators were expected today to join Canadian officials checking the possibility of arson in a fire which killed 32 crew members of the cruise ship Meteor.

"We are not overlooking the possibility of arson," Staff Sgt. George Williams of the North Vancouver RCMP detachment said Monday after the second day of searching aboard the 2,856-ton Norwegian vessel by police, fire marshals and department of transport officials.

"It appears the fire started in three or four different places in the crew's sleeping quarters."

The last 11 bodies were recovered Monday from the burned-out forward section of the 300-foot ship, which was 60 miles from completing an eight-day Alaska cruise when the blaze broke out before dawn Saturday.

Fourteen bodies were found Saturday while deckhands fought to quell the blaze near Texada Island in the Strait of Georgia, which separates the British Columbia mainland from Vancouver Island. Seven others were discovered Sunday when the Meteor made Vancouver Harbor under her own power.

SERVICE SCHEDULED

A memorial service was to be held here today for the victims. One was a Canadian, 25-year-old Stephen Czernyk of Verdun, Que.

All 67 passengers and 59 other crew members escaped injury. Vancouver Coroner Glen McDonald will conduct an inquest Wednesday.

Staff Sgt. Williams said he knew of no evidence to indicate there had been an explosion aboard the Meteor before the fire. He said the RCMP investigation would probably wind up today.

Captain Cyril Burrill of the transport department said Monday night he didn't think a full federal inquiry would be called because Norway would conduct its own detailed study.

He said the department was performing its usual preliminary inquiry and would send the results to Transport Minister Don Jamieson, who could release a summary of the findings.

BODIES IN MORGUE

The Norwegian vice-consul in Vancouver, Tor Virding, said he was awaiting word on disposition of the bodies, which were taken to the morgue in Vancouver. Cremation was most likely for the 12 Norwegians among the 32.

It is believed the deaths were caused by burns and smoke inhalation when flames engulfed the sleeping quarters.

PODGORNY

Soviet Chief Arrives To Discuss Unrest

Times News Services

CAIRO — Police have arrested another 26 persons in connection with an alleged plot to overthrow President Anwar Sadat, following raids on the homes of former ministers and high-ranking party officials already under arrest, sources here announced today.

The disclosure was made just hours before the arrival of Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny, who received a tumultuous welcome when his visit, thought to reflect Russian concern over the downfall of several prominent Egyptian leftists, began this afternoon.

The raids uncovered documents and tape recordings at homes of 46 former leaders accused of plotting against Sadat. Homes raided included those of former vice-president Aly Sabry, ministers, senior executives and members of a secret group within the Arab Socialist Union, Egypt's sole political party.

Those arrested included professors, lawyers, board chairmen and ministry undersecretaries named in the documents, police sources said.

The raids began Sunday night and continued until late Monday night.

The authoritative daily newspaper, Al Ahram said police spent nine hours searching Sabry's villa and found about 50 recording tapes, films and documents on the secret ASU organization said to be involved in the coup attempt.

Other material seized included leaflets and speeches prepared by plotters to be broadcast after the success of the plot, foreign currency and plans for riots against Sadat, police sources said.

The Soviet leader, accompanied by some of his top aides, was received at the airport by President Sadat and other top-ranking Egyptian officials.

Large crowds lining the airport's observation deck cheered, waved and chanted welcoming slogans as a 21-gun salute was fired.

Soviet Thanked

ELECTION NEAR FOR SASKATCHEWAN

SASKATOON (CP) — Reliable sources in the provincial Liberal party say Premier Ross Thatcher will announce today that a provincial general election will be called for Wednesday, June 23.

Under the province's new election act the premier must give 28 days' notice of an election. Midnight tonight is the deadline for a June 23 election.

Premiers to Push Maritime 'Unity'

FREDERICTON (CP) — The premiers of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island signed an agreement here today formally establishing the Maritime Council of Premiers.

The council was proposed in a report on Maritime union, commissioned in 1968 by the three provinces, and released last November. Eventual political union of the provinces was recommended in the report.

The agreement, signed by Premiers Richard Hatfield of New Brunswick, Gerald Regan of Nova Scotia and Alex Campbell of Prince Edward Island, said the provinces were unanimous in "their desire to promote unity." But the word "union" was not used.

The ceremony, carried out in the assembly chamber of the New Brunswick legislature, precedes two days of closed talks by the three premiers.

Mr. Hatfield said that the signing was evidence of "a mutual determination" by the provinces to co-operate and Premier Campbell referred to the 15-minute ceremony as "a significant and happy occasion."

Mr. Regan expressed satisfaction that the provinces had been able to establish a council in only "the short period" since the report was released.

Mountain-Moving for Defence Discussed by NATO Planners

MITTENWALD, West Germany (CP) — Canadian Defence Minister Donald Macdonald and his colleagues on the NATO nuclear planning group today discussed ways to move mountains with nuclear weapons.

Macdonald and defence ministers or secretaries from seven other members of the alliance, including the United States and Britain, opened a Tuesday conference to discuss such matters as the possible use by NATO of tactical nuclear weapons to repel any enemy assault.

The use of nuclear explosives as demolition devices also was one of the topics discussed in the first day.

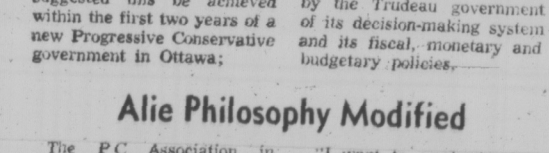
One NATO official said nuclear demolition charges be used to block an advancing enemy force.

"You might create a huge valley or move a mountain," he said.

Canada announced in 1969 that it would abandon its nuclear role in the NATO alliance at the end of this year.

West German Chancellor Willy Brandt spent about two hours at the initial meeting. He is understood to have encouraged delegates to pursue the possibility of talks with Warsaw-Pact nations on possible mutual troop reductions, but he warned against any lessening of concern over the divided status of Berlin.

Macdonald is known to have been one of those favoring abandonment of Canada's nuclear role. Because of this, Canadian officials say, his position at this meeting is an awkward one.



Nasser on'y had th' Israelis t' fight, but Sadat has all them an' his cabinet ministers, too.

Turkey Quake Toll Hits 856

ISTANBUL (AP) — Turkey's third earthquake this month jolted an area 150 miles south of Istanbul today. The quake registered six on the open-end Richter scale, powerful enough to cause extensive damage, but first word from the area said no serious damage had been reported.

Meanwhile, the death toll from the quake last Saturday at Bingol, in eastern Turkey, rose to 856 persons.

Swiftsure Flotilla Largest on Record

The largest Swiftsure armada on record is due to get the start gun off Brotchie Ledge Saturday with about 193 entries having been received at cutoff time today.

This is 25 boats more than the 1970 flotillas that raced in the annual Swiftsure and Juan de Fuca classics.

Swiftsure fever began surfacing this weekend as yachts with out-of-town burgees began gathering at local marinas in preparation.

●

Many old-time contestants will be back to try again. John Long's Mary Bower and Henry Kotkins' Diamond Head, which gave spectators a thrill of a lifetime by finishing bow and bow in a previous Swiftsure, will be here.

Such well-known boats as Maui veteran Bill Kiliam's Porpoise III, Joseph Williams Norwester and Bruce Henrick's Six Pack will be among the colorful contingent that will tie up in the Inner Harbor within the next few days.

There'll be many new boats — some with names resembling the ingredients of a fruit salad — Peaches, Banana and Rhubrab — to swell the entry list.

Mary Bower, Diamond Head Back to Try This Year

The 1970 Swiftsure star, George O'Brien's Endless Summer will not be here to repeat her trophy-swooping performance. The former Australian 12-metre Dame Pattie is too busy in Vancouver, being used as the base for Canada's proposed entry into the next Amrica's Cup competition.

●

In keeping with B.C.'s centennial celebrations, the SS Beaver will be used as the committee boat for the start.

The larger Swiftsure boats will get their start gun at 9:30 a.m. for the race which will take them 136.2 miles out to the site of the former Swiftsure Light and back.

Fifteen minutes later will be the start of the Juan de Fuca sailout which will have the smaller boats racing 75½ miles to Clallam Bay and back.

Two new Spencer 51s from the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club are expected to provide some pretty stiff competition in the Swiftsure race. They are Grant Brandlmayr's Cobo and Art Way's Andante II.

●

Not to be overlooked, either, is Bonar Davis' Hyak of the same club. She won herself top-place honors in the recent Strait of Georgia testing.

She's designed by Vancouver marine architect Peter Hatfield, who also designed another Swiftsure winner, Per Christoffersen's Terna, who will be back for another try.

Swiftsure fever will reach a pitch Friday evening at pre-race festivities in the Inner Harbor.

Burgees and pennants flying, competing boats will be given salutes in the roll call which has become a tradition in the festivities.

WHITBREAD BRUSHES ASIDE VIEW ROYAL PROTESTERS

A condominium row housing development in View Royal meets sewage disposal requirements "and as far as I am concerned this will work," senior medical health officer Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread said today.

He was commenting on a petition by 66 View Royal residents who say they are opposed to further construction or the development until certain questions are answered.

The development, Village GROVE, IS ALREADY UNDER WAY BY Bruce Cooke Building and Construction Co. Ltd. Thirty-eight one- and two-bedroom units are to be built just behind View Royal fire hall.

The petitioners, who have directed their questions to Whitbread and to the Capital Regional District board, ask:

● What assurance is made that waste water disposal will function properly over an extended period of time?

● If the disposal system malfunctions, who is responsible?

● Why was the permit approved by the health department when the department later asked the regional board to stop issuing building permits in View Royal because of health hazards caused by sewage disposal?

"We are not in a position to curtail building, we approve systems that come up to the requirements," said Whitbread.

"The regional board is the only group that can prevent building, like Central Saanich did in certain areas."

He said View Royal, an unincorporated area, should organize itself as a municipality "and then it can prevent this, that and the other thing." He also said View Royal residents should have approved sewers when they voted two or three years ago.

Bill Gerry, the regional district's director of engineering, was not available for comment this morning.

GAGLARDI REMARKS BLASTED

Rest Homes Protest to Bennett

The B.C. Rest Home Association dispatched a special delivery letter to Premier Bennett today condemning statements made by Rehabilitation Minister Gaglardi Friday.

Victoria rest home operator John Hanrahan said earlier he would sue Gaglardi for suggesting he was not fit to run a business.

Rest home operators, particularly many in the Victoria area, have been feuding with the provincial government for months over the grant paid them to take care of guests on welfare.

Last week 48 of them decided to turn in their provincial licences and switch to guest home status and in a phone interview from Kamloops Friday Gaglardi said:

"It's good to have these people come out from under the rocks and show the kind of people they really are."

Of Hanrahan he said: "Take Hanrahan, for instance. He hasn't one social assistance case in his home (Beacon Hill Villa). The Hanrahans don't belong in this type of business at all."

The letter to Bennett today says the association executive abhors the personal attack on Hanrahan and his family.

"We would point out in no uncertain terms to the minister that Mr. Hanrahan was unanimously elected as spokesman for the association and is firmly voicing the decisions of this group.

"We further state that Mr. Hanrahan will have the 100 per cent backing of the association in any action he deems to be necessary to protect himself and his family from this and any further verbal abuse."

Hanrahan said today another four or five licences from rest home operators at Port Alberni, Nanaimo and Duncan have been forwarded to the association, to be returned to the government.

NO EVICTIONS

The rest home operators are now paid $5 to about $5.50 a day by the province to care for welfare cases and they say they cannot provide the necessary service for this rate.

The Victoria branch of the association last week discarded the idea of mass eviction of welfare guests. They had threatened to deliver such cases to the nearest general hospital en masse.

As operators of guest homes rather than rest homes they argue their clients will be in the same position as guests at a hotel. If they can't pay they will have to leave and become the responsibility of either the municipality or the province.

Hanrahan said rest home operators in Toronto are currently engaged in a similar dispute with the Ontario government. Operators there are now paid $10.50 a day and have threatened eviction of welfare cases if this allowance isn't increased to $16.50.

French Student Wins Top Prize

The winner of the Governor-General's Medal for 1971 at the University of Victoria is Ralph William Sarkonak, 2612 Blackwood Street, Victoria.

The medal is awarded to the student graduating in arts or science with the highest grade point average.

Sarkonak, a student in honors French, has been a consistent scholarship and prize winner throughout his undergraduate years.

Nels Granewall, secretary to the senate committee on awards, who announced the 1971 prize winners today, said, "He is tops, outstanding. There was no question about it. Sarkonak was a clear-cut winner."

Sarkonak won a $500 president's scholarship to Uvic on graduation from Victoria Senior Secondary. He was a winner of the Adeline Julienne-Deloume scholarship for three consecutive years.

Sarkonak is one of the graduating students who have asked to have president Bruce J. Partridge's signature left off their degrees.

The Maxwell Cameron silver medal and prize awarded to two students completing the final year in the bachelor of education course, one specializing in elementary and one in secondary, with first class honors in practice teaching, have been awarded to Sister Trudy-Anne Richardson, 2494 Arbutus Road, and Kathrine Antonia Golobic, RR 2, Nanaimo.

Pat Bay Highway Crash Sends Five to Hospital

Five persons are in hospital today following a grinding two-car collision at 8:35 a.m. on the Patricia Bay Highway near Island View Road in Central Saanich.

Injured are Mr. and Mrs. James Bigsby of 1812 W. 36th Ave. in Vancouver, their three-year-old son David, an 18-year-old girl Margot Taylor, address unavailable, and Thomas A. Quinnett, of 2370 Brethour in Sidney.

All are reported in either fair or good condition. Central Saanich police said today a car driven by James Bigsby, 28, was travelling north on the highway when it collided with another car driven by Quinnett.

Bigsby's car spun sideways then fell on its side, police said. Both Bigsby's and Quinnett's car were total losses.

James Bigsby and his son David, three, were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. Both were operated upon this morning for head injuries, and are reported to be in fair condition.

Mrs. Bigsby and Miss Taylor were taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital. Both suffered facial lacerations, and Mrs. Bigsby also sustained a knee injury. Both are reported in good condition.

Quinnett was taken to Rest Haven Hosptial in Sidney with a broken arm. Police said he is in satisfactory condition.

Quinnett was the only passenger in his car.

Police said the accident occurred a few hundred yards north of Island View road. Attending the accident were two Central Saanich ambulances, one Sidney ambulance, Central Saanich and Saanich police and RCMP.

A St. Joseph's Hospital spokesman said the Bigsby's are originally from Victoria. James Bigsby is a student at Simon Fraser University in Burnaby, the spokesman said.

Q. Could you please advise me of the address of one of the steel manufacturing companies in Japan who are buying coking coal from Alberta?—N.S.

A. The biggest customer is the steel consortium Nippon Kokan Kaisha, which may be reached via Japan External Trade Organization, 510 West Hastings, Vancouver.

Q. If you wish to complain of doctor's ethics, whom do you contact?—F.G.R.

A. Local complaints may be registered with the Victoria Medical Society, which has offices at Royal Jubilee Hospital. The supreme arbiter for the province is College of Physicians and Surgeons of B.C., 1807 West 10th St., Vancouver.

Weekenders Get Trapped In Huge Traffic Snarls

Rain washed out the latter hours of the holiday weekend but sunshine is on the way briefly.

The weather office forecasts continued clearing Wednesday for Greater Victoria and at least some sunny intervals Thursday. But there's a hint of more clouds and rain coming after that.

While holiday travellers in the interior sometimes found themselves in monster traffic jams Monday, B.C. ferries said today only one extra ferry at 11 p.m. was needed to clean up traffic at the Swartz Bay terminal Monday night.

During the afternoon some travellers had to wait two hours and a few three hours to get aboard for the mainland. The same situation prevailed at Nanaimo. Traffic from the Tsawwassen terminal was reported as light.

Traffic backed up 13 miles at Hope Monday afternoon towards Princeton and north of Hope the line extended for nearly 10 miles on the Trans-Canada Highway. It was just a matter of too many vehicles. There were no traffic accidents.

Vacationers returning from the Sunshine Coast area were delayed as much as five hours.

Two minor accidents on the Port Mann bridge tied up traffic for three-quarters of an hour Monday evening. Heavy traffic through the Deas tunnel continued until early today.

The traffic branch of the Colwood RCMP detachment said today that while traffic on the Malahat was heavy Monday it kept moving. There were no major accidents.

FROM NORILSK TO MURMANSK

MOSCOW (CP-Reuter) — Prime Minister Trudeau left the Soviet Arctic city of Norilsk tonight for the ice-free Soviet port of Murmansk, near the Norwegian border.

Tass, the official Soviet news agency, said the Canadian leader praised Soviet construction work in permafrost regions. His comments were made in a speech at a luncheon given in his honor by city authorities in Norilsk, where the temperature was 14 degrees fahrenheit today.

An account of the prime minister's activities earlier on the weekend by Times bureau writer John Mika is on page 3.

Two Nation Plan Buried

By PAUL WHITELAW
Times Quebec Bureau

QUEBEC CITY — Opposition Leader Robert Stanfield officially buried the two-nations theory that was espoused by the Progressive Conservative Party in the 1968 election, as he addressed a weekend convention here of the party's Quebec wing.

Speaking to more than 500 people Saturday, Stanfield said the two-nations concept is not the only one which can "assure Quebec of its full development."

He said he was searching for the ideal formula which would consecrate unity in quality, strength in co-existence.

Linked by History, Geography

"Must we consider as two distinct nations, two groups of humans whom geography and history during more than two centuries have linked under the same destiny?" he asked.

The Tory leader avoided a direct reference to the constitutional resolutions that were adopted by the 200 delegates who took part in workshop discussions at the meeting of the Quebec wing.

Slightly more than 85 per cent of the delegates voted in favor of a resolution which recognizes that Canada is composed of five distinct economic areas: the Maritimes, Quebec, Ontario, the Prairies and British Columbia.

The distinction would be made exclusively on economic grounds.

The resolution adopted differed from a draft proposal discussed Saturday morning which urged that the five regions be based on cultural and other factors.

The delegates also voted that the Canadian government should be obliged to respect the individual character of these five regions, and that any power granted to one province should be offered to the others.

Provincial Jurisdiction

The Quebec wing of the party also accepted that provincial jurisdiction should be increased in some areas, while studying the possibility of increasing the federal powers in other areas.

Other sections of the constitutional resolution called for:

- A constitutional revision as soon as possible, and suggested this be achieved within the first two years of a new Progressive Conservative government in Ottawa;
- A new constitution redistribution of legislative and fiscal powers which would take into account the individual character of Quebec and the regional characteristics of other parts of Canada;
- Quebec would have priority power to legislate in the social welfare and cultural field;
- An immediate regionalization and decentralization by the Trudeau government of its decision-making system and its fiscal, monetary and budgetary policies.

Alie Philosophy Modified

The PC Association in Quebec also condemned as illogical, dangerous and not acceptable, the formal adoption of a constitutional amending formula before a new redistribution of powers between the federal and provincial governments.

The resolution was a modified version of the philosophies of Fernand Alie, who was deposed as president of the Quebec wing a few weeks ago after his statements on Quebec's role in Confederation threatened to cause a split between the Quebecers and the national party.

In an interview Stanfield said that the resolution adopted by the convention is in line with his personal thinking.

Stanfield said the resolution differs from Alie's stand on the need for five regions in Canada in that it recognizes plurality and regional differences without recognizing the autonomy of any one area, such as Quebec.

"I want to emphasize that this is a very moderate resolution. It has nothing to do with two nations, or five nations," he said.

Despite suggestions in some sections of the party that the theory of five regions would be difficult to explain outside

More of Everything In Victoria Parade

By ROBIN BURGESS

It was a lucky parade.

The longest Victoria Day parade ever, a massive, moving 100th birthday party for B.C., marched its 3½ hours under grey, rain-filled clouds without a drop falling on it.

Just as the last entry reached the end of the route down Douglas Street and as spectators began to disperse the rain came.

And despite the clouds, the parade drew a big crowd.

By 8:30 a.m. Monday, scattered groups had already arrived to secure front-row seats for the big event. By 10 a.m. there were solid banks of spectators along both sides of the route from Mayfair shopping centre to Humboldt.

Some parade-goers dressed up in honor of the centennial.

TOP HATS

Men in top hats and old-fashioned frock coats and women in 1867-style long dresses mingled casually with modern-day couples in blue jeans and hot pants.

It was a crowd full of happy, relaxed people in the mood to be entertained.

They weren't disappointed. The 3½-hour-long parade had all the right ingredients — color, music and movement in the right proportions.

A 15-minute historical "mini-parade" preceded the grand parade.

The mayors of Victoria, Saanich, Oak Bay, Esquimalt and Central Saanich rode by in antique cars. Mayor Courtney Haddock of Victoria grinned from beneath his old-fashioned top hat and flashed peace signs to the crowd as he passed.

Four RCMP officers in scarlet tunics sitting tall in the saddles of their black horses drew warm applause and admiring murmurs from spectators.

There were displays of vintage farm equipment, an old-time steam engine with a lively whistle and a grey-

26 More Arrested In Egyptian Plot

Ship Fire: Was It Arson?

VANCOUVER (CP) — Norwegian investigators were expected today to join Canadian officials checking the possibility of arson in a fire which killed 32 crew members of the cruise ship Meteor.

"We are not overlooking the possibility of arson," Staff Sgt. George Williams of the North Vancouver RCMP detachment said Monday after the second day of searching aboard the 2,856-ton Norwegian vessel by police, fire marshals and department of transport officials.

"It appears the fire started in three or four different places in the crew's sleeping quarters."

The last 11 bodies were recovered Monday from the burned-out forward section of the 300-foot ship, which was 60 miles from completing an eight-day Alaska cruise when the blaze broke out before dawn Saturday.

Fourteen bodies were found Saturday while deckhands fought to quell the blaze near Texada Island in the Strait of Georgia, which separates the British Columbia mainland from Vancouver Island. Seven others were discovered Sunday when the Meteor made Vancouver Harbor under her own power.

SERVICE SCHEDULED

A memorial service was to be held here today for the victims. One was a Canadian, 25-year-old Stephen Czernyk of Verdun, Que.

All 67 passengers and 59 other crew members escaped injury. Vancouver Coroner Glen McDonald will conduct an inquest Wednesday.

Staff Sgt. Williams said he knew of no evidence to indicate there had been an explosion aboard the Meteor before the fire. He said the RCMP investigation would probably wind up today.

Captain Cyril Burrill of the transport department said Monday night he didn't think a full federal inquiry would be called because Norway would conduct its own detailed study.

He said the department was performing its usual preliminary inquiry and would send the results to Transport Minister Don Jamieson, who could release a summary of the findings.

BODIES IN MORGUE

The Norwegian vice-consul in Vancouver, Tor Virding, said he was awaiting word on disposition of the bodies, which were taken to the morgue in Vancouver. Cremation was most likely for the 12 Norwegians among the 32.

It is believed the deaths were caused by burns and smoke inhalation when flames engulfed the sleeping quarters.

Soviet Chief Arrives To Discuss Unrest

Times News Services

CAIRO — Police have arrested another 26 persons in connection with an alleged plot to overthrow President Anwar Sadat, following raids on the homes of former ministers and high-ranking party officials already under arrest, sources here announced today.

The disclosure was made just hours before the arrival of Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny, who received a tumultuous welcome when his visit, thought to reflect Russian concern over the downfall of several prominent Egyptian leftists, began this afternoon.

The raids uncovered documents and tape recordings at homes of 46 former leaders accused of plotting against Sadat. Homes raided included those of former vice-president Aly Sabry, ministers, senior executives and members of a secret group within the Arab Socialist Union, Egypt's sole political party.

Those arrested included professors, lawyers, board chairmen and ministry undersecretaries named in the documents, police sources said.

The raids began Sunday night and continued until late Monday night.

The authoritative daily newspaper Al Ahram said police spent nine hours searching Sabry's villa and found about 50 recording tapes, films and documents on the secret ASU organization said to be involved in the coup attempt.

Other material seized included leaflets and speeches prepared by plotters to be broadcast after the success of the plot, foreign currency and plans for riots against Sadat, police sources said.

The Soviet leader, accompanied by some of his top aides, was received at the airport by President Sadat and other top-ranking Egyptian officials.

Large crowds lining the airport's observation deck cheered, waved and chanted welcoming slogans as a 21-gun salute was fired.

ELECTION NEAR FOR SASKATCHEWAN

SASKATOON (CP) — Reliable sources in the provincial Liberal party say Premier Ross Thatcher will announce today that a provincial general election will be called for Wednesday, June 23.

Under the province's new election act the premier must give at least 28 days' notice of an election. Midnight tonight is the deadline for a June 23 election.

Premiers to Push Maritime 'Unity'

FREDERICTON (CP) — The premiers of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island signed an agreement here today formally establishing the Maritime Council of Premiers.

The council was proposed in a report on Maritime unions commissioned in 1968 by the three provinces, and released last November. Eventual political union of the provinces was recommended in the report.

The agreement, signed by Premiers Richard Hatfield of New Brunswick, Gerald Regan of Nova Scotia and Alex Campbell of Prince Edward Island, said the provinces were unanimous in "their desire to promote unity." But the word "union" was not used.

The ceremony carried out in the assembly chamber of the New Brunswick legislature, precedes two days of closed talks by the three premiers.

Mr. Hatfield said that the signing was evidence of "a mutual determination" by the provinces to co-operate and Premier Campbell referred to the 15-minute ceremony as "a significant and happy occasion."

Mr. Regan expressed satisfaction that the provinces had been able to establish a council in only "the short period" since the report was released.

HELLYER'S NEW PARTY AIMS FOR WAGE, PRICE CONTROLS

OTTAWA (CP) — Paul Hellyer, once candidate for the Liberal leadership, Tuesday launched a new political movement called Action Canada.

Mr. Hellyer told a crowded news conference the major aims will be be full employment and stable prices.

The means action Canada would advocate would be the imposition of mandatory wage and price guides.

There was "no other way" to get compliance from those with monopoly power.

Action Canada also advocated "immediate and fair tax cuts" regardless of the economic effect. The psychological stimulus is "much needed," Mr. Hellyer said.

The 47-year-old member of Parliament for Toronto Trinity, who declared himself an Independent Liberal last week, said Action Canada is "a political movement, open to all Canadians."

Among those on the platform with Mr. Hellyer was Reid Scott, former New Democrat member of Parliament and now a Toronto alderman.

Listed on an advertising sheet beneath Mr. Hellyer's name as founding chairman were 24 names, including Mr. Scott's.

Names on the list:

Stephen Kuz, a lawyer; Rose Vaszary, a housekeeper; Yuri Shymko, a teacher; Theresa Murohy, a housewife; L. J. Birchall, a retired air commodore; Jim MacLean, a high school student; Joe Carenza, an insurance underwriter; Theodore Struthers, a senior citizen; and Mary Fraser, a school trustee, all of Toronto.

Richard Lord, engineer; Henriette Inkel, public relations; Wilder Penfield Jr., teacher; Henri Laurier, lawyer; and W. E. Bussiere, trust officer, all of Montreal.

Peggy Ross, doctor; Peter J. Parry, businessman; and William Catalano, dentist, all of Vancouver.

Others: Broker Donald F. Ripley, Halifax; housewife Jean Meltzer, Edmonton; Marcel M. Therien, a real estate economist from Trois-Rivieres, Que.; Thomas Gordon Anderson, a farmer from Elgin, Ont.; Carman Jackson, a carpenter from Burnaby, B.C.; and Tadeusz Jost, a college professor.

Swiftsure Flotilla Largest on Record

The largest Swiftsure armada on record is due to get the start gun off Brotchie Ledge Saturday with about 193 entries having been received at cutoff time today.

This is 25 boats more than the 1970 flotillas that raced in the annual Swiftsure and Juan de Fuca classics.

Swiftsure fever began surfacing this weekend as yachts with out-of-town burgees began gathering at local marinas in preparation.

●

Many old-time contestants will be back to try again. John Long's Mary Bower and Henry Kotkins' Diamond Head, which gave spectators a thrill of a lifetime by finishing bow and bow in a previous Swiftsure, will be here.

Such well-known boats as Maui veteran Bill Kiliam's Porpoise III, Joseph Williams Norwester and Bruce Henrick's Six Pack will be among the colorful contingent that will tie up in the Inner Harbor within the next few days.

There'll be many new boats — some with names resembling the ingredients of a fruit salad — Peaches, Banana and Rhubarb — to swell the entry list.

Mary Bower, Diamond Head Back to Try This Year

The 1970 Swiftsure star, George O'Brien's Endless Summer will not be here to repeat her trophy-swooping performance. The former Australian 12-metre Dame Pattie is too busy in Vancouver, being used as the base for Canada's proposed entry into the next Amrica's Cup competition.

●

In keeping with B.C.'s centennial celebrations, the SS Beaver will be used as the committee boat for the start.

The larger Swiftsure boats will get their start gun at 9:30 a.m. for the race which will take them 136.2 miles out to the site of the former Swiftsure Light and back.

Fifteen minutes later will be the start of the Juan de Fuca sailout which will have the smaller boats racing 75½ miles to Clallam Bay and back.

Two new Spencer 51s from the Royal Vancouver Yacht Club are expected to provide some pretty stiff competition in the Swiftsure race. They are Grant Brandlmayr's Coho and Art Way's Andante II.

●

Not to be overlooked, either, is Bonar Davis' Hyak of the same club. She won herself top-place honors in the recent Strait of Georgia testing.

She's designed by Vancouver marine architect Peter Hatfield, who also designed another Swiftsure winner, Per Christoffersen's Terna, who will be back for another try.

Swiftsure fever will reach a pitch Friday evening at prerace festivities in the Inner Harbor.

Burgees and pennants flying, competing boats will be given salutes in the roll call which has become a tradition in the festivities.

Adding another touch of marine flavor will be a sunset ceremony by the guard and band of the Rainbow Royal Canadian Sea Cadet Corps.

WHITBREAD BRUSHES ASIDE VIEW ROYAL PROTESTERS

A condominium row housing development in View Royal meets sewage disposal requirements "and as far as I am concerned this will work," senior medical health officer Dr. J. L. M. Whitbread said today.

He was commenting on a petition by 66 View Royal residents who say they are opposed to further construction or the development until certain questions are answered.

The development, Village Grove, is already under way by Bruce Cooke Building and Construction Co. Ltd. Thirty-eight one and two-bedroom units are to be built just behind View Royal fire hall.

The petitioners, who have directed their questions to Whitbread and to the Capital Regional District board, ask:

● What assurance is made that waste water disposal will function properly over an extended period of time?

● If the disposal system malfunctions, who is responsible?

● Why was the permit approved by the health department when the department later asked the regional board to stop issuing building permits in View Royal because of health hazards caused by sewage disposal?

"We are not in a position to curtail building, we approve systems that come up to the requirements," said Whitbread.

"The regional board is the only group that can prevent building, like Central Saanich did in certain areas."

He said View Royal, an unincorporated area, should organize itself as a municipality and "then it can prevent this, that and the other thing." He also said View Royal residents should have approved sewers when they voted two or three years ago.

Bill Gerry, the regional district's director of engineering, was not available for comment this morning.

GAGLARDI REMARKS BLASTED

Rest Homes Protest to Bennett

The B.C. Rest Home Association dispatched a special delivery letter to Premier Bennett today condemning statements made by Rehabilitation Minister Gaglardi Friday.

Victoria rest home operator John Hanrahan said earlier he would sue Gaglardi for suggesting he was not fit to run a business.

Rest home operators, particularly many in the Victoria area, have been feuding with the provincial government for months over the grant paid them to take care of guests on welfare.

Last week 48 of them decided to turn in their provincial licences and switch to guest home status and in a phone interview from Kamloops Friday Gaglardi said:

"It's good to have these people come out from under the rocks and show the kind of people they really are."

Of Hanrahan he said: "Take Hanrahan, for instance. He hasn't one social assistance case in his home (Beacon Hill Villa). The Hanrahans don't belong in this type of business at all."

The letter to Bennett today says the association executive abhors the personal attack on Hanrahan and his family.

"We would point out in no uncertain terms to the minister that Mr. Hanrahan was unanimously elected as spokesman for the association and is firmly voicing the decisions of this group.

"We further state that Mr. Hanrahan will have the 100 per cent backing of the association in any action he deems to be necessary to protect himself and his family from this and any further verbal abuse."

Hanrahan said today another four or five licences from rest home operators at Port Alberni, Nanaimo and Duncan have been forwarded to the association, to be returned to the government.

NO EVICTIONS

The rest home operators are now paid $5 to about $5.50 a day by the province to care for welfare cases and they say they cannot provide the necessary service for this rate.

The Victoria branch of the association last week discarded the idea of mass eviction of welfare guests. They had threatened to deliver such cases to the nearest general hospital en masse.

As operators of guest homes rather than rest homes they argue their clients will be in the same position as guests at a hotel. If they can't pay they will have to leave and become the responsibility of either the municipality or the province.

Hanrahan said rest home operators in Toronto are currently engaged in a similar dispute with the Ontario government. Operators there are now paid $10.50 a day and have threatened eviction of welfare cases if this allowance isn't increased to $16.50.

French Student Wins Top Prize

The winner of the Governor-General's Medal for 1971 at the University of Victoria is Ralph William Sarkonak, 2612 Blackwood Street, Victoria.

The medal is awarded to the student graduating in arts or science with the highest grade point average.

Sarkonak, a student in honors French, has been a consistent scholarship and prize winner throughout his undergraduate years.

Neis Granewall, secretary to the senate committee on awards, who announced the 1971 prize winners today, said, "He is tops, outstanding. There was no question about it. Sarkonak was a clear-cut winner."

Sarkonak won a $500 president's scholarship to Uvic on graduation from Victoria Senior Secondary. He was a winner of the Adeline Julienne Deloume scholarship for three consecutive years.

Sarkonak is one of the graduating students who have asked to have president Bruce J. Partridge's signature left off their degrees.

The Maxwell Cameron silver medal and prize awarded to two students completing the final year in the bachelor of education course, one specializing in elementary and one in secondary, with first class honors in practice teaching, have been awarded to Sister Trudy-Anne Richardson, 2494 Arbutus Road, and Kathrine Antonia Golobic, RR 2, Nanaimo.

Weekenders Get Trapped In Huge Traffic Snarls

Rain washed out the latter hours of the holiday weekend but sunshine is on the way briefly.

The weather office forecasts continued clearing Wednesday for Greater Victoria and at least some sunny intervals Thursday. But there's a hint of more clouds and rain coming after that.

While holiday travellers in the interior sometimes found themselves in monster traffic jams Monday, B.C. ferries said today only one extra ferry at 11 p.m. was needed to clean up traffic at the Swartz Bay terminal Monday night.

During the afternoon some travellers had to wait two hours and a few three hours to get aboard for the mainland. The same situation prevailed at Nanaimo. Traffic from the Tsawwassen terminal was reported as light.

Traffic backed up 13 miles at Hope Monday afternoon towards Princeton and north of Hope the line extended for nearly 10 miles on the Trans-Canada Highway. It was just a matter of too many vehicles. There were no traffic accidents.

Vacationers returning from the Sunshine Coast area were delayed as much as five hours.

Two minor accidents on the Port Mann bridge tied up traffic for three-quarters of an hour Monday evening. Heavy traffic through the Deas tunnel continued until early today.

The traffic branch of the Colwood RCMP detachment said today that while traffic on the Malahat was heavy Monday it kept moving. There were no major accidents.

Pat Bay Highway Crash Sends Five to Hospital

Five persons are in hospital today following a grinding two-car collision at 8:35 a.m. on the Patricia Bay Highway near Island View Road in Central Saanich.

Injured are Mr. and Mrs. James Bigsby of 1812 W. 36th Ave in Vancouver, their three-year-old son David, an 18-year-old girl Margot Taylor, address unavailable, and Thomas A. Quinnett, of 2370 Brethour in Sidney.

All are reported in either fair or good condition. Central Saanich police said today a car driven by James Bigsby, 28, was travelling north on the highway when it collided with another car driven by Quinnett.

Bigsby's car spun sideways then fell on its side, police said. Both Bigsby's and Quinnett's car were total losses.

James Bigsby and his son David, three, were taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. Both were operated upon this morning for head injuries, and are reported to be in fair condition.

Mrs. Bigsby and Miss Taylor were taken to Royal Jubilee Hospital. Both suffered facial lacerations, and Mrs. Bigsby also sustained a knee injury. Both are reported in good condition.

Quinnett was taken to Rest Haven Hosptial in Sidney with a broken arm. Police said he is in satisfactory condition.

Quinnett was the only passenger in his car.

Police said the accident occurred a few hundred yards north of Island View road. Attending the accident were two Central Saanich ambulances, one Sidney ambulance, Central Saanich and Saanich police and RCMP.

A St. Joseph's Hospital spokesman said the Bigsby's are originally from Victoria. James Bigsby is a student at Simon Fraser University in Burnaby.

Ship Fire: Was It Arson?

VANCOUVER (CP) — Norwegian investigators were expected today to join Canadian officials checking the possibility of arson in a fire which killed 32 crew members of the cruise ship Meteor.

"We are not overlooking the possibility of arson," Staff Sgt. George Williams of the North Vancouver RCMP detachment said Monday after the second day of searching aboard the 2,856-ton Norwegian vessel by police, fire marshals and department of transport officials.

"It appears the fire started in three or four different places in the crew's sleeping quarters."

The last 11 bodies were recovered Monday from the burned-out forward section of the 300-foot ship, which was 60 miles from completing an eight-day Alaska cruise when the blaze broke out before dawn Saturday.

Fourteen bodies were found Saturday while deckhands fought to quell the blaze near Texada Island in the Strait of Georgia, which separates the British Columbia mainland from Vancouver Island. Seven others were discovered Sunday when the Meteor made Vancouver Harbor under her own power.

SERVICE SCHEDULED

A memorial service was to be held here today for the victims. One was a Canadian, 25-year-old Stephen Czernyk of Verdun, Que.

All 67 passengers and 59 other crew members escaped injury. Vancouver Coroner Glen McDonald will conduct an inquest Wednesday.

Staff Sgt. Williams said he knew of no evidence to indicate there had been an explosion aboard the Meteor before the fire. He said the RCMP investigation would probably wind up today.

Captain Cyril Burrill of the transport department said Monday night he didn't think a full federal inquiry would be called because Norway would conduct its own detailed study.

He said the department was performing its usual preliminary inquiry and would send the results to Transport Minister Don Jamieson, who could release a summary of the findings.

BODIES IN MORGUE

The Norwegian vice-consul in Vancouver, Tor Virding, said he was awaiting word on disposition of the bodies, which were taken to the morgue in Vancouver. Cremation was most likely for the 12 Norwegians among the 32.

It is believed the deaths were caused by burns and smoke inhalation when flames engulfed the sleeping quarters.

Soviet Chief Arrives To Discuss Unrest

Times News Services

CAIRO — Police have arrested another 26 persons in connection with an alleged plot to overthrow President Anwar Sadat, following raids on the homes of former ministers and high-ranking party officials already under arrest, sources here announced today.

The disclosure was made just hours before the arrival of Soviet President Nikolai Podgorny, who received a tumultuous welcome when his visit, thought to reflect Russian concern over the downfall of several prominent Egyptian leftists, began this afternoon.

The raids uncovered documents and tape recordings at homes of 46 former leaders accused of plotting against Sadat. Homes raided included those of former vice-president Aly Sabry, ministers, senior executives and members of a secret group within the Arab Socialist Union, Egypt's sole political party.

Those arrested included professors, lawyers, board chairmen and ministry undersecretaries named in the documents, police sources said.

The raids began Sunday night and continued until late Monday night.

The authoritative daily newspaper Al Ahram said police spent nine hours searching Sabry's villa and found about 50 recording tapes, films and documents on the secret ASU organization said to be involved in the coup attempt.

Other material seized included leaflets and speeches prepared by plotters to be broadcast after the success of the plot, foreign currency and plans for riots against Sadat, police sources said.

The Soviet leader, accompanied by some of his top aides, was received at the airport by President Sadat and other top-ranking Egyptian officials.

Large crowds lining the airport's observation deck cheered, waved and chanted welcoming slogans as a 21-gun salute was fired.

ELECTION NEAR FOR SASKATCHEWAN

SASKATOON (CP) — Reliable sources in the provincial Liberal party say Premier Ross Thatcher will announce today that a provincial general election will be called for Wednesday, June 23.

Under the province's new election act the premier must give at least 28 days' notice of an election. Midnight tonight is the deadline for a June 23 election.

Premiers to Push Maritime 'Unity'

FREDERICTON (CP) — The premiers of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island signed an agreement here today formally establishing the Maritime Council of Premiers.

The council was proposed in a report on Maritime union, commissioned in 1968 by the three provinces, and released last November. Eventual political union of the provinces was recommended in the report.

The agreement, signed by Premiers Richard Hatfield of New Brunswick, Gerald Regan of Nova Scotia and Alex Campbell of Prince Edward Island, said the provinces were unanimous in "their desire to promote unity." But the word "union" was not used.

The ceremony, carried out in the assembly chamber of the New Brunswick legislature, precedes two days of closed talks by the three premiers.

Mr. Hatfield said that the signing was evidence of "a mutual determination" by the provinces to co-operate and Premier Campbell referred to the 15-minute ceremony as "a significant and happy occasion."

Mr. Regan expressed satisfaction that the provinces had been able to establish a council in only "the short period" since the report was released.

HELLYER'S NEW PARTY AIMS FOR WAGE, PRICE CONTROLS

OTTAWA (CP) — Paul Hellyer, once candidate for the Liberal leadership, Tuesday launched a new political movement called Action Canada.

Mr. Hellyer told a crowded news conference the major aims will be be full employment and stable prices.

The means action Canada would advocate would be the imposition of mandatory wage and price guides.

There was "no other way" to get compliance from those with monopoly power.

Action Canada also advocated "immediate and fair tax cuts" regardless of the economic effect. The psychological stimulus is "much needed," Mr. Hellyer said.

The 47-year-old member of Parliament for Toronto Trinity, who declared himself an Independent Liberal last week, said Action Canada is "a political movement, open to all Canadians."

Among those on the platform with Mr. Hellyer was Reid Scott, former New Democrat member of Parliament and now a Toronto alderman.

Listed on an advertising sheet beneath Mr. Hellyer's name as founding chairman were 24 names, including Mr. Scott's.

Names on the list:
